JOHNSON OPENS BATTLE TO KILL LONDON TREATY

Says Hearings Show Navy Pact Unfair.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.] launched the opposition drive against senate approval of the London naval treaty today with the assertion that public hearings just concluded by the foreign relations and naval affairs committees have demonstrated conclusively that the pact should not be approved.

Just how many senators will follow the lead of the California senator in his fight to either delay or reject the London treaty is still unknown. Senator Frederick Hale [Rep., Me.] is simply on record as opposed to the provisions of the treaty. In most cases according to Hale, senators are withholding judgment until after debate begins on the senate floor, probably some time in the latter part of June.

Naval Officers Commended.

While Senator Johnson did not amplify his assertion that the pact should not be ratified, he issued a formal statement commending the twenty-seven high naval officers who criticised the treaty while appearing as witnesses before the foreign relations and naval affairs committees. In this statement Senator Johnson assailed newspapers who have criticized the naval admirals for attacking the treaty. He asserted that "these assaults have been unjustified."

The Johnson statement referred to newspaper articles, some of which were printed in New York, which attacked the admirals for their statements that the London naval treaty restricted the American navy that it had less than a sporting chance to win an American-Japanese war. Some of the articles intimated that state department officials were apprehensive that Japanese-American relations might be affected by the testimony of the admirals.

Newspapers Criticized.

"Some newspapers have brutally assailed officers of the United States navy because their testimony before the foreign relations committee has refuted against the London treaty," said Senator Johnson. "These assaults are unjustified and outrageous. The foreign relations committee called the general board of the navy and asked for the views of these officers. The others who have testified came because I summoned them.

"The witnesses thus called had no axe to grind in the matter. The secretary of state in his testimony before the foreign relations committee said he took off his hat to the Japanese for their attitude. I take off my hat to the admirals and other officers of the United States navy who have dared to tell the truth about a political treaty behind which is such tremendous political power when the possible consequences of telling the truth can be fully understood.

Deserve Praise, He Says.

"The sum of their offending is stating as required by senators interrogating them the essentials of our naval defense and the needs of our navy. If they had stated the facts otherwise than as they and nearly all others familiar with the subject believe, they would have had the commendation and enthusiastic applause of the very people and press who now abuse them. They have been true to the highest traditions of the American navy, and deserve from all Americans only commendation and praise."

During the committee hearings, concluded today, when Rear Admiral S. S. Robison, superintendent of the naval academy, completed his testimony before the naval affairs committee, many naval officers and two cabinet members were asked to give their views on the treaty. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams and four flag officers praised the pact as a fair agreement. The other twenty admirals, rear admirals, captains and commanders, including chiefs of the general board, the chief of naval operations, and several bureau chiefs, assailed the treaty. Their testimony was that ratification of the pact would guarantee continued supremacy for Great Britain; would let the United States to accept an inferior naval position to Japan in operations in the Philippine area, render the United States fleet impotent to protect American trade routes, with the exception of coastal trade, in time of war, and cause abandonment of America's traditional naval policy of building to build the types of ships best fitted for its needs within category tonnage limits.

Rear Admiral Robison told the com-

"SAVE HIM!" KING ALBERT PLEADS AS CAR HITS BOY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BRUSSELS, Belgium, May 29. — King Albert of Belgium sat for a half hour beside a delirious 9 year old boy of humble family today holding the lad's hand and imploring doctors to save his life. The boy, John van der Wielen, was run down by the king's car, in which he was rushing to an air meet. Doctors first feared for the boy's life, but said tonight he would probably recover.

King Albert was not at the wheel. It is said the boy ran blindly in front of the car and the accident was unavoidable.

The king's chauffeur is a veteran in royal service, having been in the service of King Leopold II. He taught the two sons of the king to drive and always kept them from speeding.

WHOOPEE! YELLS BUFFALO SLAYER IN DEATH CHAIR

Ossining, N. Y., May 29.—[Special.]—The first victim of the Sing Sing prison electric chair in five months, Stephen Ziolkowski, 24 year old slayer, Buffalo, N. Y., was executed here tonight. He paid for the murder of John Perraton in Buffalo.

Ziolkowski displayed bravado in his last minutes. As he passed the first guard inside the execution chamber he said, "How's business, Cap?"

While being strapped in the death chair he glanced at the official witnesses and exclaimed:

"Bunch of ——" Then he stopped. A second later he looked at the guards and shouted at them:

PRISONER SEIZES POLICE GUN AND KILLS HIMSELF

Harry Mylan, 40 years old, 6455 University avenue, killed himself last night in the Woodlawn police station with a revolver he had seized from the holster of Lockup Keeper John Malloy, who was searching him.

Complaint had been made by Mylan's family that he had driven them from their home and they had obtained a warrant for his arrest. The police had taken him to the station and left him with Malloy preparatory to putting him in a cell. The holster with the gun was hanging on the wall. Mylan leaped for it while Malloy's back was turned and sent a bullet into his brain.

Last of Ill-Fated Expedition to California in 1846 Dies

San Francisco, Cal., May 29.—[Special.]—The last survivor of the Donner party, a daughter of the leader of that ill-fated expedition into California in 1846-'47, is dead. At the age of 95, Mrs. Leana Charity Donner App succumbed to the infirmities of her years at her home at Jamestown, in the Sierra Nevada foothills, this evening.

Mexico Seizes Textbooks at Yankee School

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, May 29. — A large number of history and geography books described as offensive in their treatment of Mexico were seized at the American school here yesterday, it was revealed by the department of education today.

Mexican officials assert the text books are openly derogatory to this country, to members of past administrations and disparaging in comment upon Mexico's "revolutionary" movements. The books are in English.

Teachers Tear Books.

The officials assert that the teachers at the school objected strenuously to giving up the books and tore out many pages before finally surrendering them.

A school official says, however, that the Mexican authorities must have acted upon finding copies of old editions of the books at former homes of former students, as the offending passages were deleted years ago in 90 per cent of the books now in use.

Carlos Trejo y Lerda de Tejada, undersecretary of the ministry of education, said today that a search would be made of bookstores and any copies of the books in question would be confiscated.

Among the passages cited as objectionable in newspaper accounts here one runs:

"Thousands of our American citizens have been attracted to Mexico seeking business opportunities. They have invested much money in ranches, cattle, and so forth, in the arid northern zones, in the oil wells of the Pacific coast, in mines in the interior, and in railways. But in recent years they have encountered great difficulties. Bandits have operated in all parts of the country, robbing and murdering defenseless travelers, attacking cities, looting commerce, and dynamiting trains."

Police Guard Withdrawn.

MEXICO CITY, May 29.—(AP)—Guards posted at the American school at the request of the school authorities, who feared a demonstration by Mexican students in retaliation for the Harris-Box immigration bill, were withdrawn tonight. The bill is now pending in the United States congress. Nothing happened to justify the fears of violence expressed by the school authorities.

May Lend Submarine to Wilkins to Explore Arctic

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—The navy department is willing to permit the submarine O-12 to be used for exploration work in the arctic by Sir Hubert Wilkins if the shipping board requests it, the department announced today. The transfer would have to be approved by the President.

WAUKEGAN CITY OFFICIAL FIGHTS RAISE IN PAY

Nicholas M. Keller, commissioner of streets and public improvements in Waukegan, has announced opposition to raising his salary and that of four other commissioners by $1,000 as permitted under Illinois law now that Waukegan has passed the 30,000 mark in the 1930 census. The salary is now $3,200 annually.

Other members of the council favor the raise, which would go into effect when the next administration takes office in 1931. They say $4,200 is a reasonable salary for officials of high caliber. Keller says the taxpayer needs relief and thinks city officials should set an example in economy. All members of the present council are planning to run for reelection in the spring.

PURSE SNATCHER SHOT BY COP HE TRIES TO STAB

Frank Pickens, Negro purse snatcher, was shot in the thigh last night by Sergt. John Leyendecker of Maxwell street station when he attempted to stab the policeman during a search of his rooms. Pickens was pursued after stealing a purse containing $25 from Mrs. Rose Cook, 1844 Winnebago avenue. Several empty purses and Mrs. Cook's money were found in the Negro's rooms at 1046 West 13th street. Gerald Mahon, 6743 South Hermitage avenue, who aided the police in the pursuit, deflected the knife as Leyendecker fired. Pickens has been convicted twice of purse snatching. Leyendecker said, having been released from the bridewell a few days ago.

"SUICIDE" CASE OF BROKER NOW HELD A MURDER

Mystery Deepens in Simons Death.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kentland, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—William Simons, leading citizen of Kentland, former partner of Warren T. McCray, ex-governor of Indiana and for many years a broker on the Chicago Board of Trade, did not commit suicide but was the victim of a mysterious murder.

This appeared certain today after Dr. E. R. Le Count of Chicago, pathologist, had conducted a post-mortem examination and discovered that the three bullets fired into Mr. Simons' body in all probability could not have been fired by the victim himself.

Other newly discovered evidence in the death of the grain broker served to convince investigators that this peaceful hamlet in rural Hoosierland, 75 miles from Chicago, is confronted with a baffling homicide case.

Found Dead on Highway.

Mr. Simons, whose body was secretly exhumed last night from the grave in the little Kentland church yard, where it had been buried but a week ago today, was found shot to death on a main highway near Kentland May 20. After a cursory examination by local physicians who declared all three wounds might have been self-inflicted, Coroner Allen Kenoyer rendered a verdict of suicide.

Dr. Le Count, professor of pathology at Rush Medical college in Chicago and a member of the advisory staff of Coroner Bundesen, was retained by Richard Simons, son of the dead man, to make a thorough examination of the body. Young Simons, who with the other members of his family, protested that the broker had not killed himself, had also engaged the services of Lieut. Col. Calvin Goddard, firearms expert and head of the scientific crime detection laboratory associated with Northwestern university, and of private investigators, in an endeavor to unravel the mystery of his father's death.

Evidence Discounts Suicide.

After a three hour examination of the body, Dr. Le Count informed the younger Simons that the evidence did not indicate suicide. He removed two bullets and will deliver them to Col. Goddard for examination, and for comparison with bullets fired from the .32 caliber revolver found beside the dead man.

"Two wounds were found in the head, and another in the body," Dr. Le Count said. "One bullet entered the head behind and below the right ear, and lodged in the right jaw. Another entered the head near the first head wound, and emerged through the right eye. The third bullet pierced the heart.

"The two head wounds took a course straight through the head from the back to the front. It is plain that the revolver was held in back of the head, pointed in a straight line. If one tries to hold his hand in this position, behind his own head, it is apparently impossible to point a weapon in that manner, and it would be particularly difficult to exert a trigger finger with the arm and wrist so awkwardly held.

Last Bullet Fatal One.

"Neither of the bullets in the head touched the brain, and neither produced death. The evidence in the body indicates that all three wounds were fired into a living body, and since the heart wound was the fatal one it is indicated that wound was the last one inflicted."

Dr. Lecount said he has occasionally encountered cases in which suicides fired two shots in their bodies, but offhand he could remember no case where three suicidal shots were fired.

Lieut. Col. Goddard reported that the number of the weapon found on the scene had been filed off. Efforts are being made to bring out the numbers by an etching process, in the hope that a clew may develop through tracing the gun. Mr. Simons never was known to possess a revolver and the weapon has not been identified.

At Loss for Motive.

Seeking a motive for the murder, members of the Simons family were at a loss. Mr. Simons was not known to have had bitter enemies. He had a wife and nine children and was deeply attached to them. There were no indications that other women entered his life. He was said to have had several business disputes, but none of these was of a nature to endanger his life, it was stated.

Since he went to Chicago in 1910,

Idleness Hits Europe Harder than America

A Period for Courage

Atlantic City, N. J., May 29.—[Special.]—Dwight W. Morrow, candidate for the senatorial nomination in New Jersey, making the second formal speech of his campaign here this noon, praised President Hoover and, referring to business conditions, said:

"Just as last year was a period of caution, this year is a period for courage.

"While we cannot predict with accuracy when changes in business conditions may come, we can have faith that a great people, with a great industrial plan, and with ample credit resources, will go on with their work, raising still higher their power of consuming goods for the durable satisfaction of life, furnishing more employment to each other by a further multiplication of the interchange of goods and services."

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—The United States isn't the only country faced with an unemployment problem. Comparative statistics for the first one-third of 1930 gathered by departments of labor and commerce show that unemployment is more acute in either Great Britain or Germany than in this country.

Statistics covering unemployment in the three countries for the first four months of each of the last five years demonstrate not only that all have been hit by the present industrial depression, but that the two European countries, especially Great Britain, have suffered the most. While employment in the United States is shown to have decreased about 11.36 per cent since 1926, unemployment has increased 12.56 per cent in Germany and 30.89 per cent in Great Britain.

Unemployment Figures Abroad.

On May 1, 1930, there were 2,081,000 persons in Germany and 1,712,000 persons in Great Britain, exclusive of northern Ireland, receiving doles or compensation under the government unemployment systems of those countries. These figures are assumed to be indicative of the unemployment situations.

No such figures are available in the United States, which has no dole system, and although much guessing has been done as to the number of unemployed men in this country, no official figures or estimates will exist until the 1930 census is completed. The nearest approach to such an estimate is the general index of employment in 13,000 manufacturing industries, compiled weekly by the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor. The relative conditions in Great Britain, Germany, and the United States were shown by use of this index and the British and German insurance figures.

In France there is no unemployment problem and has not been for several years because of the dearth of man power following the war, the new industries taken over by France, and its lack of exportable surpluses. At present there is a shortage of skilled labor in France.

Report on Jobless in U. S.

Using the figure 100 as a basis, the bureau of labor statistics reported that employment in the 13,000 manufacturing industries of the United States during January, February, March, and April, 1926, averaged 101.2. In the first four months of 1927 this dropped to 98.6, and to 92.9 in 1928. In 1929 it went up to 97.6 and dropped again this year to 89.7, the lowest during the five years. In January, 1930, the index stood at 96.2; February, 90.5; March, 89.8, and April, 89.1.

Reference to the British and German insurance figures shows a corresponding increase in unemployment during the first four months of 1930, although the German situation improved slightly in April while it failed to improve in Great Britain and the United States.

R. M. Stephenson of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce, who compiled the British and German statistics, explained that the improvement in Germany in May probably was due to the opening up of outside construction and other work.

Taxi Driver Finds Baby Abandoned in His Cab

George R. Fink, a Yellow Cab chauffeur, parked his cab for ten minutes last night in front of the company garage at 51 East 21st street, and when he returned discovered a two weeks old baby girl on the rear seat. No one had seen the person who put her there. Fink notified the police and the baby was taken to St. Vincent's orphanage.

10 POLITICIANS CHARGED WITH CANAL FRAUDS

Accused of Waste, Padding Pay Roll.

Ten political leaders, three of them new figures in the year old sanitary district investigation, were named in the indictment returned by the special grand jury yesterday at the conclusion of its inquiry into the affairs of the old district régime. Edward J. Kelly, president of the south park board and also chief engineer for the sanitary district; Martin Edelstein, former manager of the real estate department of the district, and John T. Miller, former head of the department of permanent plants and structures, are the three new men named in a conspiracy indictment containing nine counts of fraud.

The bond for each defendant was fixed at $10,000, and on orders of First Assistant State's Attorney Northup capiases were issued for the arrest of those indicted. The capiases were given immediately to a deputy sheriff for service, but it was not expected that the arrests would be made until the indicted men had an opportunity to make bond.

Others Named in Indictment.

The others named in the indictment, and who were named in the original indictments, returned last April, are:

Timothy J. Crowe, Democratic leader and president of the sanitary district board at the time of the alleged squandering of funds.

James M. Whalen and John J. Touhy, both Democratic trustees of the old board and members of the present board.

John K. Lawler and August W. Miller, who were known as the Crowe-Thompson members of the old board.

The indictment starts out with two counts charging the defendants with conspiring with George L. Chamberlain, head of the U. S. A. company, electrical contractors, and others unknown to defraud the district out of $5,000,000 by false pretenses.

Pay Roll Charge Made.

The third count charges the defendants with violating and betraying the duties of their offices by showing partiality and favor in placing pay rollers —twenty-seven of whom are named— on the district rolls with a loss of $3,000,000 to the district. Emmett Flood, labor leader, is among the pay rollers named, as is Timothy Reeves, former secretary to Bishop Archibald Carey, civil service commissioner.

The fourth count charges that the pay rolls were padded with election workers who performed no duties for the district.

The fifth count charges that the defendants spent $1,100,000 without authority of law to build a bridle path. The sixth count makes the same charge in reference to the spending of $727,000 for the ornamental lighting system on the north shore channel road. It is charged that this was "corruptly paid for."

Corrupt Contracts Charged.

The seventh count deals with the west and north side sewage treatment plants and charges that the contracts were corruptly let at an exorbitant and excessive price. The eighth and ninth counts deal with these various projects, charging they were let without bids as required by law.

The reason for the indictment of Kelly, it was said, was because he was chief engineer of the district and the various jobs were done under his direction and by the specification he sanctioned in his official capacity.

Whoopee Parties Forgotten.

The new indictment makes no mention of the whoopee parties charged in the original indictment returned a year ago. Eight of the men named in the original indictments are not mentioned in the new documents. It is believed they will escape prosecution.

Chamberlain, who is named as a co-conspirator in the sanitary indictment and who is already under indictment in the federal courts for violating income tax laws, again evaded the state's attorney's subpoena servers. He showed up in the federal building as he had previously announced he would do, but the prosecutor's detective was just too late to give him a summons to appear before the grand jury. He will be arraigned in the federal court on June 16, at which time the question of his $25,000 bond forfeiture will be taken up.

U. S. ACTION IS SEEN

The federal income tax investigation involving Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the sanitary district, who was indicted yesterday by the state special grand jury investigating charges of fraud in district affairs, has progressed to the stage where action is considered imminent, according to reports current in the federal building. The same is true of a similar inquiry into the affairs of Christian P. Paschen, city building commissioner, it is reported.

United States Attorney Johnson refused to discuss the cases of these men yesterday when he was asked about reports that they were ready for the federal grand jury. He denied, however, that his campaign against alleged income tax evaders had been hampered by failure of Washington authorities to coöperate.

U. S. Coöperates, He Says.

There were reports that politicians had exerted influence at Washington to block prosecution of Paschen and Crowe, but Mr. Johnson asserted that he had always enjoyed the fullest support in all income tax investigations. Mr. Johnson must have the permission of the commissioner of internal revenue for criminal prosecutions.

Since the indictment last fall of George L. Chamberlain and Fred W. Rhodes of the U. S. A. company, which allegedly received lucrative contracts from the sanitary district, there have been reports of the federal investigation of Crowe. He is alleged to have deposited $1,250,000 during 18 months which was not reported in his income tax returns.

Inquiry on Paschen Reported.

Paschen also has been reported to have been under federal scrutiny since the indictment last November of Gene G. Oliver, member of the board of assessors. According to federal investigators, Paschen deposited almost $500,000 on which no income tax was paid.

Other public officials and some contractors are reported to be under investigation by federal authorities. Reports yesterday that the payment of penalties might forestall prosecution of alleged tax dodgers were denied by federal officials.

MACKEY HIGHEST IN FIRE EXAM.; PICK 3 MARSHALS

Battalion Chief Joseph A. Mackey, with a grade of 92.55, headed the list of forty-two candidates who took the promotional examination for the position of division fire marshal which was posted last night by Carlos Ames, president of the civil service commission. Mackey, with the next two highest, Patrick Pierce and Horace A. McLane, who had grades of 90.65 and 89.92, will be certified next Wednesday to the three vacancies in the higher rank.

Mackey is credited with being the first fireman to drive an automobile, acting as chauffeur for Chief Horan when the first car, a two cylinder runabout, was purchased by the department. He was standing between Chief Horan and Assistant Marshal Burroughs when they were killed at the stockyards fire of Dec. 22, 1910. Mackey was saved by being blown into a freight car which sheltered him from the falling walls.

The names of the seven next highest to the first three and their grades are as follows: Anthony J. Mullaney, 86.51; Edward F. Green, 86.24; Henry F. Falvey, 85.96; John T. Moynihan, 85.85; Matthew M. Sweeney, 85.83; James J. Enright, 85.57, and William E. Brown, 85.45.

SENATE PASSES NAVY BILL; NEAR ADJOURNMENT

Washington, D. C., May 29.—(AP)—The senate today passed the last of the regular appropriations bills—that providing $380,000,000 for the navy—and cleared the way for adjournment.

The naval measure carries $56,000,000 for carrying on the naval construction program within the terms of the new London naval limitations treaty.

Appropriation of $7,400,000 for modernization of the battleships Pennsylvania and Arizona is provided. Another fund for $38,800,000 is for construction of new ships and $10,600,000 is allowed for armor, armaments, and ammunition of new warships.

All provisions of the measure as passed by the house were approved by the senate. There was added $75,000 for reërection of the dirigible hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., naval air station and $200,000 for a temporary government for the West Indian islands.

WHITE WOMAN, AN ARTIST, WEDS NEGRO GARDENER

New York, May 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Emily Scherzel, white, an artist of Glendale, Cal., and John T. Veasy, a Negro gardener, were married today in the chapel of the Brooklyn municipal building.

Mrs. Scherzel, a widow, gave her age as 44 and said she was born in Mexico, Mo., the daughter of Benjamin and Martha Webster. Veasy gave his age as 42.

Inquiry failed to reveal any additional information about Mrs. Scherzel or Veasy. She is not listed in any of the art directories and at the West 133d street address a reporter was refused admittance. The house is in the center of the city's Negro district.

Jurors Plead for Woman Who Sold Pint of Beer

Detroit, Mich., May 29.—[Special.]—Four of the eight women on the jury which yesterday voted Mrs. Bertha Saras guilty of violating the prohibition law today appealed to Judge Donald Van Zile "to do what he could" to avoid sending the woman to prison, according to the provisions of the law. Judge Van Zile had deferred sentence for one week. Mrs. Saras, a widow, 40 years old and the mother of a 14 year old daughter, sold a pint of beer to a policeman for 25 cents.

Bomb Two New Orleans Street Cars; No One Hurt

New Orleans, La., May 29.—(AP)—Two street cars were bombed tonight within a few minutes and a few blocks apart in a resumption of the long series of trolley system explosions that began nearly a year ago, when the city's car men went out on strike. No one was injured.

GIRL SAVES TWIN, BUT IS HERSELF KILLED BY AUTO

The girl killed was Patricia Beyel, daughter of Theodore Beyel, an employé of the International Harvester company, living at 12333 South Michigan avenue. Patricia and Peggy, her sister, attended kindergarten at the Gompers branch school, 11725 Perry avenue. Each morning their mother would carry them across the avenue because of the heavy traffic and walk as far as the corner, leaving them to go the rest of the way alone.

Frightened by Barking Dog.

After Mrs. Beyel had returned home yesterday Patricia and Peggy, walking hand in hand, passed a vacant lot. A police dog barked at them. Peggy, terror stricken, ran into the street. Patricia called to her that the dog wouldn't bite, but Peggy kept on running. Patricia then ran after her, overtaking her as a car driven by Charles Wallenberger, 6028 Drexel avenue, approached.

With both hands she pushed Peggy off the street and onto the sidewalk parkway. Wallenberger tried to swerve but it was too late. The car struck Patricia and the wheels passed over her. She died shortly after. A coroner's jury exonerated Wallenberger.

Fairbank Gets Free Hand.

Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal court announced he would not interfere with the procedure of Judge Freeman L. Fairbank of the Speeders' court in the prosecution of speeders. Commissioner of Police Russell had protested against the judge's ruling that the arresting officers must appear in court as witnesses, and had said that the ruling was undermining the morale of the force.

The statement from Judge Olson, after a conference with all the Municipal judges, read:

"It is up to Judge Fairbank to decide how his court shall be run. I assigned him to the Speeders' court to straighten out the mess it was in. I am well satisfied with his work."

Four Other Deaths.

The death of the Beyel girl and four others raised the 1930 Cook county toll to 358. The other victims:

Albert Rapp, 50 years old, 3253 West 61st street. Killed early this morning when his automobile collided with another car at North avenue and Mannheim road. Two unidentified young women and two men who were riding in the other machine were injured. All were taken to the Westlake hospital in Melrose Park, where the men were identified as Glenn Denny and Harry Knight. Denny and the young women were reported in critical condition.

Charles Riel, 50 years old, of Third Lake, a summer resort in Lake county. Died in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, from injuries received in an automobile crash Wednesday at Dodge avenue and Oakton street, Evanston. Two others are in a critical condition.

Gailard Hogaboon, 7 years old, 203 South Throop street. Died at the Jefferson Park hospital a few hours after being run down by a truck driven by William Finnegan, 6338 North Artesian avenue.

Mrs. Mary Wlore, 80 years old, 2924 Gresham street. Died at the County hospital from injuries received May 13 when she was struck by an automobile while crossing Milwaukee avenue at Gresham street.

Three Hurt in South Side Crash.

Three persons were seriously injured early this morning when their automobile collided head-on with a southbound street car at 60th and Halsted streets. They are Walter Olson, 20 years old, 5938 South Peoria street; Miss Mary Rushton, 25, of 933 West 50th street, and Miss Nell Blakeley, 24, of 609 West 62d street. All were taken to the Englewood hospital. The police started a search for the driver of the automobile, who was reported to have fled from the scene of the accident.

Seven Chicagoans on a holiday trip to Hamilton, O., were injured last night when a Pennsylvania freight train struck their automobile on U. S. highway 30 at Hamlet, Ind. They are Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Harle, 931 North St. Louis avenue; their children, Helen, 10 years old, and Warren, 9; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roloff, 3835 Janssen avenue, and Walter J. Orlandi, 5777 Ridge avenue. All were treated at the Holy Family hospital in La Porte.

CURTISS TO FLY ROUTE ON WHICH HE MADE HISTORY

New York, May 29.—[Special.]—The story of aviation's progress will be told in striking contrasts tomorrow when Glenn H. Curtiss, who completed the first flight from Albany to New York just twenty years ago, retraces the course of his historic hop down the Hudson river.

Perched on the front of his box kite plane that late May Sunday in 1910 Curtiss started on his great adventure. Tomorrow he will be at the controls of a giant Curtiss Condor carrying twenty passengers.

While Curtiss beat the time of the fastest trains between Albany and New York when he completed his flight in 152 minutes 20 years ago, the Condor he will fly tomorrow will require only an hour and twenty minutes.

While his friends who desired to follow the flight twenty years ago were forced to ride in a train which kept pace with the plane, on the anniversary flight he will carry twenty companions in his own ship and five other huge transport planes will fly alongside.

Blame 'Disgruntled U. S. Employe' for Grain Charges

Counsel for William B. Massey, John S. Reedy and Philip J. Reedy, Chicago grain operators charged with violation of the grain futures act, yesterday reiterated that the proceedings were instigated by a disgruntled employé of the department of agriculture who had lost heavily in the grain market. This was denied by government attorneys.

Sitting Bull's Descendant Gets Divorce

Charges Infidelity

Mrs. Jane Putnam, 1244 North Dearborn street, a Sioux Indian, who claims to be a direct descendant of Sitting Bull, yesterday won a divorce from J. Myles Putnam, actor, before Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch. She charged infidelity, testifying she found her husband entertaining a woman in a room in a Chicago hotel in November, 1928, and a week later discovered him with another woman in Fargo, N. D. On the stand, Mrs. Putnam said she was born and raised on the Indian reservation at Rosebud, S. D.

PUZZLED BULLS SEE FANS BATTLE IN FRENCH ARENA

Anti-Cruelty Cohorts Raid Ring.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 29.—Under the puzzled eyes of a half dozen playful but misunderstood bulls, some 2,000 French bull fight aficionados [Spanish for devotees] engaged in a pitched battle this afternoon with 600 militant members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, who had made the 300 mile trek from Paris to Melun to break up the corrida, which had been organized for the benefit of the Melun schools.

While the matadors, picadors and bandilleros retreated rapidly in all directions from the bulls, the S. P. C. A. cohorts set fire to the stands and dropped smoke bombs in the arena.

17 Women Arrested.

The net results of the day's action is 17 women members of the society, reposing in jail, a dozen or so gendarmes nursing sore shins and scratched faces, part of the stadium burned down, and one bull with a broken horn. The horn snapped when the bull missed a toreador, who was trying to leap the fence.

Bull fighting is forbidden in France and the Parisian press has been raising a howl for weeks about the exhibition which the promoters had promised would be bloodless. The S. P. C. A. swore to stop the show at all costs and declared that it would even bomb the arena from airplanes if necessary.

The first fight broke out just before the first bull entered the ring. A crowd of men and women broke through the fence of the arena. The bull fans replied by hurling missiles and also descending into the arena where a general riot ensued. A squadron of mounted Republican guards charged the mob and restored order.

Smoke Bomb Thrown.

A timid looking bull with padded horns was then ushered into the ring. At first he disregarded the picadors, who poked him in the ribs with blunt spears, but he finally lost patience and started charging the horses. At this point a smoke bomb was exploded at the edge of the arena, and the bull retired to a neutral corner, while a new free-for-all broke out in the stands.

Once again the police calmed the mob and a new bull, this time with bared horns, entered the ring. He seemed more pugnacious and after he had been properly initiated and, just as the fatal thrust was to be delivered, the fence about the ring was set on fire and confusion again broke out.

Then Emilio Saler Carario, a Spanish matador, got down to business. He tried a timid poke at the bull, missed, and was thrown several yards. That ended the official corrida.

The real fun came when amateurs were allowed to descend to the arena to attack the bull with canes and umbrellas, waving their topcoats and capes. Several had narrow escapes. The sensation of the day was furnished by a dusky toreador from Senegal. He made just one pass at the bull, which neatly hoked him by the seat of the pants just as he reached the fence.

Chicagoan and Wife Win $3,000 Auto Crash Damage

Minneapolis, Minn., May 29.—(AP)—A verdict of $954.44 for George R. Wicker of Chicago and $2,380 for his wife was returned against the North State Construction company by a jury in county District court here today. Mr. and Mrs. Wicker sued to gain damages for injuries alleged to have been suffered when their automobile crashed into a cement mixer left on highway No. 5, in Olmsted county, at night without warning lights in June, 1929.

Pantages Seriously Ill in Jail of Heart Attack

Los Angeles, Cal., May 29.—(AP)—Dr. Benjamin Blank, county jail physician, disclosed that Alexander Pantages, former theatrical magnate, suffered a severe heart attack today and was in a serious condition in the jail hospital tonight. Pantages was convicted of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17 year old dancer, and sentenced to one to fifty years.

JOHNSON OPENS BATTLE TO KILL LONDON TREATY

Holds Hearings Prove Navy Pact Unfair.

mittee members that in case of war with Japan it would not be possible under the London treaty for the United States to place a fleet equal to that of Japan's in the Philippine area. Under the London treaty, he said, the United States would hold the Philippines virtually by sufferance of Japan.

"All our war college studies," he said, "have shown how difficult it is for us to get a fleet into Japanese waters capable of fighting on even terms."

Chairman William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho] will hold executive sessions of the foreign relations committee next week to work out a report on the treaty. Senator Borah today said he would vote for the treaty and expected the committee would report it favorably to the senate. Confidential documents exchanged between the United States and Great Britain while the British-American naval understanding was being reached will be made available to the committee next week, but it has not been decided whether they will be published.

Urges Postponement.

William Howard Gardiner, president of the Navy League of the United States, urged postponement of consideration of the London naval treaty by the senate until next November, in a radio address tonight.

"The testimony before the senate committees has brought about a rising tide of doubt within the senate as well as on the part of the press and public," Mr. Gardiner said. "And at the most effective moment Senator Johnson said: "I think the proponents of the treaty are entirely right from their viewpoint, in rushing the treaty, for if time be given the American people to thoroughly understand it, it will be overwhelmingly repudiated.'"

SEIZED ON CHARGE OF SWINDLING WEALTHY WOMEN

Claim He Made Love to Gain Their Confidence.

Boston, Mass., May 29.—[Special.]—Nathaniel Herbert Wheeler, a suave man of 45, who, postal authorities charge, has swindled wealthy women all over the country out of approximately $1,000,000, was taken into custody here today by federal agents. Wheeler, according to the postal men, made friends with lonely women of means, made love to them, usually proposed marriage, and in his rôle of fiancé frequently sold them worthless shares in dubious corporations, after which it was his practice to decamp quickly with the money.

Chicago Woman a Victim.

Wheeler's principal victim, according to federal authorities, was Miss Maude Brickell of Miami, Fla., who was said to have intrusted $400,000 to him for investment in a gold mine stock. Other women who postoffice inspectors said had been victimized were:

Mrs. Hattie Thompson of Baltimore, who lost $14,000; Mrs. Jessie Burnham of Petersburg, N. Y.; Nina B. Cox of Cleveland, who was said to have lost $60,000; Mrs. Beatrice Neuman of Chicago, loss $16,000; Mrs. Grace Matthews, Syracuse, N. Y., loss $1,500; Miss A. Marshall, New York City, loss $10,000, and an unnamed Philadelphia woman, reported to have lost $60,000.

Brokerage houses and men were also among Wheeler's victims, it is alleged. The federal lists bear the names of the following:

Wilson & Co., Denver, $12,000; Charles Sincere & Co., Chicago, $1,000; Henry A. Massey Co., Chicago, $1,200; Charles Perry, Chicago, $4,000; W. H. Peterson, Laconia, Minn., $4,830, and Ernest F. Johnson, Duluth, Minn., $6,000.

The federal records indicate also that Wheeler was taken into custody in 1921 in New York in connection with the police investigation of the robbery of $446,000 in Liberty bonds from a messenger from Kean Taylor & Co. and that some $60,000 worth of Liberty bonds were recovered from him.

Used Love Ads as Decoy.

"Handsome young gentleman, aged 40, very refined, educated, distinguished looking; lover of music, art, literature, outdoor sports; worth considerably over $1,000,000, desires to meet lady with similar qualifications."

Upon receiving responses, federal investigators say, Wheeler answered and followed up the most likely looking prospects with personal visits. He dressed well and operated a large automobile. Inspector Byron Hall, whose investigation of Wheeler has carried him along the entire Atlantic seaboard from Boston to Miami, says that it was difficult to find any of Wheeler's alleged victims ready to make a complaint against him.

Born in Illinois, Belief.

Inspector Hall made a determined effort to have certain women residents of Massachusetts make charges against Wheeler, but without success. His trail finally led him to Baltimore, where Mrs. Thompson was located. She agreed to make a complaint and Hall turned over his case to officials of that district.

Wheeler is believed to have been born in Decatur, Ill. He is said to have attended Stanford university and was at one time married to a woman connected with the Scotch nobility, it is believed.

Tonight he was in jail in default of $25,000 bail. He has been arraigned before a federal commissioner and had pleaded not guilty to charges of using the mails to defraud.

SWEDEN ORDERS PLANE CARRIER.

BRITAIN BATTLES TO LET CONSUMER FIX OWN PRICES

Labor Aims Bill at Peacetime Profiteers.

LONDON, May 29.—(AP)—The British Labor government is aiming a blow at peacetime profiteers with a bill, now before parliament for its third and final reading, which would place the fixing of prices in the hands of the consumer.

The bill, if enacted, will force business firms, when so requested by a specially created consumers' council, to disclose all information with regard to costs of production, distribution, and supply of food, fuel, clothing or any other article in common use.

Seven on Council.

The consumers' council would then designate a "fair selling price," which, if not adhered to, would make the merchant liable to a fine, imprisonment or both.

The consumers' council will consist of seven members, of whom at least two are to be women, appointed by the board of trade, under whose direction the present bill has been drawn up. The borad of trade may remove any member it considers unfit to continue in office.

In its functioning the council will investigate charges of excessive prices, or excessive rates of brokerage or commission, in respect of any commodity. The council then will recommend to the board of trade what price should be charged, and the board of trade may then make an order to that effect.

Fine and Imprisonment Penalties.

Each sale in excess of the specified rate will draw a fine of $25 for first offense. Subsequent convictions will entail fines for each sale not exceeding $50, or imprisonment up to three months, or both.

The act will be enforced by local weights and measures authorities and, in cases of wide national importance, the board of trade itself will be authorized to institute proceedings against any merchant or firm.

Producers, wholesalers, middlemen, and retailers all will be brought within the scope of the act.

HOUSE VOTES $5 REDUCTION ON PASSPORT FEE

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—The house today voted to reduce the original cost of passports from $10 to $5, and to increase the limit to which they may be extended from two to six years.

This action was on a bill by Representative O'Connel of New York. As originally introduced it simply provided for the extension of the time limit, but the foreign affairs committee amended it to reduce the passport fee to $5 for bona fide school teachers going abroad for travel-study.

Mr. Cramton offered an amendment making the fee $5 to all and this was accepted, 169 to 89.

VETS TO PARADE TODAY BENEATH SUNNY SKIES

Governor to Review March Honoring War Dead.

Chicago stands today a city at salute to its dead of all American wars. Industry and commerce have been decorated for the flags and the flowers of Memorial day, and the parade this afternoon through the downtown district will have been preceded this morning by thousands of pilgrimages to cemeteries where soldiers are buried.

While weather reports indicated a lingering frost during the night, there was no intimation that the frequent Memorial day downpour would be repeated. Instead, the weather bureau promised there will be fair skies with continued cool weather.

Bright Outlook for Parade.

As the big feature of the day, the annual procession of civic and patriotic groups from Chicago avenue down Michigan avenue to 12th street, moved assured of propitious conditions, especially for the G. A. R. veterans and the wounded world war vet, whose ambition to participate frequently is not equal to the weather. Once again Brig. Gen. James E. Stuart will be grand marshal of the parade, which is scheduled to start down the boulevard at 2 o'clock.

In the ranks that follow the marshal will be G. A. R., Spanish-American and world war detachments, patriotic organizations, regular army troops, the Illinois National Guard, the newly organized Black Horse troop, cadets from St. John's Military academy, American Legion bands, and G. A. R. drum and bugle corps, and women's societies and auxiliaries.

Governor to Review Parade.

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson will review the parade from a stand on the east side of Michigan avenue. Members of his staff will include Cols. William E. Bashier, Howard P. Savage, Charles R. Hayes, and Earl Thornton. Brig. Gen. Carloe E. Black, adjutant general of the National Guard, will head the state staff corps and departments. Cadets from St. John's will compose an honorary escort to the reviewing officers, including, beside the governor, Mayor Thompson, Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Brig. Gens. John V. Clinnin, Harris J. Wheeler, and Frank S. Dickson; Col. Nelson Morris, Samuel Insull Jr., and Stuart M. Murdoch, Capt. William P. Wright, and Michael F. Kelly, commander of the Spanish war veterans.

Owners of automobiles who volunteer to lend their cars today for the use of the G. A. R. veterans in the parade are to park before 2:15 p. m., in 8th street, east of Michigan avenue, reporting there to the officer of the Sons of Union Veterans.

Will Parade in Evanston.

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university, Rear Admiral W. S. Crosley, commandant at Great Lakes, and Brig. Gen. Caspar H. Conrad Jr., commandant at Fort Sheridan, will review the parade at Evanston this morning. The parade will form at 10:30 o'clock in Patriots park and march to the memorial boulder near the avenue of elms on Northwestern campus, where a brief service will take place. No speeches will be made.

Ten thousand persons are expected to attend a military field mass to be celebrated this morning in Mount Carmel cemetery in honor of 184 members of Boabdil caravan, Order of Alhambra, Knights of Columbus, who died overseas. The Rev. Martin Nealis will sing the mass, assisted by the Rt. Rev. William Foley, vicar general of the army and navy chaplains.

March to Lincoln Monument.

More than 6,000 Lane Technical high school students and 210 instructors marched yesterday to the Lincoln monument in Lincoln park, headed by the Lane championship band, for Memorial day exercises there. George W. Dixon addressed the students.

Employes in the office of M. S. Szymczak, clerk of the Superior court, gathered yesterday for Memorial day exercises at which Judge Joseph Burke, who was an infantry lieutenant overseas during the war, was the principal speaker.

Anton J. Cermak, president of the county board, will be host at 5 o'clock this evening at a dinner at the Medinah Athletic club for hundreds of world war veterans who will ride in automobiles in the parade.

Because of the three day holiday caused by Memorial day, thousands of Chicagoans will spend the time in nearby towns and cities. Train and automobile travel both into and out of the city is expected to be heavy.

YELLOW CAB CO. OF N. Y. ENJOINS GENERAL MOTORS

New York, May 29.—[Special.]—The Yellow Taxicab corporation, charging the General Motors corporation with using its position as the largest shipper in the United States to intimidate railroad and steamship companies into giving it taxicab concessions, received today a temporary injunction from Supreme Court Justice Ingraham restraining General Motors from attempting to break a taxi concession received by the Yellow taxis from the Furness-Bermuda line.

The taxicab corporation also filed suit asking the Supreme court to abrogate contracts giving concessions to the Terminal Cab corporation at the Grand Central terminal, the Pennsylvania railroad station, and the West Shore railroad ferry terminal, all concessions having been held until recently by the Yellow Taxicab corporation.

HOOVER PRAISES WAR DEAD TODAY AT GETTYSBURG

Hopes to Fish Tomorrow in Alleghenies.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—(AP)—From among the graves that dot the hillsides about one of the most sanguinary battlegrounds of the civil war, President Hoover tomorrow will pay tribute to America's war dead. The President will journey to Gettysburg National cemetery and will speak there on a Memorial day program.

While the President is speaking at the site of a battle in that conflict from which Memorial day takes its origin, the army sergeant, who, nine years ago selected the Unknown Soldier, will decorate at Arlington cemetery the marble tomb in which the symbolic hero now lies.

Sergt. Edward S. Younger of Chicago made the selection in a small temporary chapel at Chalons-sur-Marne, France. Standing before four coffins containing unidentified bodies, he dropped a bouquet of roses upon one.

Drops Second Bouquet Today.

Tomorrow he will see for the first time the place of honor in which the unknown rests and will drop upon the tomb a bouquet similar to the one he used in France. In the same ceremonies, veterans of two other conflicts, the Spanish and civil wars, will participate.

The President will motor to Gettysburg, stopping en route for lunch at the camp of Lawrence Richey, his secretary, at Catoctin Furnace, Md., 30 miles from Gettysburg.

Completing his speech upon the field, where many Presidents have preceded him since Abraham Lincoln dedicated the cemetery, the chief executive plans to drive nearly 200 miles farther to the estate of Jay Cooke III., near Williamsport. There was a possibility that the status of tariff legislation might force abandonment of this phase of the trip.

Hopes to Fish Saturday.

If he continues on to the fishing and hunting camp of the Philadelphia financier, deep in the Allegheny mountains, the chief executive will spend Saturday fishing, and return to the White House by automobile Sunday.

In the chief executive's party will be Secretary of War Hurley, Richey and George Akerson, secretaries to the President; Col. Campbell Hodges, the White House military aide; Capt. Allen Buchanan, the naval aide, and Capt. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician.

The party is to be met at Gettysburg by Gov. Fisher of Pennsylvania and Henry P. Fletcher, former ambassador to Italy, who will escort the chief executive to the speaker's stand and accompany him to Ogontz, the Cooke lodge.

IRVING NETCHER HIT WIFE, SUIT FOR DIVORCE SAYS

Irving Netcher, vice president of the Boston store and son of the late Charles Netcher, founder of the store, was sued for divorce by Mrs. Constance Reed Netcher, 1540 Lake Shore drive, in a bill filed yesterday in the Superior court. The bill, drawn up by Attorney Greydon L. Walker of the firm of Wetten, Pegler & Dale, charges cruelty.

On Jan. 19, 1927, the bill says, Netcher struck his wife on the chin in the presence of twelve guests at a party in the Ritz hotel, New York. The couple separated last November, after he choked her while they were staying at the Berkeley hotel in London, according to the bill.

Netcher is a brother of Townsend Netcher, husband of Constance Talmadge, motion picture star. Mrs. Netcher is the daughter of the late L. F. Reed, a former official of the R. F. Conway Paving company. The Netchers were married on April 25, 1921, at St. Louis. The wife asks alimony.

MORO OUTLAWS FLEE FORT WITH TROOPS AT HEELS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, May 30 [Friday].—Moro outlaws, who had previously repulsed an eight hour attack in a jungle fortress in the province of Lanao, Mindanao island, fled into the brush early today after an all night bombardment by insular troops.

Troops on rushing the fort found it deserted, the defenders having escaped through underground passages into the wilderness.

Col. L. R. Stevens, commander, rushed patrols into the hills to round up the outlaws before they take another stand in one of the many deserted forts in the vicinity. The outlaws had held the Tagaya fort for two weeks, but were dislodged by fire from trench mortars, machine guns, and rifles, together with tear bombs.

Louisiana Rejects Move to Repeal Dry Amendment

Negro Gold Star Mothers Decline French Pilgrimage

New York, May 29.—(AP)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People today announced that 55 Negro Gold Star mothers have declined to make the pilgrimage to the graves of their sons under rules they said the war department has laid down providing for segregation by color.

The mothers have appealed to President Hoover to abolish the ruling, the announcement said. Their petition terms the war department's attitude "gratuitous insult."

"Twelve years after the armistice," they say, "the high principles of 1918 seem to have been forgotten. We who gave and who are colored are insulted by the implication that we are not fit persons to travel with other bereaved ones. Instead of making up parties of Gold Star mothers on the basis of geographical location, we are set aside as a separate group, Jim Crowed, segregated and insulted."

No Change Planned.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—(AP)—The policy of grouping together all Negro Gold Star mothers and widows making the pilgrimage to their sons' and husbands' graves on European battlefields will be continued by the war department despite protests against race segregation.

Acting Secretary of War Davison said it was necessary to split into several groups the mothers making the pilgrimage and that the racial grouping decided upon "after the most careful consideration of the interests of the pilgrims themselves" would be observed.

"No discrimination whatever," he said, "will be made as between the various groups. Each group will receive equal accommodations, care and consideration."

Separation into groups, he said, was necessary to provide suitable accommodations for all. The petition to the President was referred to the war department.

Mothers Sail for Home.

PARIS, May 29.—(AP)—The first contingent of American Gold Star mothers and wives to visit France was homeward bound tonight.

One hundred twenty-seven were in the group which sailed. Four were left behind, one because of illness. The other three will tour Europe. The mothers who sailed left Cherbourg on the President Harding tonight.

Will See Pershing Today.

ST. QUENTIN, France, May 29.—(AP)—Gold Star mothers of the 27th division, A. E. F., arrived here today from Brussels and made a pilgrimage to the Bony cemetery, where are buried the American soldiers who fell in a gallant attack against the Hindenburg line in 1918. Gen. Pershing will preside tomorrow at Memorial day ceremonies at the cemetery.

Oak Park school officials completed plans last night for meeting the emergency arising from destruction by fire of a wing of the William Beye Public school at Ontario street and Cuyler avenue early yesterday. The flames demolished the 30 year old section containing six classrooms, two offices, and the library, leaving more than 200 pupils without accommodations.

Classes were suspended yesterday. Supt. Hamilton announced that all 450 pupils will assemble Monday in the school gymnasium for reassignment, some to classrooms in the new section of their own school and others in nearby schools.

Origin of the blaze, which caused more than $100,000 damage and resulted in the minor injury of three firemen, remained undetermined.

Arrest Eight Indianians on Embezzlement Charge

Washington, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—Eight men were arrested here today on charges of embezzlement filed by the Davis county grand jury investigating the office of John H. Waggoner, township trustee. Those arrested were Walter Williams, Ray Keith, Earl Morrall, Raymond Conley, Bernard Gross, Marion Hoover, John White, and James Montgomery, all accused of aiding Waggoner in diverting public funds. All pleaded not guilty and were placed under $1,000 bond.

Sen. Shortridge's Sister Enters Race for Governor

Los Angeles, Cal., May 29.—(AP)—Clara Shortridge Foltz, attorney and sister of United States Senator Samuel Shortridge, entered the race for the Republican nomination for governor today, filing a petition with the county registrar. Mrs. Foltz, the first woman admitted to the California bar, is author of several legislative bills which became state laws. She has stumped the state several times in political campaigns.

U. S. TO DECORATE GRAVES OF ALLIES AS WELL AS OWN

Will Lay Wreaths for British and French.

PARIS, May 29.—(AP)—Not content with decorating every one of the 28,454 American soldiers' graves in the five great cemeteries of France outside of Suresnes, and the 56 undisturbed graves scattered in 45 localities of the country, the American Overseas Memorial Day association decided this year to enlarge its activities to British and French national cemeteries.

The association tomorrow will send large wreaths to six French cemeteries near Verdun, the Fauburg Pave, Glorieux, Bras, Bellfray, Bevauk, and the Douaumont Ossuary.

Wreaths for Cemeteries.

Other large wreaths will be sent to the British military cemeteries at Bellincourt and Lempire in the Aisne, Ville-en-Tardenois, and Boupeigne.

The French military cemeteries at St. Quentin and Villiers-Carbonnel, Petain and Flirey, near St. Mihiel; Dun-Sur-Neuse, and Brieille will be remembered similarly.

Italy to Honor U. S. Dead.

ROVERETO, Italy, May 29.—(AP)—The great "Bell of the Fallen," perched high on the ruins of the medieval castle overlooking part of the war front, will toll tomorrow evening, just at dusk, in honor of the American soldier dead.

This tribute of Italy is intended not only for memory of those in the United States contingents who lost their lives here but for all the fallen of the A. E. F. in France and elsewhere. The custom, observed every Memorial day for the last few years, has found favor with all the people of the mountain villages roundabout, and they cross themselves and pray as the sonorous notes are sounded.

The bell itself is molded from cannon of all the belligerent nations. The dead of every country that took part in the world war are remembered by its tolling once in the course of each year.

BUSINESS MANAGER QUITS IN GOODMAN THEATER BATTLE

An echo from the unexpected resignation on Wednesday of Thomas Wood Stevens as director of the Goodman theater was heard yesterday in an announcement that Cloyd Head, business manager and executive head, has severed his connection with the institution. His resignation will take effect at the end of the season, Mr. Head said.

Like Mr. Stevens, Mr. Head explained his resignation by declaring that he cannot agree with the policy of the Goodman. Mr. Stevens in his letter to Robert B. Harshe, director of the Art institute, had said that he believed the Goodman should be a true art theater and that it should devote itself to really important plays. The new policy is to produce a few of the lighter, entertaining plays and put on an occasional experimental play.

Both Hubert Osborne, producer and playwright, who is to succeed Mr. Stevens as director, and Mr. Harshe expressed their regret yesterday over Mr. Stevens' sudden resignation.

"The Goodman does not plan to put on the Broadway type of play," according to Mr. Harshe. "Plays will be not only entertaining but distinguished in character. There will be no change in general, but we expect to entertain our patrons, which we have not always done in the past."

Budd Sails for Russia to Help Build Railways

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern railroad, sailed tonight on the liner Europa for Russia to render consultation services in rehabilitating and constructing the soviet railroad system.

Fear 2 Year Old Child in Canada Carried Off by Bear

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., May 29.—(AP)—The 2 year old child of Mr. and Mrs. Ceske, homesteaders west of here, is believed to have been carried away from the cabin yesterday by a black bear. Farmers and provincial police joined in a search.

Judge Hugo Pam Dies in N.Y.; On Superior Bench 19 Years

Judge Hugo Pam, member of the Superior court bench for nearly nineteen years, died yesterday afternoon in New York after a three months' illness. He suffered a severe heart attack on Monday at the Drake hotel there, and his death had been expected momentarily.

Judge Pam had spent the winter at Palm Beach and was returning by way of New York when taken ill. The body will be brought to Chicago tomorrow and burial services probably will be held Sunday afternoon at Sinai temple.

At the bedside were his three sisters, Miss Carrie Pam, Mrs. Walter Blumenthal and Mrs. Joseph Ainslie Bear.

Judge Pam was 60 years old. He was born in Chicago and attended the public schools. He was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1892. He practiced law and headed his own firm until 1911 when elected to the Superior court and had served continuously since then. For the last ten years he was head of the law division.

He was known for his interest in social work, especially the care of the insane. He worked for better administration of pardons and paroles and was a student of criminal procedure. For three years he was president of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology. He was honorary vice president of the National Probation association, director of the Juvenile Protective association and vice president of the Illinois Society of Mental Hygiene. He was chairman of the plans committee for the new criminal courts and county jail buildings.

Judge Declares Love Helps Boys to Form Good Habits

Edgar Keller, 19 years old, 2621 North Fairfield avenue, was brought before Judge Allegretti in the Boys' court yesterday on a charge of striking his mother, Mrs. Margaret Keller. The youth was advised to find himself a sweetheart as a help in forming good habits. The judge discoursed on the beneficial effects of youthful love making as a stimulus to proper conduct. Keller was discharged.

REMEMBRANCE

The beautiful custom of strewing flowers on the graves of the dead originated with the women of the south. Gen. John A. Logan, as commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in 1868 and 1869, appointed May 30th for that purpose. Since then—in both north and south—the day has been observed as Decoration Day.

It has come to be a day devoted to the old soldiers, men, every one, who fought nobly to give us what they conceived and we now know to be freedom and liberty. What words to conjure with!

In all our wars men left their homes and loved ones to rally and fight under the "Stars and Stripes." Although we, as a nation, make the least martial noise, want nothing that is the treasure of others, yet we are ever ready, in any apt emergency, to join where liberty and freedom are menaced.

Those of us who bask in the sunshine of peace today, especially those who could not join the Army and Navy in our wars, must hark back to all the dark days and thank God there have always been millions of brave men—and exalted women to cheer them on—ready and anxious to stand by the Colors, defend our homes and our people.

May the present reign of peace be perpetual! May the victories of humanity hereafter be in the fields in industry, education, self-control, and happiness.

Let the graves of all our dead be decorated, but place a garland of choicest flowers on the graves of the soldiers whom we especially honor, whose lives made ours safer, happier, more worthwhile.

As we honor them, we love them; as we remember them, they rest in peace.

"Under the sod and the dew,
Waiting the judgment day;
Tears and love for the blue,
Love and tears for the gray."

BELIEVE GANG BULLETS MISSED INTENDED VICTIM

Hold Capone Aid for Mystery Shooting.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Melker M. Strom, assault to commit murder, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Walter Steffen.

Thomas McCormick, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory; William Kahely, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; John Mareble, assault to rob, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in Pontiac reformatory, by Judge Otto Kerner.

Minute examination by Chief of Detectives Stege of the bullet marked entrance of an apartment at 5201 North Ashland avenue yielded evidence last night that the man reported shot there Wednesday night had escaped unscathed instead of being kidnaped by his assailants, as was first supposed.

On the brick and stone façade of the apartment door Stege counted 18 pocks, chipped off by the two shotgun blasts which witnesses heard. From his count, Stege concluded that the target of the gunner had, at most, caught but one or two of the slugs in his body and, more probably, none at all.

Will Book Capone Gangster.

Nevertheless the alleged Capone gangster, Sam Hunt, seized at the scene with a golf bag in which he carried a shotgun, was to be booked this morning for assault with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapons. Stege said the prima facie evidence proved that Hunt was at the place on a murderous mission.

Satisfied of the error in reports naming Leo Mongoven, Moran gangster, as the target of the attack, Stege ordered a thorough search of the apartment, his theory being that the intended victim resided there, and walked into an ambush on his return home.

In a suite on an upper floor, occupied by two young men who were not at home, the searchers found a stock of empty alcohol bottles, giving rise to the suspicion that the tenants might be minor bootleggers. Stege said he would have the building manager questioned as to identity of the absent tenants with a view to tracing them in hope that they might shed light on the shooting.

The story of four young men about the shooting was puzzling. Carl W. Boyka, 5749 Ridge avenue; Cletus O'Rourke, 1321 Ardmore avenue; Carl Peterson, 4913 North Clark street, and Michael Farrell, 6120 North Lincoln street, were towing an automobile through an alley west of Clark street and north of Berwyn avenue, and they said they saw and heard some shooting.

Tells Story of Shooting.

"I heard some one call for help and I saw a man stagger and fall down," said Boyka. "We went to him and he was lying in the alley back of a church, and he said he was wounded and asked us to call a policeman. We ran and found a policeman and told him where the man was."

The policeman mentioned by Boyka was a night watchman, Joseph Laurie, employed by the Uptown Business Men's association. He and Adolph Wesselhpeft, watchman for the Fingerhuth Protective patrol, ran to the place designated by the boys—at the rear of the First Swedish Evangelical church, 5255 North Ashland avenue, which is near the apartment where the door was battle scarred.

No body was there, but they saw a man running through an areaway and gave chase. They caught him as he stepped on the running board of an automobile which was getting under way and which departed without him. He was Sam Hunt, who said he was employed by Mike (Bon Bon) Allegretti, a manager for Ralph Capone at the Cotton club.

Shot by Gunmen in Auto.

From a sedan moving slowly south in Orleans street at Elm last evening four gunmen fired a pistol round apiece at Joseph Tomasello, 20 years old, 870 Townsend street, described by police as an Aiello gangster. Struck in the right shoulder and right arm, Tomasello ducked into an alley as William Jennings, a Lincoln park policeman off duty, wasted six shots on the fleeing car. The policeman took Tomasello to the office of Dr. Robert R. Lande, 443 West Division street, from whence with his wounds dressed, he was taken to the Chicago avenue police station. He said his assailants were Negroes unknown to him, contradicting Jennings, who was certain they were Italians.

AL CAPONE HOST AT A MUSICAL; GUESTS UNNAMED

Miami, Fla., May 29.—(AP)—Names of the 50 "business men and citizens" who accepted invitations to a dinner musical given last night by Alphonse Capone continued through today as a matter of speculation. No guest list was forthcoming. Those who attended kept silence.

Meanwhile decision on the charge of false arrest of Capone brought against Director of Public Safety S. D. McCreary will be delayed for from two to four days, until testimony given in yesterday's court hearing can be transcribed, Justice of the Peace Warren L. Newcomb announced.

As he made the announcement Newcomb said his order forbidding the arrest of Capone until he was released as a state witness in the case had been withdrawn and that as far as he was concerned Miami police could determine their policy along this line themselves.

Director McCreary's only comment on the arrest ruling was that the pickup order for Capone has been withdrawn.

Mae Murray Loses Suit Against Real Estate Men

Los Angeles, Cal., May 29.—[Special.]—Mae Murray, actress, lost her $80,000 suit against two real estate men today when a jury found against her charges that they had misrepresented the value of property which they sold to her.

MURDER VICTIM?

WILLIAM SIMONS.

CHICAGO BROKER BELIEVED TO BE MURDER VICTIM

Scout Suicide Theory in Simon's Death.

later to become the president of the Sawers Grain company, in which former Gov. McCray was also a heavy stockholder, Mr. Simons had lived in Chicago through the week days, coming to Kentland every week end.

On the morning of his death, Tuesday, he was to have taken a train to Chicago. Often he used the bus line and sometimes he rode in automobiles with friends.

Found in Early Morning.

His body was found on the Chicago road three and a half miles from his home at 4:15 o'clock in the morning. The train depot is in the opposite direction and so is the bus stop. A heavy suitcase filled with clothing and papers was found near the body.

It was deemed entirely unlikely that Mr. Simons had walked that distance from transportation stops with a heavy suitcase simply to commit suicide.

Richard Simons has evolved this theory: That Mr. Simons entered an automobile in front of his home, either that of a person or persons he knew or of strangers who offered to drive him to Chicago. That after Mr. Simons entered the car, sitting in the front seat with the driver, the murderer, sitting in the rear seat of the car, fired two shots into Mr. Simons' head. That the car was driven to the lonely spot and the wounded man was lifted out, and that he still lived and breathed. That, thereupon, the third shot was fired through his heart while he lay upon the ground.

Robbery Possible Motive.

One possibility is that the motive was robbery, and that the murderers may have been rum runners operating on the Indianapolis-Chicago road. Mr. Simons had carried a large sum of money in his wallet the day before the shooting and when the wallet was found in his pocket there was no money in it. Twenty-one dollars in currency was found in his trousers pocket.

Another possibility considered by the family is that Mr. Simons was the victim of a premeditated, carefully planned and executed murder. The housekeeper in Chicago, from whom Mr. Simons rented a room at 924 Buena Park terrace, has given testimony that on the three days before Mr. Simons left the last time for Kentland he stayed in his room almost continuously, leaving only to go out of town on a business mission. A man called on the telephone on Tuesday, May 13, three days before Mr. Simons went to Kentland, and the broker refused to go to the telephone when called.

The same man called repeatedly, the housekeeper said, in the succeeding days, but the broker refused to talk with him. The landlady declared that she had noticed that when Mr. Simons left the house he glanced behind and about him, in a furtive way, as though he feared something. Efforts are being made to identify this man.

SLAIN WOMAN IN RIVER GIVES N. Y. NEW MYSTERY

New York, May 29.—[Special.]—The police were provided with another murder mystery today with the discovery of the body of a young and well dressed woman floating in the Harlem river. A cord of wire was twisted tightly about her throat and on her hand was a ring set with nine diamonds.

The police believe the body was thrown in the river three months or so ago, and identification will be extremely difficult.

Detectives said that the victim of this murder evidently was a woman of culture and refinement. Her nails had been beautifully manicured, sharpened to the fashionable point, and rouged red.

SEE SPECULATION IN THEFT CHARGE AT WHITING, IND.

Stock market speculation was blamed last night as the cause of an alleged embezzlement by Henry S. Davidson of Whiting, pioneer real estate broker and secretary of the Whiting Savings and Loan Association for more than 20 years.

Davidson, ousted from the secretary's post a year ago, was charged with embezzling $66,000 of the association's funds by Norman Emerson, president. The association was placed in the hands of a receiver early this week. The speculations are alleged to have taken place prior to Nov. 13, 1928. Davidson is at liberty on $5,000 bond.

NEW RIOTS RAGE IN INDIA; POLICE FIRE RAKES MOB

Battle Swept City Again Seethes with Disorder.

BOMBAY, May 29.—(AP)—Communal rioting broke out again this morning at Dacca, 150 miles from Calcutta, and a large number of Hindus were arrested. The city superintendent of police, commanding Gurkha troops, was injured.

The situation in the city itself, violently torn for several days by conflicts between Moslems and Hindus, was reported improved today, but there were indications that trouble had spread to neighboring villages.

Police Fire on 4,000 Rioters.

At Lillooah, also in the Calcutta area, police opened fire on a mob of 4,000 rioters, mostly railway workers of the East Indian workshops. Four were wounded.

The disturbance originated in the introduction of a new wage schedule for the East Indian company's employés. Before the police arrived the company office was besieged by the mob and several European officers were slightly injured.

Reënforcements, under the district magistrate and the superintendent of police, got the situation under control.

50,000 Parade in Bombay.

Bombay staged one of the most remarkable of many processions in support of the civil disobedience campaign that have passed through its streets during some weeks. About 50,000 persons, including 2,000 women, took part in it, and the leaders carried portraits of Mahatma Gandhi and of various Parsee leaders arrested during the campaign against the salt laws.

Such slogans as "No conference without Gandhi" and "No peace possible without Gandhi's coöperation" were borne on placards.

Comparative peace reigned over the salt deposits at Dharsana and Wadala though at the former 100 arrests were made this morning.

Arrest Curfew Violators.

Military precautions were firmly maintained at Lucknow, historic city of the great Indian mutiny, though the situation was considerably improved over that of last week-end. A number of arrests were made for violation of the curfew order. The exact number of casualties in the fighting between police and rioters on Sunday and Monday has not been established, but five are reported to have been killed and sixty injured.

For the first time since rioting broke out at Rangoon between Burmese coolies and strikebreakers authorities began making arrests today in the big city of Burma. Looting still continued on the outskirts, and two deaths occurred this morning. More than 100 bodies of those killed in the communal rioting have been buried.

Throw Bomb at Madras.

Violence was also reported in Madras, where a bomb was thrown into the municipal revenue office and damaged furniture.

Some quarters fear more trouble will result at Sholapur, where disastrous riots caused the establishment of martial law earlier in the month as the result of the departure of 29 Bombay Nationalist volunteers for that city.

The volunteers said they would defy martial law regulations, and attempt to display the Nationalist flag, which is prohibited. Before they left Nationalist criers paraded the street and urged the people to join a procession in mourning for a volunteer who died of injuries received in the salt raid at Wadala Sunday.

ABRAHAM WINS IN WARSHAWSKY SUIT OVER NAME

Abraham Warshawsky, dealer in used cars, junk, and auto accessories at 3220 Ogden avenue, yesterday won the right to use his name on an electric sign advertising his business. The right was contested by his brother, Israel Warshawsky, engaged in the same business at 1915 South State street. The Appellate court held with Abraham.

The family row began in 1928 when Abraham broadcast over radio that his firm was not connected with that of his brother at the time Israel provided bonds for the henchmen of City Collector Morris Eller during the investigation of election terrorism. Eller is the father-in-law of Israel.

Israel asked the Superior court to enjoin his brother from using the family name in the business. Superior Judge Sullivan issued a modified injunction, holding that Abraham could use the name provided he gave equal prominence to the fact that he was not connected with the original Warshawsky.

The Appellate court held the injunction was drastic and unwarranted in that Abraham was virtually prohibited from running his business unless he changed his name. The opinion declared that use of the word original could not be justified, but stated that Abraham must not display his firm name without the words "Not connected with Warshawsky & Co., a corporation."

MODIFY CREED REQUIREMENT OF U. OF C. TRUSTEES

Baptist Session Changes Terms of Old Deed.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., May 29.—[Special.]—In order to make way for a 100 million dollar program of expansion for the University of Chicago, proposed by President Robert M. Hutchins, Baptist denominational sway of the university was greatly modified by action of the Northern Baptist convention here today. According to a statement to the convention by President Clarence A. Barbour, Brown university, the proposed program for the University of Chicago aims to "double the assets of the university, which are now in excess of 100 million dollars."

By practically unanimous vote the convention adopted a resolution to provide for a reduction of the number of Baptist members on the board of trustees. While it is not contemplated to remove any of the present board, the opportunity for wider representation of other denominations will be afforded as personnel changes take place in the future.

Until today's action by the Baptist convention it has been required that three-fifths of the thirty trustees of the university be members of the Baptist church. Under today's resolution it is provided that three-fifths, or eighteen members, of the board of trustees must be members of Christian churches, and that a majority, or at least ten of the eighteen church members, must be Baptist.

Restricts Denominations.

This means that while future changes in the board of trustees may vest the Baptist majority, Baptist interests will be protected by the guarantee that no other one denomination may outnumber the Baptist representation.

The resolution was drafted by a joint commission from the Baptist board of education and the board of trustees of the university. Action by the Baptist convention, sitting as the denominational board of education, was necessary to effect the change, due to the terms of the deed to property given to the present University of Chicago by the old Chicago university. The Baptist board of education is now authorized to give the university a new deed with the revised trusteeship provisions.

Dr. Barbour, in presenting the resolution, referred to the late President Ernest D. Burton's program of expansion at the university, which began in 1923. A stormy session in the Baptist convention of that year was created when President Burton asked that denominational restrictions be removed from the university presidency.

Hutchins Not Baptist.

Fundamentalists, led by Judge J. W. Freeman, Denver, sought to make it necessary for the president to be a Baptist, but Judge Freeman has offered no objections to the present change, according to Dr. Barbour.

All the presidents of the University of Chicago have been Baptists except President Hutchins, who is a Congregationalist.

It was President Burton's plan to double the assets of the university—which in 1923 were about 53 million dollars—by 1940. President Burton's program was accomplished in ten years instead of seventeen. It was pointed out today that the non-Rockefeller gifts have more than doubled in the last ten years.

Dr. Barbour stated that President Hutchins' program, which contemplates again doubling the assets of the university, has been laid out in three stages. "The first, involving $33,000,000, has been officially adopted by the board of trustees and is well under way," he said.

Baptist control of the divinity school of the University of Chicago will not be affected by the action of the convention. It is under direct control of its own trustees, all of whom are Baptists.

Reject Church Union.

Offers of church union by the Disciples of Christ churches to the Northern Baptists were turned down this afternoon by overwhelming vote. The proposal of union originated at the 1926 Disciples convention. Majority and minority reports were presented by the Baptist committee on relations with other churches.

The convention tonight nominated Dr. Albert W. Beavan, president of Rochester-Colgate divinity school, as its new president.

APPROVED BY FACULTY.

Frederic C. Woodward, vice president of the University of Chicago, said yesterday that the action at Cleveland in changing the denominational representation on the board of trustees met with the entire approval of the university authorities.

"This university, like many others, was originally founded under denominational auspices," he said. "It was founded by John D. Rockefeller in cooperation with the Baptist church. In view of the entirely unanticipated growth of the university, the Baptist members of the board, while desirous of retaining the religious influence, felt that it was not advantageous to continue denominational restriction."

DENIES COUNTY LACKS FUND FOR ROAD BUILDING

D. M. Campbell, chief assistant superintendent of the county highway department, last night discounted reports that Cook county's paving projects were threatened with delay because of lack of funds.

"We are behind two or three weeks in the payment of bills totaling about $30,000 due contractors," said Mr. Campbell, "but it is a temporary situation. We are awaiting collection of the 1928 taxes which will permit us to borrow $4,000,000 in the annual issuance of tax anticipation warrants. We recently received $390,000 in refunds from the state. Work is still being done with the last of the $15,000,000 bond issue. We haven't touched our gasoline tax money. So you see we are in pretty good shape."

Stolen Jewels Worth $1,300,000 Await Owners

Loot recovered by New York police displayed on table at police headquarters awaiting identification by victims of robberies. Chicago police are now guarding a safety deposit box in their city in which additional loot with a value of between $200,000 and $500,000 is believed to be lying.

ZEPPELIN PASSES BARBADOS ISLAND ON FLIGHT NORTH

May Avoid Havana Due to Fuel Shortage.

BY GUSTAF KAUDER.
[Special Correspondent of The Chicago Tribune and the New York Times Aboard the Graf Zeppelin. Copyright, 1930, in the United States and Canada by the New York Times Company; elsewhere by Ullstein A.-G. All rights reserved.]

ABOARD THE GRAF ZEPPELIN, May 29.—We reached Barbados, the first island sighted in the Lesser Antilles, at 10 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time. We should reach Porto Rico at 8 a. m. Every one aboard is all right.

Our flight northwards was somewhat retarded today by the tail somewhat retarded today by the tail ends of storms. Though the night was quiet, there was some distant lightning which heralded bad weather ahead. The worst of it, however, was avoided. At 5 a. m. we passed the steamer Wokingham, with whom we exchanged radio messages. We were then 450 miles east of Cayenne and 500 miles north of Para, Brazil, at the mouth of the Amazon.

The sky is overcast and we are running without any assisting wind. We are expecting a northeast trade wind, but if it is not very easterly we shall fly directly over the Bahamas to Lakehurst without touching Havana, lest our supply of fuel gas should not hold out. The passengers, however, are hoping that we will follow a course to Havana.

May Change Route.

Our total distance for the first 24 hours out of Pernambuco is 1,420 nautical miles, or an average of about 36 miles an hour.

Inasmuch as we took on about 8,820 pounds less fuel than we needed at Pernambuco because of the heavy rain that was weighing down the ship, and, since we have not found the direct east wind for which we hoped, the long detour to Havana will probably be impossible.

Dr. Eckener sent a radio message this afternoon to the Havana authorities saying that on account of bad weather and the fuel shortage he doubted if it would be possible to make the detour to Cuba.

Decision Is Delayed.

However, the decision on this will not be made until tomorrow at noon, after the exact amount of fuel gas remaining has been ascertained near the Bahamas. Furthermore, the Havana authorities replied to Dr. Eckener's radio saying that the dirigible could be refueled there, as a supply of blue gas was available.

POLICE HUNT 3 FOR MURDER IN OFFICE ROBBERY

Three robbers were sought by the police last night for the murder of William Koch, 50 years old, during an attempted robbery yesterday of the Midway Linen and Supply Laundry, 6022 Dorchester avenue. Koch, part owner of the business, died of pistol wounds in the abdomen.

Koch encountered the robbers, who were masked, as he stepped into his office from the laundry plant. The robber leader pressed the muzzle of his revolver against Koch's body and tried to force him to open the office safe. Koch resisted. The robber fired and immediately afterward fled with his companions, obtaining no loot.

WHIRLWIND TRIP RESTORES DUCE'S LOST APPETITE

GROSETTO, Italy, May 29.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini's recent Tuscan trip, besides filling all his Fascist followers with renewed enthusiasm for leader and cause, had a more personal beneficent effect—it restored Il duce's appetite.

For a long time he had been on a diet, eating simple and specially prepared food at all public banquets. But once out in the countryside, on the windswept downs and along by the sea, his normal hunger returned.

Here, for example, he ate a heaping dish of rice and parmesan, boiled fish with mayonnaise, roasted pigeons, strawberries, and coffee.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, May 29.—Maj. Lavadina was killed and Maj. Mario de Bernardi, famous Italian speed ace, saved his life by a 1,000 foot parachute jump when planes piloted by the two airmen collided in midair today over Montecellio airdrome near Rome. The two aviators were practicing acrobatic stunts for the big air regatta to be held next week.

Maj. Lavadina and Maj. de Bernardi were converging with several other planes for a fan shaped formation when they collided. Maj. Lavadina tried to get out of the cockpit to the wings for a parachute jump, but was hurled to death before he could adjust his parachute.

Following his parachute jump, Maj. de Bernardi colly smoked a cigaret and a few minutes later went over to a hangar and took up another plane.

Italian "Wing day," as the demonstration which is to be held here June 8 is called, is patterned after the Hendon annual air show in England, and, in accordance with the plans, will be given a distinctly military character.

An African village has been constructed at Littorio air field, in a bend of the Tiber river, which will be bombed to destruction in a mimic air battle between rival airplane squads before the eyes of some 50,000 spectators.

CHARGES AGAINST GUTHRIE HEARD BY CHURCHMEN

The Chicago Association of Congregational churches met behind closed doors at the Central Y. M. C. A. building yesterday to hear charges of improper conduct against Dr. Ernest Graham Guthrie, general director of the Chicago Congregational Missionary and Extension society.

Reporters who tried to interview the principals in the controversy were met at the door with smiling assurances that the meeting was "merely a conference," that all members of the committee had been sworn to secrecy and that no statement would be made until the matter was thoroughly investigated.

Dr. Guthrie refused to comment on the charges made against him, except to say he hoped he was "not as black as he was painted."

The charges grew out of the recent resignation of the Rev. Dr. John R. Heyworth as pastor of the New England Congregational church and were said to involve several parishioners in addition to Dr. Guthrie. It is reported it is charged that improper methods were used in forcing the resignation of Dr. Heyworth.

GUARDS QUELL FRESH TROUBLE AT OHIO PRISON

Columbus, O., May 29.—(AP)—Six convicts at Ohio penitentiary are "in the hole" on a bread and water diet as a result of disturbances in the White City cell block yesterday, Warden Preston E. Thomas announced tonight.

Six convicts participated in the trouble, which started when William Whitely attacked Guard Albert Rose. Whitely was said to have had a club and knife, but was subdued when Rose struck him with a night stick, inflicting head lacerations. Rose also struck Leo Black when the latter called for more prisoners to assist Whitely, the warden said.

The emergency squad of nine prison guards was called, and, armed with night sticks, pistols and tear gas bombs, they entered the cell block and subdued four more prisoners.

ARMY PREFERS PLENTY PLANES TO DIRIGIBLE

Warns House Not to Cut Appropriation.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—(AP)—Air corps plans in the event of war were discussed today at the house military committee hearing on the Kahn bill for a $4,500,000 metal clad dirigible for the army.

Representative McSwain, Democrat, South Carolina, in questioning Maj. Horace M. Hickam, said he believed an enemy attack on this country would bring about conditions under which a unified air force would be necessary.

Warns Against Neglecting Plans.

Hickam testified that dirigibles were highly desirable, but their development should not be carried out at the expense of heavier than air craft.

He added that a method had been developed whereby an airship could conceal itself in a cloud, and by lowering an inverted periscope "like a spider on a web" was valuable for observation purposes.

Maj. Gen. Fechet, chief of the army air corps, agreed with Hickam that development of dirigibles should not be allowed to cut down heavier than air programs. The joint army and navy board agreed, he said, to allocate development of airships to the navy on the theory that such craft would be of greater value to the sea service.

Says Army Could Use It.

"The army could use the proposed ship," he said, "provided it does not call for money from the air corps funds."

He agreed with Representative Florence P. M. Kahn, California, that metal clad dirigibles were pushing out of service those covered with fabric.

The proposed airship would have a lifting capacity of 100 tons, a speed of 100 miles an hour, and be slightly larger than the Los Angeles.

THE MAGICIAN'S HOLIDAY IS LIKE THE BUS MAN'S

Every one knows that a mail man enjoys a long walk on a holiday while a sailor prefers rowing in a lagoon, but until yesterday what magicians did in their leisure hours was a mystery. The exposé was made by John Mulholland, New York magician, who declared that prestidigitators celebrate holidays by fooling one another.

More than 350 magicians are in Chicago to attend the annual convention of the Society of American Magicians, which will open tomorrow afternoon at the Hotel Sherman. The convention is the first of its kind to be held here. Magicians will play tricks on each other and the public and discuss means of protecting their tricks. The convention will close on Sunday night. The youngest magician at the meeting is Betty Jane Kolar, master of sleight of hand at the age of 7, who lives in Glen Ellyn.

Kin Unable to Explain Globe Trotter's Suicide

Relatives of Calvin Fletcher Combs, globe trotter from Buenos Aires, who shot himself to death in his room at the Congress hotel on Wednesday, could give police no clew yesterday as to the motive for Combs' act. Two aunts came to Chicago to take the body to Milford, O., today for burial.

LOOT OF JEWEL RING TRACED TO CHICAGO CACHE

Police Guard Deposit Box in Loop Bank.

With $1,300,000 worth of stolen jewels already recovered in New York City, Chicago police last night were awaiting a telegraphic court order from the east to open a First National bank safety deposit box believed to hold additional loot with a value of between $200,000 and $500,000.

The box was guarded by a detail of men assigned by Chief of Detectives Stege. It is in the name of Robart C. Nelson, whose safety deposit boxes in New York City yielded $1,000,000 worth of jewelry when raided by the police.

Four Seized Here Are Freed.

Four men detained here on Wednesday were released yesterday when eastern authorities wired they did not want them. They are Meyer Gordon, a jeweler in the Chicago-Clark building, who has an appeal pending from a conviction for receiving stolen property; Morris Levinson, 1221 Greenleaf avenue, recently acquitted of a Kansas City jewelry robbery; Louis Silver, 3333 Washington boulevard, and a man who gave the name of Frank Brown.

A Cicero angle was developed in yesterday's investigation when it was learned that tools used in a $300,000 robbery of the Frank Herschede jewelry store in Cincinnati had been stolen from a hardware store in Cicero a few nights before the robbery.

The New York police still consider Nelson their most important suspect. He is charged with receiving stolen goods. He was admitted to $25,000 bail yesterday. Five men and a woman are now in custody in New York.

Clews in Many Cities.

Clews radiate to cities in every part of the country, said Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney of New York City. One concerned the theft of $60,000 in diamonds from a salesman of the Kohn Jewelry company of Newark, N. J., while he was en route from Grand Rapids, Mich., to Chicago, in 1926. A representative of the concern has identified as part of the loot 100 pieces found in Nelson's New York safety deposit box. Some of the stones stolen from Herschede, with a total value of $1,000,000, have also been identified.

BRITISH REJECT PLAN FOR TUNNEL UNDER CHANNEL

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 29.—The project for the construction of a tunnel beneath the Straits of Dover, joining England and France, was vetoed today by the committee of imperial defense, over which Prime Minister MacDonald presided. Although a full meeting of the British cabinet will make the final decision on the scheme, it is considered tonight as good as dead.

Sitting on the committee with the prime minister today were David Lloyd George and Stanley Baldwin.

The opposition of the fighting services, particularly the air force on the ground that the tunnel would mean additional strategic points that would have to be guarded in wartime, was not the sole reason swaying the committee to its adverse decision. It was stated that an investigation had convinced Mr. Snowden that economically the tunnel is not worth the outlay.

EXPECT MILLION MOTORISTS ON HOLIDAY ROADS

Exodus from City in Full Swing Today.

BY HAL FOUST.

The holiday movement of automobiles started last night and will gain full volume this morning. The Chicago Motor club estimates that a million pleasure riders will cover the highways of Chicagoland between this morning and Sunday night.

The holiday today will be followed by a holiday tomorrow for the employés of many offices, businesses, and industries, and with Sunday these workers will have three days for outings. The motor club yesterday warned motorists to anticipate heavy congestion on Sunday and to schedule the homeward trip accordingly.

ILLINOIS 21, MILWAUKEE AVENUE — Closed between Touhy avenue and Dempster street. Detour over Waukegan road and Dempster street.

DEARBORN STREET—Closed between Elm street and Burton place. Traffic will be directed west on Maple to Clark street, north to North avenue, east to Dearborn street.

TOUHY AVENUE—Closed between Harlem avenue and Osceola avenue in Park Ridge. Traffic directed south on Harlem avenue to Lunt avenue, west to Osceola avenue, then north to Touhy avenue.

ILLINOIS ROUTE 58 — Closed between Volo and Ingleside. Traffic is directed north from Ingleside, then northwest over county roads to Grand avenue.

HARLEM AVENUE—Closed between North avenue and Wellington street. Traffic is directed east on North avenue to Sayre street, north to Grand avenue, west to 72d court, north to Wellington street, then east to Harlem avenue.

WASHINGTON BOULEVARD—Closed between Thatcher avenue and Lathrop avenue. Traffic is directed south on Thatcher avenue to Washington avenue, east to Lathrop avenue, then north to Washington boulevard.

ILLINOIS ROUTE 56, RAND ROAD — Closed between River road and Euclid avenue. Traffic is directed south on River road to the Northwest highway, northwest to Euclid avenue, then east to Rand road.

U. S. ROUTE 20 AND 12, STANDARD AVENUE AND DICKEY PLACE—Route to the Dunes highway is closed between Forsythe avenue in Whiting and Guthrie avenue in Gary. Traffic is directed to not turn east on 119th street in Whiting, but to continue south on Forsythe avenue in East Chicago, 5 miles to Michigan avenue in Hammond, east on Michigan avenue to 5th avenue in Gary, thence east to the Dunes highway.

ILLINOIS ROUTE 6, U. S. 330, ROOSEVELT ROAD—Closed at Salt creek approximately ¾ mile east of Mannheim road. Traffic is directed one block south, over paved subdivision streets.

ILLINOIS ROUTE 5, U. S. 20, LAKE STREET—Closed between 9th avenue and Thatcher avenue. Traffic is directed south on 9th avenue to Madison street, east to Thatcher avenue, then north to Lake street.

90TH AVENUE — Closed between 183d street and Lincoln highway. Traffic is directed west on 143d street to Wolf road, south to Lincoln highway, then east to 96th avenue.

132D STREET—Closed between Kean avenue and Harlem avenue. Traffic is directed south on Kean avenue to 131st street, east to Harlem avenue, and then north to 132d street.

The Dempster street bridge over the sanitary district canal will be opened this morning.

The Mannheim road viaduct over the Chicago and North Western tracks between Lake street and the St. Charles road will be open today and tomorrow afternoon and Sunday.

List Longer Trips.

Because many motorists will want to take advantage of three successive holidays for a longer excursion than their usual Sunday jaunt, the Chicago Motor club issued a bulletin recommending the following trips and giving the routes:

Starved Rock state park—Illinois 4 from Chicago to Joliet; Illinois 7 from Joliet to Ottawa, and Illinois 7-A from Ottawa to the park. Return by way of Illinois 7-A from the park to La Salle; Illinois 2 from La Salle to Mendota; Illinois 18 from Mendota to Chicago. Round trip mileage, 210.6.

Rock river valley between Rockford and Dixon—Illinois 5 from Chicago to Rockford; Illinois 2 from Rockford to Dixon, and Illinois 6 from Dixon to Chicago. Mileage, 232.4.

The Shades and Turkey Run, Indiana state park—U. S. 41 from Chicago through Hammond and Kentland to Turkey Run. Mileage, 147.3. Return via U. S. 41 from Turkey Run to Veedersburg; Indiana 34 and Illinois 10 from Veedersburg to Danville, and Illinois 1 from Danville to Chicago. Return mileage, 167.7; round trip, 315.

Dells of the Wisconsin river—Illinois 21 from Chicago to Niles; Illinois 42-A from Niles to Green Bay road; Green Bay road and U. S. 41 to Milwaukee; U. S. 16 from Milwaukee to Kilbourn. Mileage, 206.3. Return trip, U. S. 12 from Kilbourn through Madison and Lake Geneva to McHenry; U. S. 20 from McHenry to Volo; Illinois 60 or Rand road from Volo to Des Plaines; Illinois 19 from Des Plaines to Chicago. Mileage 203.2. Round trip, 411.5.

Rolling country between Freeport and Dubuque, Moorhead Caverns, and Maquoketa state park between Dubuque and Davenport—Illinois 5 from Chicago to Dubuque. U. S. 61 from Dubuque to Davenport. The caverns and state park are adjacent to the village of Maquoketa. Illinois 7 from Davenport to Princeton, and Illinois 18 from Princeton to Chicago. Mileage, 431.5.

Chicago to Detroit and Windsor, Ont.—U. S. 20 from Chicago to Elkhart; U. S. 112 from Elkhart to Detroit, and the recently completed Ambassador bridge from Detroit to Windsor. Windsor-bound tourists should carry their state license registration card, as the Canadian authorities will demand it. Mileage, 275.3; round trip, 550.6.

Mammoth Cave—U. S. 41 from Chicago through Kentland, Ind., to the intersection with U. S. 52; U. S. 52 to Indianapolis; U. S. 31 and U. S. 31-E to Louisville; U. S. 31-W and U. S. 31 to Horse Cave, and U. S. 68 to Cave City. Mileage, 400.3; round trip, 800.6.

The roads are in good condition on these routes, according to the motor club.

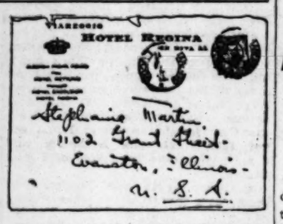
INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.

FROM VIAREGGIO, ITALY



Letter received by Stephanie Martin, 1102 Grant street, Evanston, Ill.

"The sender of this letter is a writer who is collecting material for a book on Shelley," Miss Martin writes. "Viareggio is a watering place on the west coast of Italy. It has a magnificent beach of great length, and beautiful pine woods extend along the shore in either direction from the town.

"On July 8, 1822, the poet Shelley and his friend, Lieut. Williams, were drowned when their little schooner foundered off Viareggio on a voyage from Leghorn to Spezia. Their bodies, washed ashore on the beach, were there cremated in the presence of Trelawney, Leigh Hunt, and Byron. There is a monument to Shelley by an Italian, Urbano Lucchesi, in the Piazza Shelley on the western side of the town."

Viareggio is a maritime town of Tuscany, Italy, in the province of Lucca on the Mediterranean. It is situated thirteen miles northwest of Pisa, with which it is connected by rail. Its malaria having been banished by drainage, the town became a winter resort, and is frequented by thousands of bathers in the summer. The town has a school of navigation and a technical school, and some shipbuilding is carried on there.

The boat in which Shelley went to his doom was built after designs made by his friend, Lieut. Williams, a British naval officer. It was called the Don Juan. Shelley and his wife lived in a bare dwelling on the Gulf of Spezia, known as the Casa Magni. It was there he was en route from Leghorn with Lieut. Williams and a sailor boy, when the storm in which all three perished overtook them. Capt. Edward Trelawney, a seaman friend of Shelley's, tracked down the bodies of Shelley and Williams, and undertook the burning of them on the shore near Viareggio on Aug. 15. The poet's ashes were then collected and buried in the new Protestant cemetery at Rome.

DU PAGE COUNTY RECORDS CENSUS GAIN OF 103%

1930 Figure 85,388; Fewer Farms.

Du Page county gained 103 per cent in population in the ten years ending in 1930. This was shown by figures released yesterday by John S. Byrne, supervisor of the Tenth census district. In 1920 the population was 42,120 as compared with the present 85,388 inhabitants. In 1910 the population was 33,432. The increase of 155 per cent in the last 20 years sets a record for the state, according to Mr. Byrne.

The increase is attributed principally to improved and more rapid transportation facilities which have made it possible for persons working in Chicago to establish their homes in Du Page county. Every township in the county has grown since the last census. Addison, Downers Grove, Milton and York townships show an increase of more than 100 per cent, while large increases have also been recorded by Bloomingdale, Lisle, Naperville, Wayne and Winfield townships. Downers Grove has the largest increase, growing from 9,296 to 22,648.

Figures by Townships.

Township	1930	1920
Addison	7,501	3,390
Bloomingdale	2,043	1,421
Downers Grove	22,648	9,269
Lisle	6,095	3,369
Milton	16,964	8,434
Naperville	3,577	2,911
Wayne	1,186	1,008
Winfield	6,071	4,301
York	19,323	7,925

The census report showed a drop in the number of farms in the county from 1,742 in 1920 to 1,291 in 1930. This is a decrease of 451 or almost 26 per cent.

Brookfield Up 179 Percent.

Brookfield, a residential community located between Riverside and La Grange, was shown to have grown 179 per cent since the last census in figures made public yesterday by Joseph E. Veseley, chairman of the census supervisory committee for the Chicago district. While the village had only 3,589 residents in 1920, the present population is 10,015.

East Chicago, Ind., yesterday reported a population increase of 52 per cent. Its present population is 54,575 as against 35,967 ten years ago.

An error in figures released Wednesday in Washington gave Evanston a larger population than Oak Park. President C. H. Crysler of the Oak Park village board yesterday pointed to the official figures which are: Oak Park, 63,819; Evanston, 61,766.

Washington, D. C., May 29.—(AP)—A 1930 census "sample" of 607 cities of more than 10,000 population showed an increase of 25.4 per cent in population over those same cities ten years ago. The sum total of the 607 in 1920 was 20,363,450. In 1930 it was 25,555,998.

ASSOCIATED PRESS FIGURES.

City—	Total.	Increase.	Pct.
East Chicago, Ind.	54,575	18,878	52
Lexington, Ky.	45,723	4,189	10
†La Crosse, Wis.	39,300	8,879	25

CHICAGO REALTY BOARD VOTES FOR CAR ORDINANCE

Answers Criticisms of Merger Franchise.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A referendum on the proposed indeterminate transit franchise among the members of the Chicago Real Estate board has resulted so far in 466 votes for the ordinance and 17 against it, according to an announcement made yesterday.

S. Charles Iversen, chairman of the board's transportation committee, issued a general statement which replies to some of the criticisms of the ordinance made by the Cook County Real Estate board.

"The ordinance has been described as being perpetual, although it contains provisions for acquiring the properties by purchase at a price which the city has agreed they are worth," said Iversen's statement.

Answers Attack on Extensions.

"It is charged that the new company will not be required to build extensions, although the ordinance prohibits return on the common stock if there is a failure, and the only acceptable excuse will be the failure of the city to do its part in the building of subways. Even this failure would not excuse the company from building such portions of extensions as are not dependent on the subways for their usefulness.

"In one breath it is urged that the utilities always win a fair and just return, but that it is doubtful whether the city would be paid much. Seemingly there is ignorance that the 3 per cent of the company's gross receipts which the city is promised by the ordinance, although junior to bonded indebtedness, comes before any dividends on the common stock and that the city's rights are cumulative.

Subway Rent Discussed.

"Similarly, when a question is raised as to why the city is not to receive rent for the use of the subway, it apparently is not understood that the cost of the subway is not added to the capital account of the company. If rent were charged this cost would have to be added to operating expenses and passed on to the car riders to pay."

Patrick F. Sullivan, head of the Building Trades council, said yesterday that "about 75,000 of the 115,000 members of the building trades are out of employment." He added: "The only relief in sight lies in the transit ordinance."

Form Ward Organizations.

The nonpartisan committee headed by Ald. Joseph B. McDonough showed its first activity yesterday in forming ward organizations to support the ordinance. Each alderman has been asked to supply the names of 10 leaders who will form the nucleus of a ward group.

Aside from the ward committees the general nonpartisan committee added 38 members, some of whom are: Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, Mrs. Edward S. Bailey, Dr. Willis O. Nance, Werner Wieboldt, H. H. Haylett, Newton C. Farr, O. W. Holmes, Miss Mary McEnerney, H. O. Rosenberg, Gustav Kluge, George Woodruff, Robert Isham Randolph, Mrs. Harry J. Myerson, B. M. Winston, Elmer Rich, Jesse Binga, Warren Wright, L. D. Bland, Charles M. Rau, Edward Ryan, Frank Kane, O. M. Perry, John Palandech, and L. A. Pinderski.

Ward Committeemen Named.

Third ward—Dr. A. N. Gordon, Frank S. Stephens, William H. Harrison, S. A. T. Watkins, George T. Kersey, appointed by Ald. R. R. Jackson.

TINKHAM TO ASK PROSECUTION OF CHURCH DRY BODY

Says Dr. Wilson's Report Proves It Liable.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 29.—Another demand upon Attorney General Mitchell for institution of proceedings against the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals under the federal corrupt practices act is to be made by Representative George Holden Tinkham [Rep., Mass.].

The testimony of Deets Pickett, the board's research secretary, before the senate lobby committee on Wednesday and Thursday as well as the confidential report of Dr. Clarence True Wilson, the general secretary, disclosed yesterday, according to Tinkham, substantiated the charges which were filed by the latter and have been pending before the attorney general since last November.

Gets Transcript of Record.

"I have secured transcripts of the senate committee's record for the two days Pickett was under examination and am now engaged in abstracting it for submission to the attorney general with a renewal of my demand for prosecution of this board," declared the Massachusetts house member today.

"As I heard Pickett's testimony developed," he continued, "it seemed to me there was overwhelming and conclusive evidence of violations of the corrupt practices act requiring organizations engaged in political campaigns to file detailed reports of all receipts and expenditures.

Will Ask Action.

"The testimony was completely corroboratory of the charges I have already laid before the attorney general and in addition there was important new evidence disclosed. In due season I shall present this to the attorney general and call upon him to take appropriate action."

Although his own testimony disclosed that board funds were used to print and circulate quantities of anti-Smith propaganda in 1928 and that Wilson stumped a number of states against the Democratic candidate, Pickett insisted that the board's activities were "nonpolitical" and that the board had been "well advised" it was not subject to the corrupt practices statute.

WATSON FOR REFERENDUM

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special]—Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader of the senate, today joined the ranks of drys who favor an expression of sentiment of their constituents by a referendum.

Senator Watson said that some time ago he told some of the party leaders in Indiana that he believed that a prohibition referendum should be arranged. His suggestion, however, was criticized by some of the drys and nothing has thus far come of it.

"I believe it would be helpful to the representatives of the people to know their sentiments on prohibition," said Senator Watson.

Senator T. L. Oddie [Rep., Nev.], also a dry, joined with Senators Wesley L. Jones [Rep., Wash.] and Thomas J. Walsh [Dem., Mont.], drys who have already expressed themselves on the matter, in declaring that he would vote to submit an amendment to the constitution repealing or modifying the 18th amendment if the voters of his state favored such action.

"My state has voted dry and later voted in favor of modification," said Senator Oddie, "and I consider it the proper thing to follow the mandate of my state when it is clearly defined."

STATION ORDERED OFF AIR; CHARGE USE OF OBSCENITY

Washington, D. C., May 29.—(AP)—For the first time since its creation the federal radio commission today ordered a station off the air for broadcasting obscene language.

KVEP, of Portland, Ore., was the station silenced, on charges brought by the Better Business bureau and other organizations of that city. The commission in its decision found that the station, owned by W. B. Schaeffer, had permitted "consistent use of indecent, profane, and objectionable language" by Robert C. Duncan, who unsuccessfully campaigned for the Republican nomination to congress in the recent primary.

The commission said Schaeffer "admitted himself that Duncan had attacked many citizens of Portland and had called them by such epithets as 'half skunk,' 'yellow cur,' and 'reprobate.'"

JAIL CROWDED; BLAME HAZARD AT BRIDEWELL

Sheriff Traeger reported yesterday that the county jail is being overcrowded as a result of the declared fire hazard at the Bridewell. Warden David Moneypenny pointed out that prisoners sent to jail on fines must be kept indefinitely unless judges release them on writs. The judges have not been issuing writs.

The warden pointed out that the statutes do not provide ways to work out fines in the county jail as is the case at the Bridewell. The prisoners can perform no work. The municipal courts are sending prisoners to the jail by changing charges from violations of city ordinances to violations of state laws, the warden said.

The jail has cells for 1,229 prisoners and has 1,302 inmates. The total is increasing daily. An emergency dormitory has been opened in the basement.

REPORT CHINA'S PRESIDENT HIT BY REBEL BULLET

Chiang Wounded in Arm, Dispatches Say.

BULLETIN.

AMOY, China, May 30.—(AP)—Communists surrounding Cheng-Chow, thirty miles west of this city, today were believed preparing to attack the city. The Reds cut telegraph lines and dug trenches across highways, isolating the city. Thousands of the terrorized populace were fleeing toward the coast.

PEIPING, China, May 29.—(AP)—It is persistently reported that Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, president of the Chinese Nationalist government, was wounded in the arm during recent fighting along the Lunghai railway. Gen. Chiang, most conspicuous military figure of China, who probably has held more offices than any other man in his country, is with the Nationalist forces at the front.

Incessant fighting involving thousands of troops with tremendous casualties has been going on along the line of the Great Midland Trunk railroad.

Shoot Down Rebel Plane.

SHANGHAI, May 29.—(AP)—The first aerial battle in Chinese warfare occurred today when two Nationalist airplanes shot down a Northern rebel plane, said a dispatch from Nationalist military headquarters in Nanking.

The rebel plane was engaged west of Kweiteh in Honan province and crashed near the Yellow river as the pursuing Nationalist flyers scored hits with their machine guns. The rebel plane also was equipped with a machine gun.

Developments of the struggle of the opposing forces of the Nationalists and Northerners in northern Honan are obscured by lack of details.

Nationalists in Retreat.

Yesterday's dispatches reported that the rebels asserted their armies had captured 50,000 prisoners in a smashing defeat of the Nationalist forces. Admitting they had retreated after a reverse west of Lanfeng, the Nationalists claimed their arplanes had dropped bombs on Chengchow, headquarters city of the rebels. The Nationalists were reported retreating on railroads both eastward and southward of Chengchow, northeastern Honan province.

Radox Brings Foot Comfort To America

Nothing Like it Ever Sold by Druggists Before

Corns—Callouses—Burning Feet

Now you can buy Radox in America at any up to date drug store. They are selling dozens of packages a day.

Three or four baths according to directions and your corns and callouses are gone, your tired, burning, aching feet are changed to strong vigorous ones and bear this in mind—

Getting a corn out needs only a few Radox footbaths. In the last few years millions of packets of Radox have been sold to corn sufferers. Here is a typical letter:

"My wife had a very bad corn for several years on the ball of her foot, and four smaller ones on the toes, also hard skin which was very painful. After a few soakings in a Radox footbath the hard skin began to peel off, and the corns came right out after a week. It is a pleasure for her to walk now." E. S.

1st November, 1929.

Radox contains four different Salts. One banishes odor, one is antiseptic, one softens the water, and one releases oxygen which carries the softening salts right to the roots of corns, which are thus loosened so that they can be lifted out bodily. Only Radox contains this fourfold combination.

A SPECIAL SESSION FOR THE TREATY.

President Hoover will call the senate in special session for the naval treaty. The house of representatives is impatient to get the work of this session done, adjourn, and go home. The senate is apparently willing to agree to this and the President is apparently determined that the treaty shall not drag along undecided. Therefore it is probable that the decision will come in a special session. Something ought to be gained from that.

No one who has followed the course of negotiation in London and of inquiry in Washington is persuaded that all the facts regarding the agreement have been made public. It is more than doubtful that a majority of the senators know what has been in the exchanges between the governments of the United States and Great Britain. At a suggestion that the correspondence would be called for the President has been informed by his legal advisers that such information is not procurable at the request of the senate. Nevertheless the senate foreign relations committee has asked for it.

No public policy would be furthered by the ratification of a treaty intended to establish certain international relations of which the American people are not informed. The treaty is supposed to reduce the bill for the navies, prevent provocative competition in building, give each nation an ample margin of security on its good behavior, and thus guarantee, so far as possible, the continuance of peace. Other purposes have not been disclosed, but there are intimations of them.

In a special session the senate may be in a better position, if it will make use of it, to get all pertinent facts and learn what may be the complete understanding between the United States and Great Britain. The treaty itself is poor evidence that only its ostensible purposes have been considered.

Japan took advantage of unexplained circumstances to depart from the whole basis of arrangements as they affect the far Pacific and to get advantages apparently so significant that they must be covered by a simulated protest against the treaty at home. It seems to be forgotten that the Japanese ratio provided at the Washington conference was related to the stipulation that the United States would not fortify its Asiatic possessions. It cannot strengthen them where they exist or build them where there are none. The consideration was that the American fleet should be strong enough to protect these holdings. The Washington ratio had this in mind. The London ratio increases Japanese strength. The American commitment against defensive works remains binding. What made this departure from former agreement seem acceptable or imperative to Mr. Stimson and his associates? Senator Johnson of California may be able to develop the facts which explain it. Mr. Stimson has described the treaty as the "best we could get." The implied compulsion is not understood, nor is it understood why the American requirements in heavy cruisers dropped in successive conversations with Mr. MacDonald. What are the unrevealed purposes of the treaty?

THE INDUSTRIAL HARBOR SOUTH.

The far south shore is the best place for an industrial harbor, and ingenious as Maj. Putnam's plan may be for a harbor and transshipment area around the Navy pier it is doubtful if Chicagoans would tolerate the industrialization of this region. For local freight and passengers the Navy pier is now of great service, and this value could be expanded by running tracks from the freight subway stub nearby onto the pier. To run a railroad there or on a new pier adjoining would be ruinous, however, to the outer drive, the park, and recreation project on which Chicago's heart is set. The district around the Navy pier has become too valuable in other ways to ruin now by freight yards, warehouses, and switch engines.

The other aspects of the plan are more in line with the character of Chicago's growth. Some contend that eventually the main stem of the river must be closed to all but small boats or barges that can ride under fixed bridges. Transshipment from barge to lake ships or to rail should be given facilities around Calumet. Though the older plan to cut a mouth for the river at 92d street direct to the sanitary canal would simplify the passage of ships to the barge terminals at Crawford avenue or of barges to the ships, the cost would be prohibitive. An expansion of the channels along the Calumet river and the Sag will probably serve the purpose better. In this vicinity the great terminals and transshipment areas should be built.

Chicago's industrial and freight centers are gradually being localized in well defined areas, and plans for harbors and freight terminals should accept this tendency and assist it rather than counteract its growth. The lake shore north of 79th street has in great part been appropriated justly and with high enthusiasm for the people's health and pleasure. The loop and the surrounding commercial districts are also fairly well defined. To break these painfully acquired districts would injure Chicago in the long run. If the average engineer would incorporate more human engineering in his material and industrial plans he would be able to suit his projects to the growth and meaning of his community with far more accuracy.

WHERE MURDER ABOUNDS.

An advertisement published by THE TRIBUNE recently in this and other newspapers emphasized the curious fact that Chicago is known as the crime center of America, though Chicago's murder rate is relatively low. The following list of cities in the order of their murder rates per hundred thousand inhabitants was given:

Memphis	66.8
Birmingham	51.3
Atlanta	51.0
Jacksonville	46.9
Lexington	39.0
New Orleans	28.9
Houston	27.6
Kansas City	24.8
Cincinnati	23.2
Miami	22.3
Detroit	18.6
Sacramento	18.5
Chicago	12.7
New York	7.1

Now this is a curious list, indeed. It is headed by cities in the heart of prohibition territory and at the bottom are the two cities which prohibitionists regard as the nation's sinks of iniquity. Though the great cities do not want prohibition, the drys have told us over and over again it must be forced upon us to save us from ourselves.

Memphis is five times as murderous as Chicago and nine times as murderous as New York. Memphis is in the dry south. So are Birmingham in Senator Heflin's state and Atlanta in Upshaw's. Jacksonville and Miami are in the state which claimed Bryan. Houston is in Senator Sheppard's Texas. Kansas City is in Missouri, but just across the river is dry Kansas, and Kansas City is its spiritual capital. When all these cities have been named, all of them far more murderous than either Chicago or New York, the argument of the drys is ground into dust. The great cities are reputed to be the wettest and perhaps are; but they are also far less given to crimes of violence than their smaller sisters.

No one can criticize Tennessee, Alabama, Texas, Florida and the rest of the murderous states for adopting prohibition within their boundaries. If liquor makes murderers, as they say it does, they seem to need it. We don't, and neither does New York.

A CURTSY ABROAD, A VOTE AT HOME.

Mrs. Bertha D. Baur of Chicago was presented at court Wednesday night, the reception being the last of the season at Buckingham palace. King George was unable to be at either the third or the fourth reception, having rheumatism in his hip, but with Mrs. Dawes sponsoring her Mrs. Baur made her curtsy to the queen.

Republican National Committeewoman Baur from Illinois will have a vote in that body on the selection of the convention city for the 1932 nomination and she will vote later on the temporary roll call, seating contested delegations, and on the selection of temporary chairman of the convention.

In these processes of the nomination of an American President the British foreign office now has a vote in the sack.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Memorial day has become in America a spring festival in part, a race and picnic day, and a memorial of one sun's course to our soldier dead. It is always such with sacred days as younger generations come along. Solemnity wears away under time's erosive flow. The innate gayety of human hearts emerges.

As a spring festival of flowers and quiet beauty the day may be used not inappropriately. As a day of pugilism, races, poker, and whoopee it is less fitting. By moving Memorial day to Sunday and establishing a May holiday for sports the incongruity can be removed. It would entail no loss. It would save the memory of the dead from disrespect.

Editorial of the Day

DIRT.

[New York Herald Tribune.]

It was a woman, Mary Ware Dennett, who carried off the honors of the censorship debate at the booksellers' convention recently. "Censorship is like wearing gray clothes because they do not show the dirt," she said, and appealed for a kind of education which would make it impossible for the dirt to stick.

Mrs. Dennett was magnificently right. There is, and there always will be, dirt in the atmosphere about us. What we need is not a screen to deny its existence, but the kind of inner wholesomeness which is beyond effect by it. You cannot create pure minds by restrictive statute; what Mrs. Dennett called "the hush plan of education" is no preparation for modern life. The young man or woman who has never met temptation cannot be counted armed against it.

Mr. Sumner's sincere argument, on the other hand, ignored the difficulties inherent in the transitory and subjective nature of "obscenity" and "indecency." The one piece bathing suit which seems ample enough today would, a decade or two ago, have shocked not only Mr. Sumner but also, very likely, his opponents in debate, Mrs. Dennett and Mr. Ernst. The 1930 mind which plods through Thomas Hardy's "Tess of the d'Urbervilles" or "Jude the Obscure" cannot understand what it was in those noble books which shocked the 1890's. The indecent of today may seem perfectly decent tomorrow; and, on the other hand, it is quite possible that pictures and books which seem innocent enough to us may appall our grandchildren. Standards change. Mr. Sumner seemed to assume that there was a fixed line between decent and indecent which his Society for the Suppression of Vice, with the aid of the courts, could unerringly determine. He should, after his many experiences in the courts, have learned better.

SAVED!

Wife—Henry, do you realize that you have forgotten that this is my birthday?

Husband—Yes, dearie. I did forget it, and it's quite natural that I should. There really isn't anything about you to remind me that you are a day older than you were a year ago.

SURE CURE

"How did Dr. Ruppig manage to cure Miss Elderly of her nervousness so soon?"

"He told her nervousness was a disease of old age."—Lord Jeff.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

that the scientists all over the country are working with doesn't seem so good when you look at it closely. That thing will probably be on sale everywhere in a short time, and then what are we going to do? Think it's going to mess up all sorts of things. Jasper Bloopply, the great business leader, goes to his office door and tells the blonde at the typewriter he's in conference. Then he goes back to his desk, takes out a bottle of pre-war, lights a fat cigar, opens a novel that's been banned in Boston, and settles down in comfort. Then the pastor of Mr. Bloopply's church comes in for a donation. "Sorry," says the blonde, thickly, for she has a mouthful of chewing gum, "Mr. Bloopply is in conference." The donation seeker takes out the lie detector and aims it at the blonde. He takes a careful squint through it. "Liar!" he screams, and breaks down the door and discovers Mr. Bloopply. Tableau! Slow curtain!

"Mrs. Lottsodough is not in," says the maid at the door when Mrs. Ohowswell comes to call. Out jumps the lie detector. "You lie! You lie!" shrieks Mrs. Ohowswell, "and that goes for Mrs. Lottsodough, too; and you tell her if she ever tries to horn into one of my parties again the butler will give her the bum's rush."

Yessir, it's going to be different all around. You meet a friend who looks like he had been pulled backward through a knot hole. "Hello," says you, "why, you're looking fine; I never saw you look so well." He pulls the lie detector on you and you're through with that bird for the rest of your life. Say what you will, that new invention is going to upset things.

MEMORIAL.

Come, smile for them this day. They did not weep,
Though Lethe their only guerdon for their pain
(Gethsemane for happy, life-flushed youth),
Then requiem . . . a bugle in the rain
Beside the sullen Ourcq, there to remain
Forever stilled of laughter, sought in vain.

But smile for them this day, and bear the hurt,
The grievous hurt as they bare what none saith.
Brave in the passing, brave should their memory be
Who live in love—and never shall know death.

THE SOLICITOR.

AND THEY SAY a lone robber held up a train out near Hollywood, on which a half dozen movie picture kings and queens were traveling, and stole all their rings and diamonds and rubies and pearls and things. Pooh! How could one robber without a couple of drays carry away all the jewelry that half a dozen movie stars wear around?

JOHN HAYS HAMMOND JR., the w. k. inventor, is at work on a device that will enable aviators to pierce a fog and pick out a good landing place. Hurry up with that thing, John; we want it for the senate before they vote on the London naval treaty.

THE WEATHER MAN sez yesterday sezze—"Probably frost tonight." Frost! Just as June is about to come tripping across the threshold! It looks more and more as though our prediction of a blizzard and the lake freezing over on the 4th of July was going to come true.

UNCENSORED LETTER.

You are neither faithful,
Kind or just;
God knows I only love you
Because I must.

There are both wiser men,
And braver men;
You shall not claim my kisses
Ever again.

I shall be sensible,
I shall be cool,
I shall be no longer
Your, or love's fool.

Words are enchanting things,
Courageous, in sooth;
Alas, that these words hold
So little truth!

SHEILA STUART.

DR. CLARENCE TRUE WILSON'S letters seem to have made the most commotion down in Washington, but we think Deets Pickett's appearance there was the funniest. Doc Wilson is mighty amusing, but for good, straight, clean fun give us Deets Pickett every time.

BOBBY JONES wins again! Say, Bobby, while you're so strong over there, why not drop around to Downing street and say you don't like that six inch gun clause in the treaty? Just tell 'em lots o' the folks over here seem to think the U. S. A. got the double cross in that naval treaty and you want things fixed up. They'll do it for you in a minute. A winning golf champion counts for a lot more over there in England than American statesmen.

COMPENSATION.

Gray, saintly days that grow melodious
Towards evening, or the unkempt, bitter dawn
Of hungry, heartless mornings when the bus
Of disillusionment has left the lawn
Covered with likes of us who only crave
A few short purple passages before
The all-too-cynic gods say, "Here's your grave, You've had your fill, you can't have any more!"

But have we not had gracious, moonlit night
When dear Diana's spell has made us feel
That all the broken arrows and the slights
Of old misfortune could not make us reel?
If you have felt yourself a god one day,
What matters if they take the world away?

MEMORY DAY! Flowers—and tears and memories—memories that hurt but that leave a blessing, too.

PILLOWS.

A BABY should not use a pillow, not even a small one. His head is nearly round, in the first place. In the second the distance from shoulder to shoulder is about the same as the direct distance from ear to ear. The objects of pillows are twofold, the principal one being to keep the spinal column comfortably straight. If a baby sleeps on his side with a pillow under his head, the spinal column is bent to one side—his neck is crooked upward. If he sleeps on his back, with his head on a pillow, his neck is bent forward. Both are faulty positions, leading to fatigue and irritability. The second object of the pillow is to provide a soft surface for the ear and the skin over bony prominences on the neck. A baby's face and head are pretty well padded with fat and one piece of soft bedding under the head supplies all that is needed.

Minor contributions to the harm done by pillows for babies are: Occasional interference with breathing, and a tendency to make the head sweat. The arguments are all against head pillows for babies.

If a baby has meningitis, infantile paralysis, scurvy, rheumatism, or is very badly wasted, he may be kept on a large pillow used as a bed, but that is another matter.

Adults need to use pillows. In their case the distance from shoulder to shoulder is longer than that from ear to ear. If an adult lies on his side and uses no pillow he bends his neck laterally. The position shortly becomes uncomfortable and he gets relief by rolling forward and resting his head on the forehead. The long axis of the head runs from before backward. If he lies on his back the head tilts backward a little, the lower jaw drops, and snoring starts. The adult soon becomes uncomfortable from the pressure of the mattress on his ear or on some skin area which lies close to bone. Even if the man sleeps face downward he needs a pillow to hold his head in a position of comfort and easy breathing.

This does not mean that the average adult should continue to use the present average size pillow. A pillow which is too large [and most of them are] also tends to crook the spine. A part of the stoop of advancing years is the result of sleeping on too much pillow. Starting from the cradle and ending at the grave, man at first bent forward into a near circle, gradually unfolds, finally becomes straight, and then begins to wind himself into a near circle again. Large pillows promote this senescent circling. Instead of being called the stoop of age it should be known as a product of age, plus pillows, plus work.

Finally, adults with heart asthma and all other forms of asthma either need very large pillows or think they do.

GINGER JAKE PARALYSIS.

A. C. G. writes:

1. What is the source (what country) of the poison causing the present nation-wide epidemic of jake paralysis?
2. What is the estimated number of cases in the United States? I have heard it put at 96,000 cases.
3. Is it curable?

REPLY:

1. The government is trying to locate the source of the so-called ginger consumed by those who have jake. The bottles in my possession bear labels giving New York, Brooklyn, St. Louis, Cincinnati, and Jellicoe, Tenn., as sources. The wording indicates the same ultimate source for the separate distributing points. The cause of the trouble has not been agreed on. All the cases I have talked with admitted drinking the ginger, but I understand some say they have not.
2. No one has the answer to your question. I have heard an estimate of 10,000 cases. I think that is high, but I do not know.
3. Yes. Cure can be expected in time. The treatment is principally massage, passive motion, and regulated use. Overuse is harmful.

MEDICINE AND APPENDIX.

J. M. writes:

1. Is there any medicine which will prevent an operation for appendicitis?
2. Is Russian mineral oil of any value in this case?

REPLY.

1. I don't think so.
2. I don't think so.

INFECTION OF GALL BLADDER.

M. C. O. writes: During a recent attack of inflammation of the gall bladder I had an X-ray taken. With the X-ray plate we received a letter, and the following statement has bothered me. It was: The patient may have a low grade cholecystitis and yet the function of this test be normal.

Please explain what is meant by "low grade cholecystitis."

REPLY:

SCREENS.

Chicago, May 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Requests to the janitor and landlord to put screens on the windows in our hallway have been ignored. These windows are opened frequently and many insects invade the hall and get into our flat. Is there any law in regard to this? C. B.

Section 2174 of the city code provides that "it shall be the duty of every person—owning or controlling—any place where persons are housed—and where foods are kept—to maintain on all openings—from April 15 to November 15—screens . . ." While this wording is equally applicable to landlord and tenant we are informed that if an owner fails to provide screens a complaint with the department of health will insure action to that end.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NATURALIZATION NOT GRANTED.

Chicago, May 26.—[Friend of the People.]—In 1922 my mother, after passing all necessary steps in securing second citizen papers, paying witnesses, the fee of $4 for the final papers, has failed to receive them.

After 8 years lapse we have been informed that it is necessary for her to file a declaration of intention. In other words, through failure of the commissioner of naturalization at Washington, D. C., to mail them, we are compelled to waste more time and money.

Will you please advise us as to the further steps we should take in order to settle this? E. O.

The writer has apparently been properly instructed. The application for citizenship was apparently not granted and the declaration of intention filed prior thereto is now over seven years old and has no further naturalization value.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT.
District Director of Naturalization.

DISAGREES WITH HUSBAND'S TASTE.

Dolton, Ill., May 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Some time ago my husband signed a contract to put paper shingles on our home. I do not like them and I do not want it done. Since our home is owned in joint tenancy and I did not sign any papers, could we be forced to go through with the contract? No expense has been incurred so far. Would you give me your advice? O. H.

The contract would be binding against your husband so that the other party could collect damages from him if you blocked the matter. We advise against this course.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 30, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—President Johnson issued a proclamation appointing William W. Holden provisional governor of North Carolina and prescribing his duties, among which is to arrange for a convention to reëstablish a state government.

WASHINGTON.—Most of today's session of the trial of the assassins of President Lincoln was taken up by testimony for the defendant Dr. Mudd. An effort was made to break down the evidence of Thomas, a government witness, who testified that Mudd had told him that the President and members of the cabinet were to be killed. Probably the most fiendish act in the whole catalogue of diabolical acts of the rebels was disclosed in the testimony of the witness Hyams. He told of his employment in Toronto by Dr. Blackburn to carry to this city several packages of clothing infected with yellow fever and smallpox, to be sold indiscriminately. The work was faithfully performed by Hyams, he said. He declared that he understood that the clothing in a valise which was sent to President Lincoln was infected with both diseases. The object of the plot, Hyams said, was to destroy the federal army.

ST. LOUIS.—A severe earthquake shock was felt in St. Louis and vicinity. Tables, chairs, and other articles of furniture rattled and houses oscillated perceptibly, creating considerable apprehension for a time.

NEW YORK.—The Tribune's Washington correspondent says the government detectives have succeeded in tracing John H. Surratt, sought in the assassination conspiracy, to the doors of a monastery in Canada. Since his entrance no trace of him has been discovered.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 30, 1900.

CHICAGO.—Several hundred guests, many from out of town, attended the wedding of Miss Janet Ayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Ayer, 99 Lincoln Park boulevard, and Kellogg Fairbank, son of N. K. Fairbank, in St. James church yesterday. Canon Knowles of Trinity church, New York, performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. James S. Stone, rector of St. James. Miss Margaret Fairbank was the maid of honor and Wallace Fairbank was best man.

CHICAGO. — "Tommy." Ryan of Syracuse fought "Kid" McCoy of Indiana through six terrific rounds at Tattersall's. McCoy got the decision, but Ryan got the cheers. Ryan, frenzied, pounced on the referee, Malachy Hogan, and tried, under a hail of fists, to force a change of the decision to a draw. The crowd, 11,000 strong, clambered on chairs and railings and hooted: "Robbery, robbery!" It was the cleverest, fastest fight that Chicago has seen in years.

LONDON. — Lord Roberts' army bivouacked in the suburbs of Johannesburg and he expected to enter the city at noon today without resistance from the Boers. He expects to reach Pretoria on June 1. He announced that he has found the mines safe. It is announced that the Orange Free State has been formally annexed to the British empire. Lord Salisbury declared in a speech tonight that not a scrap of independence will be left to the Boer republics.

ST. LOUIS.—A dozen persons were shot and many others beaten and injured by flying missiles in the rioting attending the street car strike. For violence it was the worst day since the strike was inaugurated three weeks ago.

LONDON.—The Daily Express has this dispatch from Shanghai relative to the Boxer uprising: "The rebellion continues to grow in intensity and the gravest fears are entertained as to its ultimate extent. The foreign envoys at Peking, fearing a massacre within the capital, have decided to bring up the guards of the legations. The rebels are now massing outside Peking and their numbers are reported to be constantly augmenting. The position of the missionaries is one of extreme peril."

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 30, 1920.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—After an all afternoon battle the house passed the soldiers' bonus bill. It now goes to the senate, where there is little prospect of action at this session. The final vote was 289 to 92. All officers and men under the rank of captain are included in the bill as passed by the house. Five forms of adjusted compensation are provided for. The cash bonus is to be paid on the basis of the days served, but no payment is to be made for the first sixty days.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A. A. Sprague of Chicago, national treasurer of the Gen. Leonard Wood campaign, testified before the senate investigating committee that he has received $1,180,043 and disbursed $1,174,919 on behalf of Gen. Wood's candidacy for the Republican nomination for President at the Coliseum convention in Chicago next week.

MARCH TEMPO.

Midlothian, Ill., May 27.—As one of the marchers I wonder if I may say something regarding march tempo in Memorial day parades?

Always the drum major of the civilian bands lending their service to the occasion strikes up what they have learned as march tempo, namely 120, and by the time the trio is reached the tempo is around 140.

Now 120 is concert march time and 105 is ideal marching time; that is why most marches are written in 6-8 time so that they will not sound draggy.

Also some of the boys carry their packs in front now, and to them "physical jerk" time is no more. As a member of the overseas P. P. C. L. I. band I had plenty of experience.

THE TRACTION ORDINANCE

Chicago, May 24.—It does not seem to me that it should be necessary to give the traction companies so much, or yield to them so much as is provided in the new ordinance in order to secure extensions and betterment of the existing service. This situation is usually clothed in so much legal phraseology that it is difficult for a layman to grasp the situation.

It seems that if the interests get all they want under this ordinance they will make only such additions as it would be to their interest to make anyway, and as I understand the matter, the city will build them a subway downtown for their use in the congested loop area out of the traction fund.

For the enlightment of the people in general who would like to cast an intelligent vote on this important question in an intelligent manner, I would ask that you kindly favor us with a comprehensive and understandable editorial on the situation, pointing out how it will benefit the people. Otherwise, I, for one, shall vote against it.

J. L. LAWRENCE.

IN NO MAN'S LAND.

Chicago, May 26.—It is alleged that in "the no man's land" lying between Kenilworth and Wilmette two youths were severely beaten by hoodlums while police of the villages mentioned stood idly by, stating they had no jurisdiction. In the interest of fewer broken heads these officers of arrested activity are respectfully referred to a section of chapter 24, Illinois revised statutes, which reads as follows:

"The territory which is embraced within the limits of adjoining cities, villages, and incorporated towns within any county in this state shall be a police district. It shall be lawful for the police of any city, village, or incorporated town in such district to go into any part of such district to suppress riot, to preserve peace, and protect the lives, rights, and property of citizens."

S. T. SULLIVAN.

THE COST OF CITIZENSHIP.

Chicago, May 27.—My husband is 5 months in this country and has not been able to find a job. He was again applying for a job this morning and his application was refused because he has not as yet taken out his first papers. How can a fellow, married, without a job for 5 months, be able to pay $10 for the first papers?

Five years ago, when I took out my first papers, the price was $1 and conditions were much better than they are now.

I am sure that the high price for the first papers will hold many people back from becoming citizens of the United States. My husband is one of them.

MRS. H. ZWICK.

DISTURBERS.

Chicago, May 21.—A gang of boys and girls congregate on the steps of the Bateman school (Berteau and Sacramento avenues) nightly about 9 o'clock, until 10:30 or 12, singing, playing accordion, using very coarse and indecent language that can be heard for a block. This has been taken up with the Albany Park police by several in the neighborhood, but nothing has been done. This has been going on for a long time.

M. E. M.

MEXICAN IMMIGRATION.

Chicago, May 27.—Your recent editorial on Mexican immigration and Mr. Armstrong's subsequent remarks on the same topic are unjust and misleading. You both give the impression that the Mexican is a race inferior to the American. Pure dogma, born of a superiority complex overfed on ham and eggs. Different modes of living and of reacting, provided they are on a common basis of honesty, may, fundamentally speaking, show different heritages and traditions, but surely cannot be used as a tape measure for ascertaining the relative superiority of one race over another.

Illiteracy in Mexico has decreased over thirty per cent in the last four years [THE TRIBUNE, Jan. 7, 1930], thereby establishing a world's record. The change chiefly affected the Indian and the mestizo Mexican mass, which you seem to consider inferior. The methods of teaching may have been of the best, but certainly they would have not succeeded so splendidly had not the pupils been unusually keen and receptive. Five years ago Prof. Dewey of Columbia stated that he had never found a pupil of a superior intelligence to that of the Mexican boys in the Indian village schools which he visited. Perhaps you know little of the Mexican leaders of thought, philosophers, and poets. But you surely know that Mexican statesmanship of the Indian and mestizo variety ranks highly anywhere. On the other hand, have not the brothers and cousins of the Mexicans whom you berate conquered Hollywood? The differentiation should hinge on racial characteristics and on environment, but not on inferiority.

F. C. LONA.

STREET CARS ON THE DRIVE.

Chicago, May 28.—May I express the appreciation of Passavant Memorial hospital for the splendid editorial entitled, "Street Cars on the Drive," which appeared in your issue of May 27.

Noise is one of the most disturbing factors for ill patients and has a definitely retarding effect upon recovery. Should the surface lines be run down Fairbanks court past Passavant hospital and the proposed Wesley hospital, the "zone of quiet" would be utterly destroyed. Both Passavant and the proposed Wesley hospital have such marvelous sites, so close to the water and overlooking the lake, that to ruthlessly destroy the efficiency of the hospitals would be well-nigh vandalism.

I am sure your stand on the matter will prove efficacious.

IRVING S. CUTTER, M. D.,
Supt., Passavant Memorial hospital.

POSTOFFICE PARK.

Chicago, May 27.—If the government should choose the location over the Union station tracks for the new postoffice, it would appear that a remarkable opportunity exists for the city of Chicago to obtain the present location for a park, possibly under a 99 year lease from the government at a nominal rental. If the property is not used for park purposes, it will eventually be used for more factories and the present opportunity will be lost. I believe the citizens would favor a bond issue to cover the cost. C. L. BUTLER.

YOU'RE RIGHT AND SO ARE WE.

Chicago, May 23.—Many times I have noticed in your weather forecast column where you speak of Saturn, Jupiter, Venus, Uranus, Neptune, Mars, and Mercury as being the morning or evening stars. To my knowledge these solar bodies and the earth are planets, and stars are of entirely different nature, possibly centers of other solar systems.

GEORGE C. ORDING.

THE HALL OF SHAME.

Cicero, Ill., May 27.—Why not create a "hall of shame" for the Cook county members of the Illinois house and senate who vote for Emmerson's bill for taxation? If you can keep this bill from passing you will be rendering a service that compares to that when you got a copy of the "league of nations pact" for the U. S. senate.

PLAN EXECUTIVES FIGHT TO SAVE CONGRESS ST.

See Peril in New Postal Site.

The plan of Chicago will be seriously affected if the opening of Congress street as a new gateway to the west side is not preserved during the agitation to relocate the new postoffice. The executive committee of the Chicago Plan commission so decided yesterday in adopting a resolution calling upon the city council to safeguard the street project.

While a number of members of the committee—Julius Rosenwald, James Simpson, and Col. A. A. Sprague among them—expressed their disapproval of a change in the site, the committee did not go on record as a body. It came close, however, when it voted on an amendment to the resolution which contained the words, "while expressing no opinion on the change of sites, the committee recommends to the city that the viaduct be preserved." The amendment was lost.

Recommended Old Site.

The postal department is considering building the new structure over air rights property above tracks entering the Union station and abandoning the Field site to the south, which is bounded by Harrison, Polk, Canal and Clinton streets. The plan commission recommended the purchase of the Field site more than three years ago.

The matter of the committee's expressing "no opinion" on the change led to a discussion which threatened to become acrimonious. Nathan William McChesney said it was a "question of courage."

"It is a question, Mr. McChesney," spoke up Col. Sprague heatedly, "of minding our own d—— business."

"We recommended the site when it was purchased," said Mr. Rosenwald. "How can we reverse our opinion?"

Considers Ways and Means.

The conferees began a consideration of how Congress street could be extended across the river and a viaduct built for it, as included in the terms of the Union station ordinance. W. Rufus Abbott said he had been told that if the street were to be cut through the Van Buren street postal station, as has been suggested, it would "interfere with but not disrupt the parcel post service."

"The relocation suggestion means many more months of delay before construction can possibly start," said Mr. Simpson after the meeting. Col. Sprague said that the plan commission advocated the site the government now owns only after it had made a long and exhaustive study of all the sites that might be suitable. One of these was the air rights development above the Union tracks now being advocated, he said. That site was found to be not quite so desirable nor so advantageous as the one finally recommended.

Mr. Rosenwald stated that judging from Chicago's previous experience with the length of time it takes the government to build a postoffice, the 1942 date when the lease on the Van Buren postal station expires would be about reached when the new postal building was ready.

Vallee Gives the Fans Music Without Frills

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

That Rudy Vallee and his dance orchestra, heard through W-G-N from 7 to 8 o'clock last night, are among the big hits of the day ought to be encouraging to those interested in the progress and advancement of better music. Mr. Vallee eschews all attempts at theatricalism and sensationalism; he sings the songs with unaffected ease. So far as I have heard, trick stuff is not resorted to by the orchestra.

Specimens of the merriest music by the classical composers were placed in a basket and tagged "Nature in Music" and distributed by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra, with Gaston du Moulin conducting, from 8:30 to 9 o'clock.

Familiar and forgotten gems from operettas by Jerome Kern and Reginald de Koven were presented by a competent orchestra and vocalists from New York through KYW, from 9 to 10 p. m. "Robin Hood" and "Canterbury Pilgrims" were taken from De Koven's works, and "Very Good Eddie," "The Girl from Utah," "Sunny," and "Stepping Stones" from Kern's.

Al and Pete were heard in an entertaining program from WBBM from 9:30 to 10 p. m.

Johann Lingeman, cellist, was a pleasing performer on the WMAQ program from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

WASHINGTON NOTES

Washington, D. C., May 29.—(AP)—President Hoover today signed the war department appropriation bill for 1931, calling for $339,106,454 for military activities and $117,437,692 for nonmilitary activities.

President Hoover nominated William R. Castle Jr. as assistant secretary of state, the post which he held before going to Japan as ambassador during the London naval conference.

The senate sent the Muscle Shoals legislation passed by the house to conference in an attempt to adjust the wide differences between the senate and house, but little hope was held out for a compromise at this session.

The senate commerce committee approved the Bingham bill to broaden authority of the secretary of commerce in investigating air accidents.

President Hoover signed the Dale Lehlbach bill liberalizing retirement annuities for federal employes. Under the bill federal employe will retire on annuities of from $450 to $1,200.

SYNOPSIS.

Catherine West of Boston, on her way to Paris, meets Geoffrey Macadam in the Havre boat train. Macadam is an Englishman who lives in Paris. Catherine tells him that she is going to visit her cousin's widow, Mme. Belmont Bender. She is a little apprehensive about the coming visit because she had received just before sailing a letter from Jeanne Cushing, who tells her that Mme. Bender is far from well. Macadam is a lawyer and he tells Catherine that his firm handles Mme. Bender's affairs, but he doesn't think the widow very well. He had heard that she was ill. Arrived in Paris Catherine is a little disappointed when her cousin's chauffeur is not at the station to meet her. Geoffrey puts her into a taxi, giving her his address and telephone number. He tells her that he will be anxious to know how things are at the Bender apartment and she promises to call him. Arrived at Mme. Bender's apartment, she is treated coldly by the butler, and Jeanne, Mme. Bender's maid, suggests that she go to a hotel. Catherine insists on staying in the apartment as she is suspicious of the servants. Jeanne tells Catherine that Mme. Bender attempted to commit suicide the night before. The next morning Catherine goes in to see Germaine Bender, who is pathetically glad to see her. She tells Catherine how she had taken poison by mistake.

Geoffrey invites Catherine to dine with him and it is a relief for her to get out of the apartment and to tell him of her vague fears. He is disturbed, too. Geoffrey escorts Catherine to the apartment. The door is locked, but Geoffrey arouses Eduardo, who says that Miss West had come in long before.

The next morning Catherine calls on Miss Cushing, who takes her to her milliner. Here she sees a man she has noticed hanging around the Bender apartment. Back in the apartment she finds the gallery open for the first time and she goes in only to discover a number of pictures and tapestries missing. She asks Jeanne about them and Jeanne says they were sold shortly before Mr. Bender's death. Catherine feels she is right and believes she and Eduardo are thieves. She finds Jeanne is exerting a baneful influence on Mme. Bender. Jeanne denounces Catherine to the invalid.

Geoffrey takes Catherine out to dinner and she unburdens herself to him. He has already put an investigator on the case. When he takes her back to the Bender apartment he takes her in his arms as he says good night. Catherine responds to his caress.

Geoffrey asks her to marry him, but she wants time to be certain of her feelings. On the way to her room she hears Germaine sobbing and goes to her. She retires hurriedly at Jeanne's return. Next morning Catherine is violently ill and the doctor is called in. Geoffrey's sister invites Catherine to visit her.

INSTALLMENT LIII.

A QUICK CHANGE.

"You don't have to make a plan in order to spend a week or ten days pleasantly, Make up your mind now when you'll go, so that I can cable Elspeth a telegram tonight."

Geoffrey had grown extraordinarily assured. Was this what love did to one? Catherine asked herself wonderingly. Those brief moments Sunday night in the darkness downstairs came poignantly before her, so that she stopped them as the tigers' first taste of blood, which prevents its return to a milk diet. Certainly this new manner of his made it embarrassingly difficult to resume former relations.

Still she was not sure if it was only his urgency which caused her to be so lucky, oddly perverse.

"I don't know what to do, Geoffrey. You see, I'm not ready to leave you—just yet. There's something I haven't told you. That woman, Jeanne, has consented to take a holiday."

"The devil she has!"

There was no mistaking his open astonishment. He leaned forward, listening at her attentively while in a guarded voice, glancing now and then toward the door, she related the change in the situation. At the end he pulled his thick brows in skepticism, half amused, half rueful.

"By George, this gives things a different look, doesn't it? I mean, if she really a bad hat, would she be so ready to walk out of here without protest? She must know that while she's gone there'll be general investigation. Either she's very sure of herself or else——" he broke off, and their eyes met a little guiltily.

"I know," replied Catherine, nodding to his unspoken suggestion. "I've been thinking that, too. Perhaps we—or rather I—have been misjudging her all along. It makes me feel so ashamed. O, Geoffrey, do you think me an hysteric to have stirred up this hornet's nest?"

"Your suspicions were quite natural."

"Yet, they were, weren't they?" she cried, veering round suddenly. "However innocent she may be in the main, her conduct has been open to reproach in many ways. In any case I am positive about one point—her utterly bad effect on Mme. Bender. That is what actually matters."

He agreed heartily, not thinking it necessary to tell her that, judging by his own talk with Dr. Girard, the latter's opinion of the maid was not seriously shaken. It was just as well, according to the doctor, to supplant her, or at least to supplement her services by professional ones; but on the whole she seemed to him a devoted, obstinate servant, a person of one idea, unwilling to admit herself in error, as the unfortunate mouse episode proved. She had been on a long, severe strain at a time of life when a woman's nerves are apt to prove uncertain; moreover, quite possibly she had much of the type hysterique in her makeup, which would account for many contradictions. This was his pronouncement, uttered sanely, without rancor. It struck Geoffrey as an intelligent and well meaning man, kindly disposed towards Catherine, but withal anxious to be just.

Coming out of a brief reverie, Geoffrey again attacked the subject of Elspeth's invitation.

"If, as you say, Jeanne means to get off as soon as she hears from her mother, then obviously you ought to lose no time over your own visit. What about Saturday? Do you think you'll be well enough by then?"

She remained quite still for a few moments, her brows knit over troubled eyes which avoided his gaze.

"I don't like being hurried into a thing like this," she murmured. "I don't want to leave Germaine till Jeanne is away."

He exclaimed in exasperation, giving her hand a squeeze which made her wince.

"Catherine, you're impossible! Can't you see it will be only for such a short time that it can't make any difference to any one? That you'll come back feeling strong and able to cope with things? I've no patience with you. I'm going to resort to pressure."

She could not be sure whether he were joking or serious.

"That sounds like a threat," she said lightly.

"It is. Here's the situation in a nutshell. The doctor has definitely ordered you to go away from Paris. If you refuse I shall simply send a telegram to your family in Boston and tell them the whole story."

"You don't mean that. You can't!"

"Why can't I?"

"For one thing," she said, laughing, "you don't know their address, and won't tell you."

He smiled confidently.

"I have already got your brother-in-law's cable address, which shows much you know about it. I intend to send a night letter outlining the matter."

She saw that he meant it, also the appalling row which would ensue when the news reached Barbara and John. The fact that she had kept her secret carefully free from any mention of what was going on here or of her reasons to stay till things were improved only made it worse. Her sister would not force her to return, of course, but she could and would make matters unpleasant for her. She shrank from the prospect.

He saw she was angry, her eyes smoldering, her lips set in a mutinous line. Yet he remained composed, determined not to give in.

"Think it over," he said calmly. "I'll give you till tomorrow morning, if you like."

Then quite unexpectedly one of those quick changes came which he was never ready to understand. The ugly line of her mouth softened into a smile, her eyes shone at him through a sudden mist, while her voice broke in a manner utterly disarming as she said meekly:

"Well, then, I'll go. On Saturday. You can tell Elspeth, if you like, but I'll write her myself in the morning."

The abrupt capitulation took the wind out of his sails. He stroked the hand he still held prisoner, then bent and kissed it outside and in.

How she had made the decision, her brain was working feverishly.

"There are things I must see to before I go. The chief one is to make it up between my cousin and Hermione, so there will be some one to come in every day and keep an eye on things. The night before I was taken ill I paved the way for a reconciliation, and I believe if Hermione comes here it will be all right. Will you ring her up and ask her to see me? She doesn't like to be told up."

"Miss Cushing? O, yes, of course."

"Is there any reason why you'd rather not ring her up? Because I can send her a petit bleu."

He quickly disclaimed the suggestion.

"No, certainly not! I'll telephone her this evening. I was only afraid that in your present rather wabbly state you might find her a little overwhelming."

He was not a good liar, and was glad to change the subject. After all, what harm could there be in restoring Miss Cushing to her place in her mistress' esteem? Especially since to do so would ease Catherine's mind.

So do he let himself out of the apartment a little later his thoughts turned to the tiny incident that same day had brought to light—something in connection with the singer which had sowed discord in his mind and seemed likely to raise up a whole crop of doubtful surmises.

Chicago Group Finds Hittite Temple's Ruins

Follows Mustapha Kemal's Advice on Digging.

CHIAVOURKALE, Turkey, May 29.—(AP)—The University of Chicago Anatolian expedition has brought to light what is believed to have been an ancient temple of the stone worshipping Hittites, the race which peopled this area 5,000 years ago.

The excavation, made at the suggestion of Ghazi Mustapha Kemal, constitutes one of the expedition's most important Hittite discoveries in its six years in Anatolia.

The ghazi asked the expedition to try Chiavourkale before beginning its regular work at Aleshar June 1. Hence the Chicagoans went to Chiavourkale May 23. They drew a test line east and west, by luck they bared a cyclopean wall and gate leading to what probably is a temple, as enormous reliefs of a Hittite king, priest, and goddess were engraved on the exterior rock face.

* *

Below the hill tops the temple sits, commanding the Anatolian plain. Two lines of turret walls have been bared, indicating that at one time the temple also constituted a fortress.

Dr. Hans Henning Van Der Osten is head of the expedition. With him are Richard Martin of Chicago, a German, Herr Muller. Three newcomers arrived yesterday in time to share the temple discovery. They are Carl Haines of Newark, N. J., Owen Albert of Evanston, Ill., and Bruce Neil of Oak Park, Ill.

Canadian to Give London First Skyscraper Hotel

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, May 29.—Edward W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific railway, is seeking a site in London's west end on which to build an ultra modern skyscraper hotel of at least 1,000 rooms at a cost of $15,000,000. The hotel will be the first skyscraper hotel in Britain.

Social Hygiene League Re-elects Dr. Schmidt; His Victory Predicted

Dr. Louis E. Schmidt was reelected president of the Illinois Social Hygiene league for the tenth successive year at the annual meeting last night in the Chicago Woman's club. Dr. Schmidt reported that the work of the league in giving treatments for social diseases had greatly expanded in 1929.

Joel D. Hunter, superintendent of the United Charities, discussed the ousting of Dr. Schmidt by the Chicago and Illinois Medical societies because of his activity in connection with the Public Health Institute, which advertises. Mr. Hunter said:

"In the Schmidt case the Chicago Medical society was prosecutor, judge and jury. The method does not seem quite fair and ethical. The case is pending before the judicial council of the American Medical association. I am sure that council can bring about coöperation between the medical society and the Public Health Institute.

"Activities already are under way which will result in these two groups realizing that they have the same high ideals for public medical service. The Rosenwald Fund and the medical advisory board of the Public Health Institute are the two groups bringing about this realization."

Ysaye to Play Again; Resents Modernist Music

BRUSSELS, May 29.—(AP)—Eugene Ysaye, Belgian violinist, soon will be heard again. He has recovered from the long illness during which one of his legs was amputated.

He is to reappear in June, to conduct the orchestra which is to give a series of international symphonic concerts at the Palais des Beaux Arts.

Ysaye, in an interview, complained about the "spirit of systematic destruction of everything relating to the past that characterizes the present generation."

"Modern music," he said, "apparently aims at killing the soul of things. Contemptive of structure, modern music is killing harmony, just as it already has killed melody. The same process is going on insofar as painting is concerned."

Alpha Omega Dental Frat Meets Tomorrow, Sunday

Annual midwestern conference of the Alpha Omega dental fraternity will be held in the Congress hotel Saturday and Sunday, which representatives of ten chapters will attend. Illinois Alumni club and undergraduates of the Alpha Alpha chapter will be hosts. Dr. M. S. Altus, 4206 Broadway, praetor of the undergraudate chapter and chancellor of the alumni club will preside at the session. A formal dinner-dance Saturday evening will be the chief social affair.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

The Answers.

C. A. Cullum Jr., 1041 South Euclid avenue, automobile salesman.—It is hardly necessary that men be trained to do housework, but a participation in home work makes for more home men. Men should do the heavy work around the house and help with the dishes.

Mrs. George Benson, 10228 Prospect avenue, widow.—Yes. My husband—poor fellow, he had to leave this world—was good at that. He knew how to do everything about the house, and I was very appreciative of his help.

Werner Friedli, 9361 St. Lawrence avenue, bank clerk.—I think they should. Why not give the wife a break and help her? I expect to be in double harness pretty soon and I intend to help all I can. I have washed dishes at home.

Miss Sylvia Novotny, 5137 South Kilbourn avenue, telephone operator.—I do not think so. Father helps out in some of the hard and heavy work, but, for instance, he never washes dishes. When I get married I will want hubby to do his work at the office or wherever it may be, and I shall expect to do my work at home.

L. L. Robey, Grand Rapids, Mich., salesman.—Why not? What if the wife is ill? Learn how to do the kitchen work, everything about the house—everything except dish washing. If he has to do that it's punishment. But every man should learn to do everything else without a grumble.

Dr. Kerr New Moderator of Presbyterians

Literalist Candidate Fails to Enter Election.

Cincinnati, O., May 29.—(AP)—The Rev. Hugh Thompson Kerr of Pittsburgh, active sponsor of mission work in the Presbyterian church in the United States, today defeated Dr. Henry B. Master of Philadelphia, author of that denomination's minister pension plan for the office of moderator.

Marked by a pre-convention campaign, which at the last minute witnessed the withdrawal of the only fundamentalist candidate, the balloting of the voting commissioners, at the first business session of the 142d assembly, gave Dr. Kerr a virtual 2 to 1 majority over his only rival. The vote was Dr. Kerr 605, Dr. Master 303.

It was the first time in nearly a decade that the fundamentalists, as distinguished from the modernist and liberal groups of the northern assembly, were not represented by an avowed candidate in the balloting.

Dr. Kerr immediately was inducted into office to succeed the Rev. Cleland B. McAfee of Chicago, the retiring moderator. The Rev. Mr. McAfee was given an ovation as he stepped to the stage of Taft auditorium. Dr. Kerr will preside over the remaining sessions of the assembly which will extend through June 5.

The new moderator was born in Elora, Ontario, in 1872. He received his education in Canadian universities and has held pastorates in Hutchinson, Kas., Chicago and Pittsburgh. Dr. Kerr was nominated by the Rev. Harry C. Swearingen of St. Paul, who said: "Evangelism will be the keynote of the work of the church during the coming year."

The Pittsburgh Presbytery has requested the assembly to investigate what it termed the "portrayal of vulgarity, indecency, and the technique of crime . . . in the advertising programs of the modern picture theaters."

Another overture from the West German synod asked the assembly to protest against "widespread and unscientific cigaret advertising"; "the commercializing and detrimental effect of Sunday baseball"; and "the opening of theaters on the Lord's day for commercial purposes."

Debate Over Merger.

Des Moines, Ia., May 29.—(AP)—Widely divergent views on the proposed merger of five Presbyterian denominations were aired at the 72d general assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America here this afternoon.

The assembly heard its ministers and elders praise and condemn the recommendation that the unification overtures be continued as urged by Dr. W. J. Reid of Pittsburgh, chairman of the interdenominational committee which has had the matter under consideration.

It heard S. S. White of the Allegheny presbytery blame a reported decrease in the church membership during the last year on talk of uniting with the North and South, the Dutch Reformed and the German Reformed Presbyterian churches.

"I believe that to merge is the worst thing we can do," Mr. White told the assembly after likening the result which would be secured to a "chain store system."

The question took on international aspect through the addresses of the Rev. J. A. Mackelgan of the United Presbyterian Church of Canada and Rev. W. M. Rochester of the Presbyterian Church of Canada.

"Don't sacrifice unity for union," Dr. Rochester said after telling of the growth his own denomination had made since the combination of other church groups of the dominion.

Playwright Asks Review of Suit Against Belasco

Washington, D. C., May 29.—(AP)—Lila Longson of Brooklyn, N. Y., today asked the Supreme court to review her suit against David Belasco, claiming $250,000 damage and charging that he had by his play, "The Boomerang," infringed her previously copyrighted play, "The Choice." The lower federal courts dismissed the suit on the ground that it had not been brought in time, holding that it might have been brought ten years before it was filed.

THE STAGE

A. H. WOODS has five plays on his schedule for production next season. The first will be a dramatization of Ernest Hemingway's novel, "A Farewell to Arms," by Laurence Stallings, who was one of the co-authors of "What Price Glory." The next will be "Melo," a drama from the French of Henri Bernstein, now running in Paris. Mr. Woods has been trying to lure Mary Pickford out of the films as the star of "Melo," and he says that negotiations are still under way.

Then Mr. Woods will stage "Armistice," a play by Garnett Weston and Garrett Fort [one of the plays promised but not presented in the season now ending]; "For Ladies Only," a farce by John Montague; and "Intermission," a comedy by Irving Kaye Davis. Mr. Woods also asserts that he hopes to coax some of his talented players of past seasons out of the talking pictures and back to the stage of reality.

Among them are Lowell Sherman, Ann Harding, Claudette Colbert and Chester Morris. Apparently he has decided that some one will have to settle the hash of the Hollywood dragon, and it might as well be A. H. Woods.

Clifton Webb, Libby Holman and Fred Allen, leading spirits of "The Little Show," now at the Selwyn, will not be drafted into the second edition of that revue which will be staged in New York this summer. They will remain in Chicago for the run of the current entertainment, and next season they will go into a revue to be staged by the Erlanger interests.

The success of his resurrection of "The Tavern" has led George M. Cohan into plans for revivals of other plays that have figured importantly in his career. About ten days hence he will put on "The Song and Dance Man" in New York. He is keeping the cast of "Gambling" intact for an expedition to London, and when this company returns he will instruct it in the lines of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway," and "Seven Keys to Baldpate." That will give him six revivals, and he is thinking about forming a company that can act a different one every night for a tour of the one-week "stands."

The Palace theater announces an ambitious program of vaudeville for the week that begins tomorrow. Johnnie Burke, a well known monologist, formerly of the Music Box Revues; Fritzi Scheff, recently the prima donna of the revived "Mlle. Modiste," and Roxy's Gang of New York entertainers, are featured.

A new policy of continuous vaudeville performances also goes into effect tomorrow. The bill will be supplemented by talking pictures, with "On the Level," starring Victor McLaglen and Fifi D'Orsay, to initiate the plan. Prices will be "popular." This change marks the disappearance of two-a-day vaudeville from the Chicago stage.

Sylvia Field and Dorothy Sands will leave the cast "Many a Slip" at the Cort theater tomorrow night. Miss Field, as the heroine, will be succeeded by Eleanor Harriet; Miss Sands, as the worldly mother, will be followed by Charlotte Learn [Mrs. John J. Garrity].

The Dramatic League of Chicago announces that it will accept "open" subscriptions for its next season. The patron, in making his advance subscription for tickets, may delay his choice of the dates upon which he will attend the performances. The first Saturday in September has been fixed as the time when "open" subscribers must make up their minds.

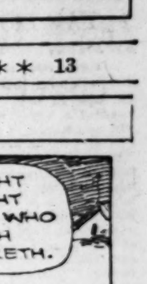
More Singers Added to Give German Operas

Insull Reveals Expansion Plan for Season.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

German opera is to be given next season by the Civic Opera company as it never has been given before. This was the essence of the message delivered by Samuel Insull to a committee of Chicago German-Americans at the operatic headquarters yesterday afternoon. Commitments of importance in matters of both personnel and repertoire, and a number of German artists of the highest standing will be on the roster.



LOTTE LEHMANN.

Five already have been engaged, and Herbert M. Johnson and Giorgio Polacco, now in Europe, are negotiating with others. Of the five, Lotte Lehmann, classifying as soprano liricospinto, which means midway between lyric and dramatic in power of voice, will be here during the early part of the season. She has been prominent at the Vienna State opera, the Berlin National Opera, Covent Garden, and Bayreuth, and is rated as the best of her kind in Germany.

Maria Rajdl, lyric soprano, comes here from the Dresden Opera. Sonia Sharnova, contralto, is a Chicagoan by birth, and is known here for her appearances during the last two seasons with the German Grand Opera company.

Of the men, Rudolf Bockelmann is a baritone from the Hamburg Opera who has been a guest artist at Berlin, Munich, Paris, and other cities. Eduard Habich is a character baritone of the opera companies in Berlin, Munich, Bayreuth, and Covent Garden. He is called the greatest Beckmesser in Europe today.

The last statement becomes the more significant because "Die Meistersinger" will be one of next season's novelties. Turning from Wagner to Smetana, "The Bartered Bride" will be another.

Reëngagements in the German wing number Frida Leider, soprano, Maria Olszewska, contralto, Theodore Strack, tenor, Alexander Kipnis, bass, and Egon Pollak, conductor. The German standard repertoire will consist of "Lohengrin," "Tannhäuser," "Tristan and Isolde," and "Die Walkuere," all by Wagner, "Fidelio" by Beethoven, and "Der Rosenkavalier" by Richard Strauss.

Plans have advanced so far that the casts for the two novelties are already announced. In "Die Meistersinger," Hans Sachs will be sung by Bockelmann, Pogner by Kipnis, Beckmesser by Habich, Walter by Rene Maison, David by Oscar Colcaire, and Eva by Rajdl. Pollak will conduct, as he will also do in "The Bartered Bride." Here the cast includes Habich, Maria Claessens, Rajdl, Chase Baromeo, Coe Glade, Octave Dua, Strack, and Kipnis.

"For some years we have wanted to do more German opera," Mr. Insull said. "In order to do it, we decided that we must have a German company, though it has sometimes been hard to get the artists who were tied up with engagements elsewhere. When we gave German opera with our French and Italian staff, we did the best we could, but it was not what you could call good German opera. Now we believe that we have engaged some of the leaders of the profession."

The German-American committee, which pledged itself to support, encourage, and do missionary work for the opera company, includes Judge Otto Reich, Postmaster Arthur Lueder, William Rothmann, president of the Steuben club, John Weisbach, president of Germania, Oscar Stoffels, president of the German club, Carl Pogenau, president of the United German Choral societies, Albert Breitung, Karl Eitel, Julius Klein, Ernest Kruetgen, Oscar Mayer Jr., Paul Mueller, Dr. Otto L. Schmidt, and Henry Zander.

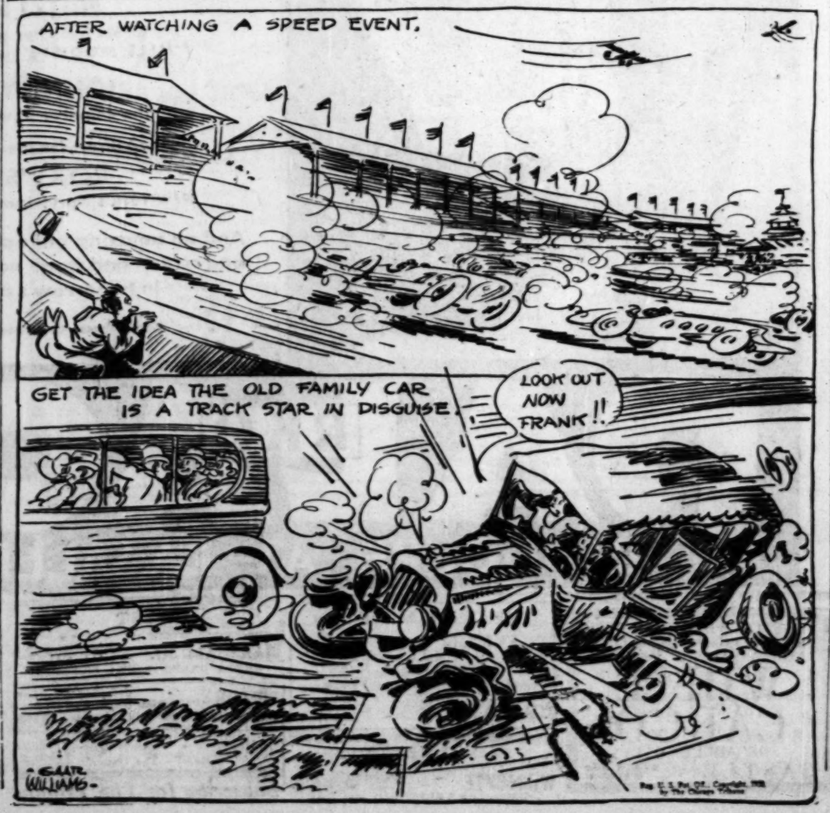
Washington, D. C., May 29.—(AP)—Miss Bess Goodykoontz of Waukon, Ia., was nominated assistant commissioner of education today by President Hoover.

Seven Campus Queens Elected by Buyers of Northwestern Book

Northwestern university's annual, "Syllabus," is issued today and with it comes announcement of the seven campus queens selected during a subscription campaign in the fall. Each order entitled students to a vote to choose the young women of the college they regard as leaders in beauty and popularity. The winners are Mary E. Atwell, Alpha Phi, 132 Clyde avenue, Evanston; Dorothy L. Verges, Pi Beta Phi, Norfolk, Neb.; Marion J. Fry, Pi Beta Phi, 811 Clinton place, Evanston; Marion F. Lowenthal, Alpha Omicron Pi, 6340 Sheridan road, Chicago; Margaret McGuineas, Alpha Xi Delta, 824 North Grove avenue, Oak Park; Adrienne Grant, Kappa Kappa Gamma, 1604 Hinman avenue, Evanston; Virginia A. Eagels, Delta Delta Delta, Wolcottville, Ind. The Syllabus is published annually by the junior class.

HOW TO KEEP FROM GROWING OLD.



'Aching Feet Cause Lots of Trouble; Try This Little Remedy

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

You can land in the doctor's care if you let an ingrowing toenail get the best of you. You can put up more of a holler over the misery it will cause than you need to over the sins of your fathers.

You could save yourself the frightfully painful experience by not wearing shoes that pinch the toes. The large toenail is the one that usually gets it when pinching goes on. The nail shoves itself into the fleshy part of the toe and this overlaps the nail and OUCH, your temper overlaps the family. A slight inflammation sets in, usually, and if the nail is not tended promptly, more inflammation sets up and life isn't what you'd call one sweet song.

Surgical treatment consists of cutting off a slice of the toe, including the edge of the nail. We're not advising you to try the treatment, yourself. That's a surgeon's job. But there is home treatment. Soak the foot in hot, soapy water; separate the nail fold as far as possible and dust with boracic acid powder. Or better still, insert a tiny strip of absorbent cotton. If puss has formed underneath, wash the spot out with peroxide before putting the cotton in. Strap the toe with adhesive tape and take to roomier shoes and stockings until you feel in the mood to go stepping again.

If the thing is paining you unmercifully, make an appointment with a chiropodist and let him or her give you immediate relief, and also show you how to pack the cotton under the nail and strap on the tape. The charge for such service is not high, and foot aches that are temporarily remediable are best submitted to one of these experts.

Cutting the toenails straight across instead of around will not prevent ingrowing nails if you insist on too short shoes or stockings. But it's a commendable nail cutting habit, in any event.

That item of too short stockings is one to think about in connection with foot welfare. When stockings shrink in the wash they'd better be handed on to your favorite charity and larger ones purchased, at once.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

EVELYN O.: WARTS ON THE hands may be treated with the following lotion: One dram salicylic acid, one ounce flexible collodion. Mix well. Apply with a tiny camel's hair brush for four nights. Then soak in hot water and remove as much of the horny covering as possible. Repeat until the warts disappear.

Put No Faith in Love Protestations of the Marriage-Mute Boy

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What do you make of a man who swears he loves the girl but tells her that marriage is not in his power but at the same time does not want to let any other man get an innings with her?" THE GIRL'S SISTER.

We'd have to hear the reason why marriage is not in his power. Maybe he has a better one than we can think up. There are men who seek out the company of a girl, enjoy being seen around with her, tell the girl how crazy they are about her—and still have no intention whatever of marrying the particular girl.

Maybe they honestly believe that home financial responsibility prevents ideas of marriage or that they're not born for matrimony. But if love were there and the man wasn't already married or had some terrible impediment, he would talk marriage. It's the way of the man in love. He will endeavor to overcome any barrier in favor of matrimony.

So that any young woman who goes on believing the protested affections of a constant suitor who avoids the topic of marriage can well believe she is being strung along. No reliance need be placed on the ardor of a marriage-mute boy friend.

When in love one believes that he [or she] will not want any other companionship or form of living that denies the companionship of the loved one.

Don't we see persons who talk against marriage as an institution, when overtaken by the love passion, lining up in conventional style at marriage license windows?

As some one remarked: "Not everybody who marries is in love, but everybody who is in love is willing to marry, if circumstances allow."

So there comes a time in the affairs of a girl with a man who says marriage is out of his power when she had better come to her own aid by refusing to be simply a diversion. If she can't wake marriage responsibility in him, then she'd better be looking about in other directions. Possibly the mere act of looking elsewhere would do in a minute what months of wishing for a marriage turn of the conversation would never do.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Let Her Think It Over.

"Dear Miss Blake: When the girl I love and I quarreled, she told me she could not be my sweetheart again. Should I wait a while or should I get another girl? A FRIEND."

Give her time to think it over, then try again.

Ullman Files Legal Reply to Kin of Valentino

Los Angeles, Cal., May 29.—[Special.]—S. George Ullman, who seeks to void his recent suspension as administrator of Rudolph Valentino's estate, today filed a legal answer to Valentino's brother and sister, Alberto Guglietini and Maria Strada, who accused him of mismanagement in litigation now awaiting trial.

According to Ullman, Valentino was "broke" when he died in August, 1926, and owned nothing in his own name except one inexpensive automobile, several dogs and some horses.

The suspended administrator says credit belongs to him for his efforts in reviving and reshowing Valentino's pictures after his death, and in capitalizing on publicity by auctioning the actor's effects for more than they cost in building up the Valentino estate.

He defends payment of $22,000 to himself out of estate funds as being made in the belief that he had the right to draw on the funds when he was devoting his time to the estate.

Baby British Prince Saluted by Troops; King George Absent

LONDON, May 29.—(AP)—Tiny Princess Elizabeth, daughter of the duke and duchess of York, was the star attraction today at the royal tournament, the military and naval display which is among London's great annual affairs.

Alternately clapping gleefully the units in the pageantry and standing up solemnly to take the salute of the marching regiments of her grandfather, King George V., the popular little princess seemed to enjoy herself.

This is the second successive year his majesty the king has been unable to attend the opening of the great display of his troops' prowess at the Olympia. Her majesty the queen, with the duke of Gloucester and Prince George, occupied the royal box.

Harold Lloyd Offers $500 Reward for Dog Poisoner

Beverly Hills, Cal., May 29.—(AP)—Harold Lloyd, screen comedian, offered a reward of $500 today for information leading to the arrest of persons who allegedly poisoned his companion Great Dane dog. He reported that chemists found poison in the animal's stomach. The dog, valued by Lloyd at $3,500, died while on exhibition at a recent Los Angeles dog show.

Select Committee to Greet Colombian Chief

A special committee of 24 Chicago business leaders has been named to assist in the entertainment of Dr. Enrique Olaya Herrera, president-elect of Colombia, who will spend June 6 and 7 in Chicago, it was announced yesterday by Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Association of Commerce. Rufus Dawes, president of the 1933 World's Fair, will be chairman of the group. A luncheon for Dr. Herrera at the Palmer house on the day of his arrival will be under the auspices of the Association of Commerce, the fair organization, and the Rotary club.

Catholics Celebrate Feast of the Ascension of Christ

ROME, May 29.—(AP)—The feast of the Ascension, commemorating Christ's rising up to heaven as told in the 16th chapter of Mark, was celebrated today in all the Catholic churches with services of rejoicing. Ascension day is a public holiday in Italy, so the laity was not kept away by work. In accordance with the wishes of Pope Pius, the sermons preached stressed the teaching mission of the church, the text generally used being that of the day's gospel: "Go ye into the whole world, and preach the gospel to every creature."

Auto Racing Golf Magnates for Society

BY THALIA

Numbers of society folk will attend the opening of the extended week-end to the motor races at Indianapolis. Others will help to open the golf season at the country clubs. Many of the clubs in Chicagoland will mark their summer sports and social programs with golfing events during the day and dinner dances in the evening.

The handsome Onwentsia club in Lake Forest, which has been closed all winter for more or less extensive affairs, was gay last night for the opening summer dinner dance. The club has abandoned its old system of Saturday night outdoor dances and is to have only a few parties throughout the summer months.

Among those who entertained at the club last night were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dixon, jr., the Scott Durands, Mrs. Alexander Boswell, the Corwith Crams, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Jelke 3d, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Farwell, and the Stanley Wheelers.

The George Alexander McKinlock Memorial cup, to be competed for by men who served in the world war, and the President's cup are the prizes to be contended for.

As at Onwentsia, the golf course at the new Country club is to be open to men only. There is a 36 hole handicap. At the dinner dances following those who are having parties include Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis Ryerson, Miss Gloria Chandler, Mrs. J. Horton Fall III., Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Winter, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leach.

Exmoor in Highland Park is keeping the spirit of Memorial day and will have its opening dinner dance tomorrow night. About 500 are expected to attend. Among those who will be Mr. and Mrs. L. A. [illegible]

Knollwood also is to be opened officially for the season at a dinner dance this evening. During the day the golf course will be available to masculine members only, but there are to be tennis matches and riding for women and children. Several of the club equestrians plan to meet in the morning at the Knollwood stables and ride to the Pink Poodle on the Des Plaines river for lunch.

Among those who will have guests at the dinner dance are Mrs. Thomas E. Wilson, Mrs. Shephard Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. John W. O'Leary, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Byron, Mr. and Mrs. Miller H. Pontius, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. John Y. Meloy, Mrs. Robert H. Hunter, James Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Leffel, and W. Ballenger Fyffe.

The Chicago Golf club members are to play during the day for several trophies, among them the Dr. John B Murphy cup, which is played for annually and becomes the possession of the member who wins three consecutive times. Harold N. Scott made the best score in this contest the last two years and is to make his final try for the cup today. The club is to give a dinner this evening and the first of the summer dinner dances will be held tomorrow night.

The men at Glenview Country club will play today for the 36 hole club handicap and the formal opening will be held in the evening. Mrs. John Elliott Warner, Miss Gloria Chandler, Mrs. E. J. Winter, Mrs. George T. Leach, and Mrs. J. Horton Fall III. are among those who will be hostesses at the evening event.

Indian Hill is to have golf for the men today and tennis tournaments for the women and children, and the first biweekly dinner dances will be given this evening. Hosts at the affair will be Mrs. William H. Lyon, who is to have 30 guests; Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Edmonds, Mrs. John W. Marshall, Mrs. Frank D. Fulton, Mrs. William Gold Hibbard III., Mr. and Mrs. John K. Coolidge, Mr. and Mrs. Henry T Stanton, Dr. and Mrs. Frank W. Blatchford, Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Ripley, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Laird.

Gray skies and cool winds yesterday afternoon prevented what was to have been the first outdoor wedding of the season. The marriage of Miss Virginia Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver T. Wilson of Lake Forest, to Charles Dennehy, son of the Thomas C. Dennehys, was solemnized at 5 o'clock in the drawing room of the Wilson residence, instead of in the more picturesque setting of the garden.

The bride wore a white satin gown with a long waisted bodice and full skirt, with a long train and a full tulle veil flowing from a a narrow satin head band. She carried a cluster of calla lilies. The maid of honor, Mrs. Hugh R. Wilson, wore a pale green chiffon frock with a matching horsehair hat, and the bridesmaids, Miss Jane Warner and Miss Eleanor Dennehy, wore yellow chiffon dresses. All three attendants carried white stock. Thomas Dennehy Jr. was best man for his brother.

A reception for relatives and a few friends followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Dennehy will reside in Lake Forest after a European honeymoon.

Another event of the week-end will be the formal opening and dedication today of the new $250,000 golf course at Lawsonia Country club at Green Lake, Wis. A number of Chicagoans will be at the club over the week-end, which will include golf events for men and women, a tennis tournament, and dancing tonight and tomorrow night.

Among those in the clubhouse will be Mr. and Mrs. John F. L. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dunlap Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Weary, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. White, and Miss Charlotte and Miss Marion Eckhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick of 25 East Erie street and their daughter, Miss Eleanor McCormick, are leaving in a day or so for Bar Harbor, Me., for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Whyte Martyn of 424 Melrose street have returned from an absence of five months' traveling and are in Chicago for a short stay before they go to their "House by the Side of the Road" at Lakeside, Mich., for the summer.

Pink's Portraits Appear Best of His Works

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

An exhibition under the auspices of the All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts is under way at the Revell galleries. The exhibit is a one man show of paintings and drawings by Harry Pink, whom we have met before this winter in various larger quarters with successive important canvases. He has grouped his work here in an attractive way and the number of portrait heads which hang among the more pretentious work place his very real talent in a capital light.

It would seem, judging by what is on exhibition, that Mr. Pink does himself a wrong when he goes outside the field of portraiture and figure painting. There are just enough landscapes to permit us to know that this is not his forte. They are artificial and a bit forced. Fortunately they are the minor theme and the greater part of the exhibition can be reported upon enthusiastically.

Three paintings which are not portraits but in which figures are the essential are particularly fascinating. One is "Reflections," in which a young girl faces her mirror; the second is "Exiled," and this shows two peasants turned from their home and sadly creeping close to each other in the mute agony of their loss; and the third is "Mermaid," a curious and colorful and fantastic conception of a deep sea episode.

In addition to these there are the many portrait drawings of heads. These have charm, and strength, and character. In this line Mr. Pink apparently is very near the top. "Evelyn," "Sonia," "Gypsy," "A Kentuckian," "Old Man," "Mrs. N. Friedlander," "Caroline," one can skim the entire list and rejoice in each individual sketch. Perhaps the most delightful of all and the most exquisite is "A Bride," the head and veil charmingly suggested and the underlying romance that echoes in the "Wedding March" ever so faintly felt, distilled subtly like the perfume of crushed rose leaves.

The exhibition will continue during June.

Poppy Day Sales Total $66,973 for the Legion

In a statement submitted to the city council yesterday the American Legion reported that $66,973.75 was raised in receipts from Poppy day.

Of that total, $28,184 will go to the state department, it was explained, while $38,789.75 will go to the individual posts, representing their earnings over the price of the poppies bought from the state department which handled the poppy sales. Sixteen thousand more poppies were sold this year than last, it was estimated. The Poppy day receipts will be used for the benefit of needy ex-service men.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Hoover this afternoon received the officers of the Women's National Press club at tea. She sat in her wheeled chair in the red parlor, where tea was served. Mrs. Hoover hopes to be able to accompany the President to their camp on the Rapidan in another fortnight.

Mrs. H. W. Fuller of Chicago is at Wardman Park hotel for a few days, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Alfred D. Smith of White Plains, N. Y. They came for the graduation exercises at Mount Vernon seminary, when Miss Smith was a graduate. Mrs. Fuller lived formerly in Washington when Mr. Fuller was connected with the Washington Railway and Electric company.

Commander and Mrs. Lewis P. Clephane have as their guest in their studio house in Ontario place Miss Anne Hurley of Chicago.

Mrs. William Fitch Kelley of Aurora, Ill., and Washington, was hostess to the members of the woman's Republican league of the District of Columbia this afternoon in her country home, The Knole, on the Rockville pike.

HER MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

MRS. RAY QUISNO.

William C. Hagadorn of Chicago announces the marriage of his sister, Marjori Estell, to Ray Quisno, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Quisno of Peoria. Mr. Quisno and his bride will return from their wedding trip on June 5 and will reside at 400 Deming place.

Little and Big Clowns Ready for Carnival June 6-7

The big clown and the little clown went down to 1340 Wade street yesterday to show the boys and girls of the Red, White and Blue club something about real circus stunts. They were Leonard Gilard, "the littlest clown in the world," and his father, Gus, who are going to help raise money at the carnival next Friday and Saturday, June 6 and 7, for the underprivileged youngsters the club serves.

The carnival will be held at the historic Potter Palmer place on Lake Shore drive, recently bought by Vincent Bendix as the site for an apartment building. Wrecking of the turreted castle will begin immediately after the charity event. Mr. Bendix is co-chairman of the carnival committee with Mrs. E. R. Fifield, president of the Red, White and Blue club.

Mrs. Warren Ripple, chairman of the entertainment committee, is a cousin of Potter Palmer, and played as a child in the old Palmer home. Her mother, Mrs. Lockwood Honoré, heads the committee on the carnival tea room with Mrs. William Scudder. Miss Bertha Palmer, debutante daughter of the Potter Palmers, will head a group of young society girls who will act as waitresses.

Tours of the residence will be conducted by society women who have long been familiar with its hospitality.

Various Indian Tribes Meet for Celebration at Jesuit Mission

St. Ignatius, Mont., May 29.—(AP)—Indian tribes of the northwest, former blood enemies, joined here today in the first jubilee to commemorate the coming of the Jesuit fathers 75 years ago.

More than a thousand Indians crowded the church at the mission to worship the God made known to them by the Jesuit fathers and hundreds more knelt on the steps and on the grass in the church yard.

Many tribes were represented. Among them were both Upper and Lower Kootenai, Salish, Kalispells, Umatillas, and Nez Perces. There were even a few Crows and Blackfeet from the high plains east of the range.

Entertainment for Indians and whites alike was arranged for the celebration. There will be races of various sorts, dances, feasts, and powwows. The celebration will continue through Sunday, when Gov. Erickson will attend.

200 Chicagoans Start Tour of Denmark to Boost Fair

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, May 29.—Two hundred Danish born Chicagoans under the leadership of Dr. Max Henius, arrived here this morning on the first stage of their tour of Denmark. The Chicagoans are boosting the World's Fair and are urging Denmark to be represented at the Fair.

Competition Is Apt to Overlook Means in Stressing End

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The following booklets by Mrs. Bevans will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope: "Books to Be Read to Children or by Them," "Sex Education Booklet," and "Play Booklet." A book on the care of babies by Carolyn Conant Van Blarcom can be had at The Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 50 cents, or by mail for 65 cents.

The ideas that appeared in this column yesterday on the subject of competition undoubtedly aroused contrary opinions in the minds of many readers.

It is quite easy for me to see how this might be. Competition enters so largely into adult concerns. Some of it is unavoidable in our existing civilization. It is a hard fact that effort, whole heartedness and sincerity are not enough in the industrial, professional and business struggle. How good are you compared with the other fellow is the test, and most of us grownups adjust ourselves to life fairly well on that basis.

But such should not be the ruling standard in the life of children. Competition operates automatically without our assistance anyhow—and so we certainly should not go out of our way to emphasize it in our dealings with children.

Let us take one phase of competition. Let us look at competition where it appears most noticeably—that is, in school life.

There are two ways to do any kind of work. One way is to strain and push through it to reach a goal—with the eyes always ahead on the end and the means are of no account. The other way is to have a goal, but to work for the joy of working, to take pleasure in the doing, and to feel a sense of satisfaction in whole hearted effort.

Competition is all too apt to wipe out the pleasure of doing along the way to the goal of accomplishment. It is too apt to create the feeling that if you're not the best you're nothing. Competition may increase the confidence in himself of the winner—of the one on top. But what does it do to the losers, who are in the majority?

It is inevitable, in the nature of things, that children will recognize superior attainment, without any adult to point it out. So let us, instead of matching up children, try to find out the special ability of each child, help him to fulfill his own potentialities, and give great appreciation to his sincere effort.

There is enough high pressure in our modern life; let's reduce it all we can for the children.

Anderson, Ind., May 29.—[Special.]—Chamber of commerce members were overjoyed today when a recheck of census figures revealed that the eighteen member family of Julius Lenz, aged 64, had been overlooked.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' COAT FROCK.

This new coat frock in a navy blue homespun, with faille silk crêpe in red trimming, red bone buttons and blue and red combination braid outlining the collar and revers makes an ideal traveling costume. It is also smart for street wear on any one of the cool days which come now and then through the warm months. It is a one piece dress with the belt holding the garment well to the figure. It has the smart shoulder yokes and patch pockets that give it a tailored appearance. Navy blue silk crêpe, linen or rajah silk are also suitable materials.

The pattern, 2,793, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅞ yards of 40 inch material with ⅝ yard of 36 inch contrasting and 2½ yards of binding.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Requests Medical Textbook.

"I am a graduating student at a local medical school and wonder whether or not one of your readers has an old copy of A. C. Cowperthwaite's "Text Book of Materia Medica and Therapeutics" which he would give to me. E. W."

Does your medical library contain the volume this aspiring physician needs in her work? If you no longer need it or have an extra copy, won't you give it to her?

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

Profit cutting worms infest about two-thirds of the mature fowls sent for diagnosis to the experiment station of the University of Illinois college of agriculture, it is indicated by reports from Dr. Frank Thorp Jr., assistant in animal pathology and hygiene. Roundworms and tapeworms generally are the two types most common to diseased chickens.

Not only is it serious for these chickens to have their strength sapped by the worms but their lowered vitality permits other infectious diseases to take hold in a flock. Overstocking ground area with flocks and the practice of free range are the two chief causes for heavy infestation of chickens with worms in Illinois, according to the station report.

Remedies, as usual, are called a poor substitute for preventive measures which will insure as much sanitation as possible. Clean houses, clean feed and water, and clean ranges, best provided by a double yarding system, are the suggestions which follow a study of these round and tape worms. Veterinarian service also often makes certain or destroys an amateur's estimate of poultry disease troubles. Tapeworms attach themselves to the intestinal wall, large roundworms are found in the intestine back of the gizzard, while small roundworms live in the ceca, or blind pouches.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLIC

LISTED BELOW ARE VERY IMPORTANT INSTRUCTIONS REGARDING THE HANDLING AND USE OF DRUGS FOR THE PROTECTION OF YOU AND YOUR FAMILY.

1. Never take medicine in the dark.
2. Always look at the label and read the directions before taking a dose of medicine.
3. Never increase the dose or take it more frequently without consulting your physician.
4. Pour from the bottle with label upward. This keeps the label clean and legible.
5. Never take medicine originally intended for others; the drugs it contains may be entirely unsuited for your condition and be actually harmful.
6. Capsules, pills, and tablets should always be taken with a few swallows of water, unless otherwise directed by your physician.
7. Keep medicines out of reach of children.
8. Keep capsules, pills, and tablets in a dry place; moisture may spoil them.
9. Always keep medicine bottles, boxes, jars, or tubes tightly corked or tops securely on.
10. Keep ointments and salves securely closed and in a cool place.
11. Never interchange tops or covers on pill or powder boxes if they bear directions regarding use. Dangerous results may occur.
12. After using an eye water in an eye cup, do not pour it back into the bottle, as this is apt to contaminate the preparation.

Greek Gown Makes Bow at Court of St. James's

By BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Paris formal modes are growing Greeker and Greeker as the season advances. It is not surprising that these graceful classic draperies should find universal feminine favor, for they are equally becoming to the slender young nymph and to the more mature goddess, and their simplicity endears them to the 1930 élégante who is inclined to look askance at too many frills and furbelows.

Smart English and American women, particularly, like Greek fashions, which are admirably designed to set off their tall, athletic beauty. Some of the loveliest debutantes of the season have chosen frocks draped on Grecian lines for the most important occasion of their budding social career — namely their presentation to the king and queen of England at the court of St. James's.

Molyneux made the lovely gown sketched above for Miss Scott Ellis, daughter of Lady Howard de Walden, to wear to the spring court, which is held in May. It is of white satin embroidered with crystal and silver. The irregular bolero on the bodice suggests the drapery on a dancer's tunic. The long slender folds of the skirt are confined by crossed bands, crystal embroidered in the Greek key pattern. These bands also form the shoulder straps and the girdle placed ever so little above the natural waist. The court train which hangs from the shoulders is embroidered with Greek key motifs and classic wreaths of leaves in silver and crystal.

The three ostrich feathers of the prince of Wales' crest are the traditional coiffure required by English court étiquette. Miss Scott Ellis fastens them with a crystal and silver bandeau to match the trimming on her dress. She wears white satin pumps, and long gloves of white suede.

Lots of Cherry Pies Promised Us This Year

Michigan, Wisconsin Expect Bumper Fruit Crop.

BY PAUL POTTER.

EGG HARBOR, Wis., May 29. — [Special.] — With blossom time coming in the vast cherry orchards of Door county, Wis., and in the Traverse City cherry producing area in Michigan and in Oceana county, Mich., preparations following even the severest frost that dipped down out of the skies Saturday night, May 24, look for a bumper canned and frozen pack of the fruit that makes pie eating so popular.

In the area in Door county around Sturgeon Bay, Wis., the crop this year will probably be worth between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000, on the basis of estimates made by H. W. Ullsperger, secretary of the Fruit Growers' Farms cooperative and secretary and treasurer of the Fruit Growers' Canning company of Door county. Last year the crop was worth $800,000 and the year before about $2,500,000, and these figures show the interesting alternating heavy and light crops that prevail from year to year.

Enough for 20 Million Pies.

Enough cherries will be produced in the one county alone this year to make about 20,000,000 pies, with an additional and slightly larger crop, if the average year is used as a basis, for the specialized cherry district around Traverse City in Michigan, which has just recently become associated with the Door county growers and their canning industry.

More serious damage was done by the frost in Michigan orchards than in Wisconsin, with losses estimated at $400,000 or $500,000, while the Door county loss probably will be less than $200,000, because it was reported here and there, in spite of temperatures reported around Egg Harbor as the peninsula near the Green Bay side of but 18 degrees above zero. In contrast to expected heavy production of Wisconsin's chief cherry area, Ohio, as does Michigan's Oceana county, reports about a 50 per cent loss through frost, with New York state growers finding no new frost damage over that of the severe cold in April.

The peninsula territory is unique in that it retards the early spring growth through cooling breezes from Green Bay and Lake Michigan until nearly all danger of severe frost damage has passed. This year, however, is three weeks in advance of normal and four weeks ahead of 1929, when a late spring held back the blossoming time and nearly ruined a Lions' pageant program. This year nearly 10,000 cars were reported in Sturgeon Bay on Sunday, May 18, when the height of bloom drew visitors to the gorgeous spectacle of 5,000 acres in blossom.

An additional 5,000 acres in young stock will be boosting production within the next few years among the membership of 562 growers in the cooperative. Their investments in orchards and equipment are rated between seven and eight millions of dollars.

One Pound Tin Planned.

Two-thirds of the present pack is canned and the remainder largely packed frozen in barrels, kegs, and tins. They are used for making pies and desserts. In an endeavor to increase the popularity of cherries with housewives, who seem to be reducing the practice of canning fruits in the home, the cooperative canning company operating in Wisconsin and Michigan is planning to introduce a one pound vacuum packed and frozen pack of cherries, enough for a pie or sauce. They will not be cooked. It is expected this innovation will ride the popularity wave expected within the next few years for the new marketing of frozen meats and other frozen fruits.

Early Richmond and Montmorency are the two varieties grown commercially as "sour cherries." They begin to produce at the age of three to four years. The life of an orchard, estimated a decade ago at about 12 to 15 years, is being increased constantly through revised pruning methods, cultivation, and feeding of the trees with mulch and fertilizers. One cherry orchard alone covers nearly 700 acres, and is said to be the largest in the world. It is near Egg Harbor, Wis.

Nearly all planting is done by blasting a hole for the small tree with dynamite, as the limestone rock underlying the peninsula is covered with but a thin blanket of soil from a few inches to 3 to 4 feet deep. Indiana nurseries provide much of the young stock for transplanting into new blocks for future orchards. Officers of the Door County Growers' union include: M. B. Goff, president; Kurt Stock, vice president; John Boler, secretary; and Mr. Ullsperger.

PEA CROP DAMAGED

Fond du Lac, Wis., May 29.—[Special.]—Householders who have been firing furnaces through May will be further concerned over the realization of food crop producers that frosts on the nights of May 17 and 24 and again the last few nights have played havoc in northern areas that produce the bulk of the nation's peas.

Wisconsin canners meeting here today were at a loss to cope with the situation, said to be unlike anything ever developed since canning became one of Wisconsin's major sources of cash income from agriculture.

The meeting will be followed in the next few days by others at Madison, Milwaukee, La Crosse, and Eau Claire, to inform each principal cropping area of local damage. Harvey Burr, state secretary of the canners, is presiding.

Practically two-thirds of the nation's table peas come from Wisconsin. Reports indicate similar damage from frost in Minnesota, and the crop in Maryland and southern Pennsylvania has been reduced by drought. It looks as though early June peas will be dearer, growers say, although just how much damage has been done could not be ascertained today.

A preliminary survey indicated about half the early pea or Alaska crop, was killed by frosts and from one-fifth to one-fourth of the later or sweet varieties. The latter May peas show considerable increase, and with the largest acreage in peas in the history of Wisconsin, the total output of the state yet may be partially saved, reports indicate.

Little harm has been done to peas, berries, or cherries in Illinois, telegraphed reports received here indicate.

The gum drop tree in the children's story gave me an idea for a colorful center decoration for spring tables. Hang bright colored gum drops on a potted shrub or bushy branch cut from a tree. Heat fine wires and insert them in each gum drop to make hooks to hang on the tree. Spraying the tree white before decorating it gives it a cool, refreshing effect.

Pick Up Ideas on Decorating as You Go Along

Let Ads and Pamphlets Help You.

BY SALLY LUNN.

One of the winners in this week's Household Discoveries contest got an idea for a table centerpiece from a children's storybook, which goes to show that you can find suggestions for table decorations in all sorts of unexpected places. That is, you can find them if you keep your eyes open. It is really a matter of getting into the habit of "registering" things that may be helpful.

Don't let the fact that advertisers are trying to sell you their wares prevent you from taking advantage of the knowledge they offer along with their efforts to entice you into purchasing their product. Advertisements for linen, silver, glassware and china usually contain valuable information about the subjects they are proclaiming. I have found the booklets and leaflets distributed by the "clip the coupon" system to be attractive and helpful.

Benefit by Observation.

Displays in department stores, in the china, linen or party favor sections are designed to make you want to purchase the articles exhibited, but that is no reason why you shouldn't benefit by them, anyway. The designers of such displays are trained and experienced in their work and are constantly planning novel and artistic arrangements. Thus, you get from an observation of their creations the results of a far more concentrated study of the subject than the average woman could afford to make.

Many housewives keep a scrapbook or file case of recipes which they have clipped from magazines and newspapers. The same method might be used by the woman who would like to keep a collection of table decoration helps. Illustrations from the attractive advertisements in the women's magazines, articles and other advertising matter saved in this way will sometime come in handy.

Color Combinations.

The latest addition to my reference library, which is kept in large alphabetically divided file cases, and which includes clippings, pictures, tracts on various kinds of china and glass, garden show programs, booklets of all kinds, and notes, is a slip of paper that was enclosed in a box of candles. It contains a list of suggestions of flowers and the colors of candles that would be appropriate and effective in combination. The combinations suggested were not too obvious and several of them are decidely interesting. Zinnias with brown candles, white carnations with emerald green candles, mulberry candles with yellow iris, black candles with marigolds, and mahogany candles with daffodils are some of the suggestions that were novel.

Certainly such ideas are worth trying even if they don't prove all that is expected of them, because none of us ever have too many new ideas, and we should add to our supply when and where we can.

Ambrosia Is in Reach of All, Writer Claims

Perfect Food Is Powerful Health Agent.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Not everybody can feed upon ambrosias but any one by trying, and, if at first not succeeding, trying and trying again, can approach that privilege. The ingredients for all sorts of ambrosial viands are in our present markets daily, at small expense. It is for each and every lover of good nourishment to see that these are not pearls before a grunting short legged artiodactyl animal—snout and eyes always down. Such lovers know that one of the joys of feeding upon ambrosias is that they lift the heart and head and make the face to shine in the upper air.

We might, because it is much in fashion now to decorate writing with Olympian references, mention the effect upon Apollo, the shining one, of the incessant savors of fine foods that greeted him everywhere, and of such a nectar as Zeus, the Thunderer, himself mixed in a golden cup for his bright faced one. (Kings and queens and their sorts in dignity have since fondled noble utensils effectively and with cumulative skill.) And see what that fellow Apollo was, what a delight he took in life, what music he made, how high and featly he stepped! Good food, you may guess and guess right, did it and did it better.

And did not people long ago realize what foods—may be locusts and wild honey, or dates and cucumbers—could do in making a man extra personable? Does not Shakespeare say something like this (perhaps we have not the query word for word): "What food is this our Ceasar fed upon that he has become so great?" Testimonies are not lacking to show what food can do for the very spirit and air of a man; and contrariwise, how poor food can take the heart right out of anybody.

Perfect Foods Powerful.

Now, perhaps you do not believe that perfect foods can do such things as make a man step high, and featly, every step enthusiastically, but we certainly can all see the opposite condition often, and sadly.

It does not take much reasoning to understand that dull, spiritless foods make life dull far beyond the dull minutes while they are being consumed. That is why I fairly hate a great number of the recipes which are floating about without the slightest censorship. That is why it grieves me to vast discouragement that some people consider eating but a spiteful necessity, or a degrading necessity, and gross and vulgar trouble.

And, again, some people of a good deal of intelligence are confused about the dividing line between what is good, and eternally necessary and enlightened, in eating, and what is but a base gratification. Because a man can basely gratify himself with foods—as with many another honest thing—is really no proof that foods cannot be enjoyed greatly and with high profit without the slightest baseness, grossness, or vulgarity. But there are foods and foods, and ways and ways with them.

One who believes these things with all her heart and mind can but now and then break out in a peachment about these matters. And then it does not need much argument to convince anybody that dignified foods are as essential to a dignified and happy life as are any of the other accessories of dignity, yet you know there is a good deal to this dignity of living! Truly, if dignified clothes are really needed to its perfections, so are dignified foods. Both are needed to promote a sense of physical rightness in our type of civilization.

You and I know there are tons of clothes made that contribute nothing to dignity to the human clothes horse. There are, likewise, tons of food prepared that cannot contribute either wellbeing to anybody, while those who must subsist upon such may well think they have asked for bread and been given a stone.

Many Stumbling Blocks.

We must, in all honesty, admit that food as presented and such as will answer to all the definitions of good is rarer than most people guess. There are many more stumbling blocks to getting such food than most people ever realize, while the world at large is far too tolerant of cooking that is not cooking, of a cooking that is backed by nothing at all of cumulative skill, that presents little that can receive the endorsement of a real common sense.

It is an unhappy fact that people get on, some way, eating any old way while they never connect quite common and even daily discomforts with the body's attempts to fight the assaults which have been made upon it. It is not necessary to believe that even partial illnesses, much less complete prostrations, are the common lot of mankind and altogether necessary. They are no more necessary than it is to burn one's hand every day from clumsiness.

But really, this time we are pleading for a recognition of food as a noble agent of rightness in life, as something that builds us to dignified respect for ourselves or that may do the opposite under adverse conditions. And, then, say what you will, men do have a perfectly painful or even greedy bug desire for good food for many an ultimate satisfaction, and they are within the bounds of right or even noble desire in doing so.

This is my swan song. Would it were sweeter and more convincing!

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Pie Crusts.

We have almost lost our grandmothers' ideals of what a pie crust should be, that is, that it should be a dainty and highly palatable thing of itself. If any but fats of the highest grade are used in making the pie crust, the toasted flour of the crust which gives the predominating flavor will have its flavor neutralized or lost. Expert pastry makers, when compounding large quantities of pastry dough, often use three sorts of fats, in which case one flavors the other. The expert cook understands this fact of one fat flavoring another, and uses it to advantage in various types of cookery. The housewife can always use a bit of fine butter with pure lard in making a pie crust, perhaps making it first with the lard and then buttering the rolled out paste, folding it and rolling it out again.

For one small pie sift one cup of flour on a bread board, chop into this one tablespoon at a time—three tablespoons of shortening or more if you want a shorter crust. Gather the whole up in a pile in which you can make a little crater or a cup of the whole, put into the crater three tablespoons of ice water, adding it a little at a time and kneading the whole, from out to in with a stout table knife. Use hands as little as possible in manipulating this. In combining the water and flour a good many people wet up only a part of the combination with water and then work the rest into that. Put the dough into the icebox for at least fifteen minutes before rolling it out.

Many methods of making pie crust have been worked out, but if the dough is handled by a hot, heavy, and inexperienced hand the crust will not be light. It is possible to do all the kneading with a stout knife. The great problem is to flour the shortening perfectly and not to grease the flour. It is hard to state this fact adequately, but the difference between these two things is great. In flouring the shortening we can get a light lump of dough. If we grease the flour we get a greasy hard lump. Our grandmothers never used baking powder in pie crusts nor any substitute for it. They made a real crust and baked it so it was crusty. With baking powder we get something more like a biscuit composition, and this is good for meat pies, but it does not rank as pastry.

Ottawa Students Eat Jam Buried 27 Years—Like It

OTTAWA, Ont., May 29.—(AP)—Students of Ottawa university have been served plum jam which had been buried in the scholastic grounds for 27 years—and liked it. Forty quarts of the jam were found buried several feet in the earth yesterday by workers excavating for a new wing of the university. In 1903, fire destroyed the university building, the kitchen of which was situated over the spot, where the jam was found.

Butter Surplus No Longer Worries Dairy Produce Men

The surplus question which was so apparent about butter two to four months ago is not worrying dairy manufacturers quite so much this month, according to the latest report from the American Association of Creamy Butter Manufacturers.

Cold storage holdings the first of this month showed 17,000,000 more pounds on hand than one year ago and about 15,800,000 pounds more than the five year average. This, it is said, is a better situation as far as butter is concerned than was expected four months ago. It does not tell the whole story, however, says W. F. Jensen, secretary-manager of the association.

He says that in comparison with 1929 there are also surplus holdings of frozen sweet cream, concentrated milk, dried whole milk, and large holdings of cheese. These surpluses eventually are expected to find their way into butter, or at least tend to divert new production into butter.

MIX MOLASSES IN TARIFF FIGHT IN IOWA PRIMARY

Features Hammill - Dickinson Senate Rivalry.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sioux City, Ia., May 29.—[Special.]—Blackstrap molasses as a low duty rival of Iowa corn in the making of alcohol for industrial purposes, and under Volsteadism for illegal beverage use, is getting a strong play in the corn belt in Iowa's Republican senatorship battle.

The tariff is emphasized as Tuesday's primaries approach. Congressman L. J. Dickinson is defending the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, which he terms "President Hoover's tariff bill." Gov. John Hammill is attacking it as an "anti-Hoover tariff bill" and is slinging the epithet "buccaneering Republicans" at the ten Iowa congressmen who voted for it.

The only Iowa member of the house who voted against it was Congressman Ed H. Campbell of this district, the 11th, and in consequence the tariff talk seems to be loudest in these parts. Campbell seems to be sitting pretty.

The argument is that cheap labor of the tropics is driving the Iowa farmer out of his home market through a low duty on blackstrap. Both sides are advancing it. Dickinson says he fought for high duty on blackstrap. Hamill is saying that if "hell raising Dick" lived up to his sobriquet and succeeded in raising the tariff as well as Hades, the alky cookers would be using 25 million bushels of corn now squeezed out by blackstrap.

Ex-Senator Stewart's Views.

David W. Stewart, former United States senator, who filled the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Albert B. Cummins, claims to have been the first to advocate a high duty on blackstrap as one item in farm relief, in a senate speech in 1926. Mr. Stewart figures that blackstrap used in making commercial alcohol displaces fifty million bushels of corn.

"As the most corn we export is 26 million bushels," he says, "a high blackstrap duty would remove the problem of exportable surplus, and would mean higher prices for Iowa hogs and live stock."

Mr. Stewart is manager of the Hamill campaign in Sioux City.

At the head of the Dickinson forces here are C. N. Jepson and Robert B. Pike. Candidates are concentrating on the Eleventh district, the most populous in the state. For years it has been the great insurgent region. Years ago it backed Cummins when he was rated as a radical. Later it supported Brookhart.

Candidates Turn to Radio.

The battling in northwest Iowa is intense and it includes the Tenth, the old Dolliver district, in which three candidates, Dickinson, Hammill, and Frank J. Lund, live.

Still the countryside seems calm and audiences are slim. At one rally here a few nights ago sixty-seven were in the hall, and of these all but sixteen were reported to be running for office. It is said to be typical. The candidates are turning to the radio, but they voice an uncomfortable suspicion that the farmers may be twisting the dial and tuning in on jazz instead.

Mr. Lund, who was Brookart's manager, may roll up more votes than politicians looked for. In the triangular governorship fight between Dan W. Turner, Ed. M. Smith and Otto F. Lange, the politicians estimate Turner to be leading here.

GOV. FRED GREEN OF MICHIGAN TO RETIRE, HE SAYS

Lansing, Mich., May 29.—[Special.]—Gov. Fred W. Green will retire from Michigan politics, at least temporarily, when he steps out of the gubernatorial chair Jan. 1, he formally announced today.

The governor offered no explanation for his decision to stay out of either a race for reelection or one for the Republican nomination for United States senator opposing Senator James Couzens.

He merely said: "I am not going to be a candidate for governor or United States senator in the coming primaries, and I do not expect to take part in the campaign."

The executive's announcement tends to simplify the political situation in the state by removing from potential candidacy one whom many regard as the party's leading Michigan figure. Candidates for either the governorship or senate seat who otherwise might not have entered the field are expected to declare themselves within a week. Wilber M. Brucker, attorney general, a Green appointee, and Charles J. Deland, secretary of state under the Groesbeck administration, are the chief gubernatorial candidates at this time, while Senator Couzens is still unopposed for renomination.

FLEXIBLE TARIFF PROGRAM CAUSE OF SENATE FIGHT

Harrison Says Hoover Dictated Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 29.—[Special.]—A new conference agreement on the flexible provisions of the tariff bill provoked today a stormy debate in the senate. Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], one of the minority conferees, charged that under the new scheme President Hoover has been given broad powers and that he dictate its exact form. Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], replying to Senator Harrison, insisted that the previous draft of the flexible provisions, against which a point of order was sustained by Vice President Curtis, was more nearly in accord with the President's desires.

The new agreement was embodied in a supplemental conference report filed with the senate by Senator Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah], who announced that it would be taken up Monday.

Shorn of Power to Change.

Under the terms of the modified provisions the tariff commission would recommend changes in duties up to a maximum increase or decrease of 50 per cent as a means of equalizing costs of production. The President would have power either to approve or disapprove the recommendation, but could make no change in the suggested rate, as he may do under existing law. The provision against which a point of order was sustained enabled the tariff commission to make the rate change effective in case the President failed to act within 60 days. That clause has been eliminated.

Expects Hoover to Sign.

Asked by Senator Joseph Robinson [Dem., Ark.] if he had any information as to whether the President will sign or veto the bill if the conference report should be adopted, Senator Watson replied:

"Of course, I have never asked the President anything about that, but I imagine the President will sign this bill."

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST.

VOIGT, JONES WIN BRITISH GOLF MATCHES

$40,000, FAME AWAIT VICTOR AT INDIANAPOLIS

Auto Race Facts

Weather—Cool and fair.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 29. — (AP) — Thirty-eight drivers—the largest field since the first race in 1911—will face the starter tomorrow in the eighteenth renewal of the 500 mile Indianapolis automobile race. They will compete for $115,000 prize money and the fame which goes to the winner.

Numerous elements have been injected into tomorrow's race, which, in the opinion of officials, will make it the most thrilling and interesting race ever held in years.

The riding mechanic, who made fame in the early races and then was discarded, will be back, cramped in a narrow niche beside the driver, whose hands rests his safety. His share of the winnings, incidentally, will be between 5 and 10 per cent.

Stock Cars Return.

Stock and near-stock cars will be out, their return to the hazardous event being made possible by raising the piston displacement on motors from 91½ to a maximum of 330 cubic inches.

Superchargers, those delicate but powerful "blowers" which gave the cars speed in the esharp turns, have been outlawed, and the boys who set the pace will have to tramp hard on the accelerators and take a chance on the outcome.

The carburetion will have to be better than ever before, the drivers have said, since only two carburetors are permitted to a motor, regardless of the number of cylinders.

Tires, which caused little concern because of the light weight of the cars in the last few years, will be another cause for worry. Added weight to the speedsters, along with the necessity of speeding into the turns, will subject the rubber to great strain.

Test for 16 Cylinders.

Sixteen cylinder motors will be given their first trial in American racing. Ernie Meyer, South Gate, Cal., champion driver in 1928 and 1929, has such a power plant. It has 195 more moving parts than any other car built in this country.

Ernesto Bormacchini of Bologna, Italy, also will depend on 16 cylinders, driving with Lettero Cuccinotta. Messrs. Italy, he represents Europe in the international speedway struggle.

Cars of all kinds and descriptions will line up three abreast for the first time tomorrow. Uniformity of other years has given way to the ingenuity of designers and engineers. Big cars, little ones, and short make up the field.

Four cylinder motors, which once led racing, will attempt a come back after being discarded for many seasons. The front drive creation, which made its how in 1926, also will be well represented.

Louis Meyer, a youth for all his experience, is one of the favorites. Peter De Paolo, 1925 and 1927 champion holder of the 500 mile record of 101.13 miles and hour also will be back. L. L. Corum, Louie Schneider, Jack Moore, Phil [Red] Shafer, Dean Lin, Tony Gulotta, and Jimmy Gleason are other veterans entered.

Chicagoan Heads Qualifiers.

Challenging them are Wild Bill Cummings, Indianapolis dirt track star who leads the drivers for the driving championship of 1930; William [Shorty] Cantlon; Billy Arnold, Chicago youth who led the field of qualifiers with 114 miles an hour average last week; and Wilbur Shaw.

Cars with history as great as some of the best drivers have been groomed for at least one more shot at the big event. The original front drive car of 1926, which finished second last year has been rebuilt and will be driven by William [Speed] Gardner of Wisconsin.

Last year's winner, a straight eight, was turned over to Frank Farnsworth of Philadelphia. Ray Keech, who came in to victory in 1929, was killed in another race less than a month later. The car was once the property of the late Frank Lockhart, who died attempting to establish a mile straightaway record at Daytona Beach, Fla., more than two years ago.

Berg Stops Delmont in First Round of Title Bout

Stagg Prep Track Meet Opens Today

The twenty-sixth annual Stagg track and field interscholastic at the University of Chicago will open today, with final events carded for tomorrow. The entry list has been closed, with 150 schools from 23 states sending 664 individuals. Entries have been received from towns as distant as Ilwaco, Wash., and Rosenberg, Tex.

Of the known stars there are Herman and Norwood of Oak Park, who are among the best sprinters in Illinois; Grabert of Deming, N. M., who ran :09.6 in winning the state century and :22.3 in the 220, and George Ward of Bridgman, Mich., third in the state 110 yard dash and second in the 220.

Stars in Quarter.

A great group of quarter milers is led by Ivan Fuqua, who placed two years ago and last year set a new record of :49.4. Fuqua hails from

Jury Crashes Gate at Downs to Probe Handbook Rumor

Louisville, Ky., May 29.—(AP)—Deputy sheriffs accompanying members of the Jefferson county grand jury to the Churchill Downs race track today were forced to remove a guard from the gate before the jurymen could enter to investigate reports that a handbook was being operated near the $100 pari-mutuel ticket machine.

The Downs management had previously refused to issue passes to the twelve members of the grand jury, so it was decided to "crash the gate." The guard declined to let them pass and he was held by the deputies while the inquisitors entered.

Walking about the grounds, the jurors attempted to ascertain if the handbook report was true ,and also if any gambling not permitted by Kentucky statutes was going on, with the knowledge of the management. The result of the investigation was not announced.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

INTERNATIONAL GOLF.

WHATEVER the outcome of the final round for the British amateur golf title, Capt. Bobby Jones and his Walker cup teammates will have demonstrated what amounts to parity between British and American golf as played by amateurs.

If neither Jones nor Voigt is ultimate winner, The Wake still will hold that opinion. The natural handicaps against invaders and play over a course which cannot be as familiar to the Americans as to the home boys vindicate the opinion.

If either Jones or Voigt is ultimate winner, many will be inclined to claim our superiority. The Wake will be satisfied still to let the result indicate parity. We cannot forget that nineteen hole match between Jones and Tolley, defending British champion, in which a stymie on the final hole was the determining factor. Moreover, six Britons reached the quarter finals.

Victory, if it comes, will be doubly gratifying because the Walker cup team of 1930 was the strongest composite squad ever sent across. Most of us expected victory in advance, relying on Jones, but eighteen hole matches ever are a menace, even to the greatest players. If we are satisfied to call it parity, we still do not think any amateur in the world can beat Jones in a series of matches.

Quantity vs. Quality.

We have received several letters from contributors asking about our golf progress this season. We suspect several of these epistles were for razzing purposes rather than bona fide curiosity. Yet we have no secrets from our readers, so will tell those kind enough to be interested.

Whining dogs, otherwise known as an ailing foot, delayed our start. While Jones and Tolley were battling at St. Andrews, we journeyed out to Knollwood to see whether our underpinning would stand more than nine holes. At fourteen holes the whining dogs were growling fiercely, so we quit.

Would you know the result? Well, the quality of our game has not improved, but the quantity has. Interpreted, that means we take more strokes than formerly. No, we're not thinking of quitting—we'll have that game eating out of our hand yet.

CUBS RETURN TO DIAMOND TODAY; PLAY CARDINALS

Hundreds at Bier

ROCKFORD, Ill., May 29.—(AP)—Hundreds of friends of Hal Carlson, Chicago Cubs pitcher who died yesterday, filed past his body today as it lay in state in a funeral home.

The body was removed to the Carlson home tonight. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the residence, the Rev. Ernest C. Blomquist, pastor of the Emanuel Lutheran church, officiating.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

After devoting a day to the memory of Hal Carlson, who died on Wednesday, the Cubs will go on with their show today. The resumption of activity will be in two parts, one at 10:15 this morning and the other at the usual hour of 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The St. Louis Cardinals, just now in the process of making a serious bid for world series loot, will furnish the other half of the act.

His affairs have been so complicated of late that Boss McCarthy now is unable to lay plans more than five minutes in advance, but if he follows the line of least resistance today he will let the pitching jobs go to Charley Root and Sheriff Blake, both of whom have had sufficient rest.

Hallahan Likely to Pitch.

Bad Bill Hallahan hasn't worked since he faced the Cubs here last Sunday, so it is reasonable to suspect Gabby Street, the Cards' leader, plans plans to use him in one game and Jess Haines in the other.

The Cards also will be the attraction tomorrow, and on Sunday the Pirates will drop in for a one day visit. Immediately after that game the Cubs will taxi to a train, which will convey them to Boston, where they open their first eastern tour next Tuesday. Fifteen battles will be staged during this jaunt, three with the Braves and four each at Brooklyn, Philadelphia, and New York.

Players to Attend Funeral.

Some of the Cubs will be excused from work tomorrow, so that they can attend the burial of Carlson at Rockford. The services will be held from the Carlson home in the afternoon, instead of the morning.

No official announcement was made, but it was learned yesterday that the club will pay to Mrs. Carlson the salary due on the unexpired portion of her husband's contract.

Master Minds' Famous Boners

YOU have often heard it said that this player or that player pulled a boner on the ball field. Here are some of the boners made by the game's master minds:

McGraw traded Roush and Groh to the Reds and later bought them back at a stiff price. Roush previously [1913] was discarded by the White Sox because he couldn't throw.

Connie Mack didn't think enough of Joe Jackson to hold him in 1908.

The Yanks, Cubs and Giants underestimated O'Doul's hitting ability. He topped the National league with .398 last season.

In 1928 the Pirates shipped Joe Cronin to the minors. He's starring at short for Washington.

So would Hack Wilson if McGraw hadn't sent him to Toledo in 1925 because he couldn't hit.

Bush Looks at Sox Situation; Not So Good

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., May 29.—This day of rest finds the Chicago White Sox lolling about in their old familiar American league berth—seventh place. The only team lower than they is Boston, and the Red Sox have whipped them two to one in the only series played.

As long as Ted Lyons is with the team it does not seem likely that the Sox can beat out the Red Sox for last place, however, but unless there are many personnel changes they'll give them a fine tussle for the cellar.

Manager Donie Bush says the team has performed far under his spring expectations and admits his discouragement in trying to teach them to play baseball. Although he is restrained in discussing his plight, he makes it quite clear that he's not going to sit back and have his reputation as a winning manager and a fighting athlete swept away by his present troupe without a heap of action.

Outlines Probable Plan.

Bush has not outlined his plans in public, but the procedure to be expected is as follows:

1. Try to effect trades within the American league involving players who have grown smug and lazy in their present jobs, but who can be expected to perk up in new surroundings.

2. Make wholesale trades and deals with minor league clubs. It is estimated the minors harbor at least 200 players more skilled and of better spirit than 80 per cent of the present White Sox roll.

3. Cut down the squad to about 18 players and send the others to the sticks, this with the double purpose of warning and stimulating the survivors and giving the stallers and pretty boys what they deserve.

Most of the White Sox players think that because the club has some money tied up in them they are safe and will remain big league pay rollers, even though, on the basis of talent, they are not big league ball players. The No. 3 scheme in the foregoing outline would be expensive, but should be convincing.

Having a feeling of guilt for enthusiastic things we wrote in the spring, we have interviewed several American league club officials on what they consider the assets of the White Sox, insofar as players are concerned.

Regard Four as Valuable.

The consensus is that the club owns four players who could be used in a trade of some importance. These men —two pitchers, a second baseman and an outfielder—are looked upon as the only really valuable chattels possessed

PAUL NEAL RIDES PRINCE ATHELING TO WIN BY NOSE

Victor Nears Track Mark at Homewood.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Down east, where Gallant Fox and Whichone dominate the 3 year old ranks, they haven't much respect for the 3 year old thoroughbreds that have been produced in the west this year. But a youngster is developing out in this neck o' the woods that may have something to say about the championship before the title is handed out.

Prince Atheling is the colt's name and he proved at Washington Park yesterday that he at least is entitled to a chance to fight it out with those fast running eastern blue bloods. He galloped over the seven furlongs of the Sheridan Road purse in 1:24 2-5, which was just a fifth of a second off the track record. He won by a nose from Supreme Sweet and Tippy Toe, but trailing along quite a ways back was such a great colt as Dedicate.

Prince Atheling overcame a lot of bad racing luck to score his triumph. He was away slightly slow. He let Supreme Sweet, Tippy Toe and Dedicate lead him going down the back stretch.

When the Prince started to move

BOBBY DEFEATS JOHNSTON, U. S. CHAMPION, 1 UP

U. S. Stars Expected to Meet Today.

Cards of Rivals

Jones, out	444	444	435—36
Johnston, out	454	444	444—37
Jones, in	334	446	454—37—73
Johnston, in	535	535	444—38—75

BY EUGENE SPECK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 29.—Bobby Jones asserted his mastery of the American amateur golfers and removed one of his greatest obstacles in the British amateur tournament today when he beat Harrison Johnston, United States amateur champion, 1 up. Johnston was the second champion whom Jones has beaten in two days, Cyril Tolley, defender of the British crown, meeting defeat at the hands of the Atlantan on the nineteenth yesterday.

The field is reduced to eight, with three Americans—Jones, George Voigt of New York, third ranking American amateur, and Douglas Grant, who is playing here for the Royal St. George's club of Sandwich—and five Britons. They are William Sutton, Eric Fiddian, Roger Wethered, Lister Hartley, and Henry Howell.

Von Elm Beaten on Twentieth.

Two Americans were eliminated today. George von Elm, former American amateur champion, lost to Michael Scott on the twentieth hole and Francis Ouimet, also a former champion, met defeat in a round with Lister Hartley, which ended 4 and 3.

The eight players will be paired tomorrow morning. In the afternoon the four survivors will determine who meets whom in the 36 hole final on Saturday.

To reach the final Jones probably will have to defeat Voigt tomorrow afternoon. The draw has placed both in the upper bracket. With the disappearance of Von Elm and Ouimet in the lower half today, there is only the 50 year old Grant hailing from United States in that division. He meets Hartley tomorrow .The stronger of the other two golfers in their bracket is R. H. Wethered, captain of the British Walker cup team, who was beaten by Jones at Sandwich two weeks ago 7 and 6.

Jones, Voigt Favored.

Voigt will meet William Sutton, Westcheshire artisan, in the morning and Jones is paired with Eric Fidian, who has won by wide margins in his tournament matches. Both Jones and Voigt figure to win tomorrow morning and the odds favor either Wethered or Hartley, to face an American in Saturday's final.

All winners today played two matches. Jones beat George Watt, 7 and 6, in the morning, and Johnston turned back D. C. Murray, 5 and 3. Voigt beat William Campbell, 3 and 2, and W. L. Hope, 2 up. Grant won from Kenneth Greig, 7 and 1, and defeated Scott, Ouimet's hoodoo, 3 and 1.

All St. Andrews attended the Jones-Johnston duel. Stores closed here on Thursday afternoon and the school kids took a half holiday, so everybody was on the course, babies and dogs and all. Not all saw the match, for only 5,000 can surround the expansive greens.

Bobby Eludes Throng.

Bobby made a record sprint to safety, after he had won the match. Thousands crowded around the club house and the streets for a glimpse of the golfer who is regarded as superhuman and whose name is a myth throughout Scotland.

Johnston gave Jones the battle of his life. He was four down at the fourteenth tee, but Jones had to play through the next five holes to clinch victory.

Jones took the lead on the second hole. Both drives were even, but Johnston overpitched into a bunker and took five while Bobby was down in a par four. They both played level fours for the next five holes, and when that was broken it was accomup they pushed him around a bit and he was forced to race wide going into the stretch. Yet he overcame the interference and the mighty stiff pace which Supreme Sweet and Tippy Toe were cutting out and Jockey Paul Neal dropped the Prince's nose down in front in the final stride.

Dedicace's race was an experiment. He was thrown out of training before the running of the Kentucky Derby because of an ailing knee. All signs of lameness had left him and Trainer John Ward, one of the best horsemen in Kentucky, decided to try him in the Sheridan Road. Dedicate didn't show any of his old time speed, despite brilliant workouts over the Washington park course. Perhaps the bum knee was hurting him. He was beaten by about ten lengths and finished fourth, the only horse he was able to beat being Cabildo.

Prince Owned by Chicagoan.

Prince Atheling is owned by John Marsch, a Chicago contractor. He is a son of Atheling II.-Miss Laura. During his 2 year old career he has had a liking for distance races. He was usually running better in the stretch than at any time during the journey.

Seven races are on the Washington Park card today. Two year old fillies will run five and one-half furlongs for a $5,000 purse in the Debutante stakes, the fifth event. The fourth race will be a handicap of six furlongs for three year olds. A purse of $2,000 has been posted for the winner.

CHICAGO CLUBS OPEN YACHTING SEASON TODAY

The Chicago yachting season will be opened today with ceremonies at the Chicago Yacht club, and at Jackson park harbor.

Members of the Columbia club will gather aboard the club ship in the downtown harbor to inaugurate their thirty-ninth season. The program includes flag raising and cannon salute, led by Commodore Hadwiger and Frank Daggett, first member of the club when it was organized in 1893. Following the official opening, a race around the Columbia course of twelve miles will start from the Illinois Central docks.

Judge Charles E. Kremer, veteran Chicago yachtsman, will open the season for the Chicago club at noon by firing a cannon from the promenade deck of the club boat.

The Columbia race will be the first of a long series that will be concluded with the Sheldon Clark regatta.

FAVOR TROJANS AND CARDINALS AT CAMBRIDGE

34 Track Teams Seek I. C. A. A. A. A. Title.

Cambridge, Mass., May 29.—(AP)—Though the cream of thirty-four college track teams has entered, this year's I. C. A. A. A. A. championship meet, which gets under way tomorrow at Harvard stadium, appears due to result in a two day duel between Southern California and Stanford for title honors.

Dean Cromwell's Trojans appeared to have a slight edge on the field tonight, but his brilliant performers have to make but a few slips to pave way for Stanford's fourth consecutive victory.

Stanford, with a sure 18 points in the shot and discus events, has many other potential point winners entered in other events.

Five Champs Compete.

Five defending champions will be seen in action, but only two of them, Harlow Rothert and Eric Krenz, both from Stanford, appear to have bright prospects. Rothert and Krenz, holders of the I. C. A. A. A. A. discus and shotput records, seem certain to improve their marks.

The other 1929 champions back are Lee Hickey, New York university miler; Syd Kieselhorst, Yale track captain and low hurdler; and Ben Hedges, Princeton high jumper.

Kieselhorst is not in condition to do much against the brilliant field he will encounter in his favorite event and this competition will probably fall to George H. Stollwerck of Colgate, who appears to be the best of the current crop of low hurdlers.

Wykoff Meets Tolan.

The "100" could be easily described as the "century of the year," for Frankie Wykoff of Southern California, Eddie Tolan of Michigan, Karl Wildermuth of Georgetown, last year's winner; Tommy Mason of Harvard, George Morin of Holy Cross, and a score of other fast sprinters will face the starter. The East's best bet, Jimmy Daley of Holy Cross, will not compete because of his father's recent death.

Trials in 11 of the 15 championship events will be put on tomorrow. Those include the two sprints, both hurdle races, all of the weight events, the javelin throw and the quarter and half mile races. The trials and finals in the mile, two mile, high jump and pole vault will be held over until Saturday.

Indigo Bunting Is Birdland's Fashion Plate

BY BOB BECKER.

While prowling around the Fox river the other day we caught sight of a bird which, because of its glowing indigo color, looked as if it had strayed out of a tropical forest. This was the indigo bunting or indigo bird which you are apt to see on outdoor expeditions in the central states. Look for this exotic, gayly tinted summer resident which comes up from Mexico and Central America each spring to spend the summer with us. He's a gay one.

Thoreau often was delighted by a glimpse of the indigo bunting when he roamed his Walden woods. It will delight any city dweller who sees this summer resident for the first time in the woods, where the intense blue of its plumage, deepest blue on the head, is such a contrast to the green of the timber or the blue of the sky. The specimen which we observed a few days ago was a hustling male bird, hurrying into a thicket along the Fox river. The female is just a plain penna brown above, quite a drab modest creature compared to the gaudy male which sports all the fine clothes.

The indigo bird has a number of sparrowlike traits. It feeds on the ground much like our sparrows. It builds grassy nests in low bushes or tall rank grasses and weeds. The last bunting nest which we found was not more than 18 inches above ground and in a weed patch.

Another interesting summer bird resident now to be observed on your hikes or automobile trips in the country is the cuckoo or rain crow. We watched a pair of them the other day as they skulked in a dense thicket. This bird has an unmistakable call which you can't miss when you are afield. It sounds like a rattle, "k-kuk, k-kuk, k-kuk, k-kuk, cow, cow, cow."

We're closed today, of course, but we'll be wide open as usual tomorrow to let you buy the outfits for the week-end that you missed getting for today.

New York Has Its Own State of Hysteria Over Horse Race

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 29. — Unlike the citizens of Louisville and the surrounding country, the people of this city are unlikely to lose their self-control over the matter of a horse race. Still, the impending contest between Whichone, the Whitney horse which won the two year old championship last year, and Gallant Fox, the horse in the red mask, is arousing uncommon interest.

Only today your correspondent heard a couple of men discussing the matter in a restaurant. One of them said he might go out and look except that they make it so expensive and inconvenient to look at a horse race around here. The other party said, "When is this race and where is it going to be?"

Excitement Due to Circumstance.

This represents a state of hysteria over a horse race in these parts and the excitement is due largely to the circumstance. Gallant Fox won the Wood Memorial, the Preakness and the Kentucky Derby, the most effectively ballyhooed horse race in the United States, in rapid succession. And while New York is not horse conscious, having other dissipations more accessible and less laborious, the constant paper talk about Gallant Fox has made him a momentary celebrity.

I doubt that one person in 100,000 hereabouts could pick Gallant Fox out of a pack of wagon stock unless he wore his red mask and a number, although there breathes no soul among the entire six million who couldn't identify Babe Ruth by his shadow on a window shade. Whichone has been seen only once and then only for a few minutes and most of the time from afar and by only a few people, when he won the Futurity at Belmont Park last fall.

Meeting Is a Natural.

These two, Gallant Fox and Whichone, come to the Belmont stakes the championship three year old race of the season, in the kind of rivalry which, in the prize fight business, is called a natural. As Sharkey and Schmeling are to the prize fight trade just now, Gallant Fox and Whichone are to the horse track.

Whichone's reputation is mostly an afterglow or reflection of his two year old prestige, but it may be remembered that Schmeling hasn't fought a round, himself, since he beat up old Paulino Uzcudun just a little less than a year ago. Whichone took an idle walk of one mile yesterday, his first appearance of the season, and won easily, but, to pursue the comparison one degree farther, this was somewhat as though Schmeling had knocked out some patient, hopeless itinerant in a trial contest. Whichone ran against Xenofol and Housain and won yawning.

So the horses are almost total strangers to the common customers on these grounds, in contrast to Kentucky, where the school law says no child can be graduated from kindergarten until he or she can identify any steed in training by the sound of the animal's whinny. In New York, I tell you, the horse tracks are so far away from so many people and there are so many fenced-off places where a customer can't go unless he buys another badge of a different color that most of the citizens regard a horse merely as a critter that does something when the driver says "gee-haw" and wears a velour wrapper not unlike the nap on a plug hat.

Whichone Is Favorite.

It is interesting to see the development of newspaper interest in contests that the people do not know much, if anything, about. This summer, by the same attraction, there will be much talking interest in the yacht race for the America's cup, although there aren't many individuals, even along this seaboard, who could tell you the difference between a racing sloop and a Lackawanna car float without consulting the encyclopaedia.

Nevertheless, the Belmont stake on June 7 will be a celebrated horse race for a purse of about $80,000. Which one just now is the favorite under the bootleg system of betting practiced here, being quoted at even money. However, Whichone will run another trial race, the Withers mile, at Belmont Park Saturday afternoon. This is another old race, first run in 1874, and if Whichone wins it his yield to his owner will rise to about $165,000, with the Belmont yet to come.

Obviously, it would detract from the glamour of the Belmont to run both horses in the Withers, and Gallant Fox, having had plenty of exercise and publicity, already is not expected to run Saturday's mile. The field may not be large, but what there is of it will be select, and Whichone will have to light out and run in a serious way.

They accumulate the $80,000 pot for the Belmont Stakes by a process somewhat similar to the poker method. It costs $10 to nominate your foal and later on there are further assessments of $100 to make brash owners pause and consider the price of optimism, followed at last by a starting fee of $250. There were 472 original nominees for this year's race, but a lot of owners dropped out at the first hoist and they have been dropping out in hundreds at every raise since then until at present only 69 remain paid up and eligible, of which, maybe a dozen will start.

Track Adds $25,000.

To the total thus obtained, the track adds $25,000 and the final total far exceeds that of the Preakness at Baltimore and the Kentucky Derby, respectively, although, in each of those races the promoters contributed $50,000 themselves.

I do not wish to suggest that the Belmont Stakes will be a private race, unattended by customers, for the total count probably will come to something like the combined attendance at Pimlico and Churchill Downs. But if New York were to respond to the Belmont in the same degree that Kentucky and the central states respond to the Derby the attendance would amount to several millions.

Those who wish to attend the running will pick up and go, but there will be no relaxation of the laws and customs of the town in general and no noticeable increase in the helling around the night before or the night after.

Maybe they ought to hold it in Rochester. This place is so big and busy that a local earthquake would have to share page one with the Wall street prices and debutante slain in love pact.

Pipgras Halts Griffs; Yanks Win, 4 to 2

New York, May 29.—(AP)—With George Pipgras playing the leading rôle, the Yankees checked the winning streak of the Washington Senators today after seven straight victories. The score was 4 to 2. It was the second time the Yankees have beaten Washington in seven games this season. Pipgras pitched both times.

The "Great Dane" allowed nine hits, but kept them well scattered. It was his sixth victory in nine starts.

Robins Defeat Giants, 4-1; Share First Place Again

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 29.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Robins regained their tie with the St. Louis Cardinals for first place in the National league today by defeating their closest rivals, the New York Giants, 4 to 1. The Cardinals were among the six idle clubs in the circuit.

Babe Herman and William Watson Clark as a combination proved too much for the Giants. Herman hit two home runs, one off Carl Hubbell and the other off Joe Heving, who relieved Hubbell in the eighth inning. He batted in three of the Robins' runs.

SCHEDULE NINE TILTS IN SEMI-PRO LEAGUE TODAY

Nine games, including two twin bills, are scheduled this afternoon in the Chicago semi-pro league. Lefty Sullivan will hurl for the Mills in the first game against the Cuban All-Stars at Mills Stadium. Forest Paddock will pitch the second game.

Logan Squares and Proviso also will stage a double header. Granville Bush, brother of Guy Bush, Cub hurler, will pitch the first tilt. Ed O'Shaugnessy will be on the mound for Proviso. Duffy Florals will oppose the South Bend Indians at Shewbridge field.

Bush Looks at Sox Situation; Not So Good

by Mr. Comiskey. And it's a 100 to 1 shot that the Sox wouldn't give up either of the pitchers or the infielder in any trade or deal that would be devised by the most generous of club owners.

We are not in accord with the above appraisals of rival club officials. We believe there are six, and possibly seven, players of major league caliber on the Sox roster. Several of these might give more to another club than they are giving to the Sox, but just the same they should be rated of major league ability.

The task confronted by Manager Bush in his task of rebuilding before he has reached the middle of the stream is not as difficult as you might imagine.

All he needs is three big league catchers, two or three skilled and hustling infielders, three or four outfielders who can bat and catch flies, and two or three calm, experienced, and able pitchers.

You notice we haven't used many names in the foregoing, but the two pitchers are going to work against the Browns in tomorrow's double header. Ted Lyons in the first game and Tommy Thomas in the second.

FOUR SURVIVE IN SINGLES OF BIG 10 TENNIS TOURNEY

Capt. Scott Rexinger of Chicago and Curtis of Northwestern will meet in one semi-finals match of the Big Ten singles tennis championship this morning, and Yutzy of Minnesota and Turner of Illinois will clash in the other.

The quartet yesterday fought their way through the first two rounds to reduce the original field of 15 players. Rexinger defeated Heleniak of Minnesota in his second rounder, 1-6, 6-4, 10-8, after eliminating Fay of Purdue, 6-2, 1-6, 6-0, in the first round. Yutzy eliminated Ed Brayton of Northwestern, 6-1, 6-2, in the first round, and defeated Paul Stagg in the second, 8-6, 6-4.

Curtis drew a first round bye, and moved into the semi-finals by taking a long, hard battle from Okerbloom of Ohio State, 11-9, 1-6, 6-4, while Turner scored victories over Brown of Ohio State and Siegel of Wisconsin. Brown fell by scores of 6-2, 6-0, and Siegel by 6-1, 6-4.

Other first round results:

SINGLES.

Stagg, Chicago, defeated Brace, Michigan, 8-6, 6-2.

Siegel, Wisconsin, defeated White, Purdue, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

DOUBLES.

Okerbloom and Greenberg, Ohio State, defeated Goodsell and Earler, Wisconsin, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Riel and Bergherm, Northwestern, defeated Hammer and Clarke, Michigan, 6-1, 6-1.

Yutzy and Heleniak, Minnesota, defeated Fay and White, Purdue, 6-1, 6-2.

PREP TRACKMEN FROM 23 STATES COMPETE TODAY

26th Annual Stagg Meet Opens at Midway.

Brazil, Ind. Bennett of Rapid City, S. D., who placed sixth in one of the 440 races last year; J. Mullins of Froebel's winning team, who took a fourth, and Smith of the same school, who placed sixth; and two stars from Scott High of Toledo, Moore and Freese, are among the outstanding entries.

Of the milers, Glenn Cunningham of Elkhart, Kas., who was fourth in the Stagg meet last year, ran 4:28 4-10 to win the state meet. Popejoy of Delphi, Ind., second last year, returns again. John Bell of Pittsburgh, Kas., is credited with 4:30 5-10, and Landon of Topeka has bettered that time.

In the pole vault there are several men able to approach 13 feet, including Skelly of Oak Park, Wonsewicz and Divick of Froebel, who placed last year, and Lowry of Scott High.

Dees Set Mark in 1929.

Ed Dees of Lorraine, Kas., who set a shot put record of 56 feet 7 inches last year, returns, as does Elser of Horace Mann of Gary, who was fifth. In the discus throw, Delbert White of Pleasanton, Kas., who set a new state mark, is one of the best men. Ward of Bridgman, Mich., who won the state broad jump, is favorite in that event.

In view of the fact that the academy division has been eliminated, the semi-finals of the two sprints will be run off tomorrow afternoon. The preliminaries will start at 2:30 this afternoon. Admission is free to every one.

Griffith, Taylor, Shea to Spar at Benefit Ring Card

Tuffy Griffiths, Bud Taylor and Eddie Shea will box three rounds each with sparring partners at the amateur ring show at the Western-Devon arena tonight. There will be eight additional bouts on the card. Proceeds will be used to purchase uniforms for Boy Scouts of St. Timothy's Catholic church.

Follow These Simple Rules

1—Every week-day for 48 consecutive days (not including Sundays), the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a "Game of Counties" picture. Each picture will represent a County in one of these five States: Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. You are invited to name the Counties.

2—The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named and neatest complete sets of pictures in accordance with these rules. See prize list at right.

NOTE:—You do not necessarily have to name each of the 48 pictures correctly to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank the highest.

3—This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls, except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

4—Pictures are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do not send in each picture separately. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set of 48. Then send them to "Counties," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Ill. All entries must be in by midnight 15 days after Picture No. 48 has been printed.

5—Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Dept. Contestants may submit as many sets of pictures as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize. Accuracy will count. Neatness will count.

6—You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the pictures and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

7—Judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

Estimated receipts at Chicago for next Monday: 22,000 cattle, 55,000 hogs, and 14,000 sheep.

Light hogs weakened off 10@20c soon after a steady opening on shipping account yesterday, while medium and weighty butchers were in demand at mid-week quotations. The extreme at mid-week steady early at $10.50, but top held steady early at $10.60, but similar kinds were slow sellers at $10.40 at the finish.

The general average price came down 5c at $10.10. Smaller packers bought sparingly, but when larger houses came on the market there was a fairly good clearance at the reduction. About 2,000 were left at the close.

Receipts this week show a decrease of 10,000 compared with a week ago and compare with 143,972 a year ago this week, which also included a holiday. The week's market, as a whole, is averaging slightly above last week.

Hog Futures Steady.

Prices on the hog futures market were steady yesterday, although trading slowed up when reports came in that lightweights on the cash trade had declined after a steady opening. September mediums at $10.35, however, equaled the highest price paid for similar contracts since April 25.

The highest paid for mediums for September delivery is $10.55, on April 8. Mediums for July and August were offered at $10.50. Heavy grades for these two months carried bids of $10.00. Prices on the hog futures trade are closing mostly 10c under a week ago.

Cattle receipts at 5,000 were small for Thursday, but with shipping demand restricted because of Jewish holidays next week, better grades of steers were forced down 15@25c, in face of the shortage of topnotchers. The general market for the rank and file of cattle held in line with mid-week price levels.

Prime weighty steers were absent again. Choice 1,433 lb steers topped at $13.60. Few other sales passed $12.00. Prices are closing the week about steady with last Monday, but mostly 25c under last week's finish.

Springers Bring $13.65.

Additional gains of 25@50c were scored in lambs yesterday, springers leading the way up again. Natives soared to a top of $13.65, which compares with $11.25 ten days ago. Fed western shorn lambs sold at $10.75, a new top for the season in this branch. There was an early clearance and some houses were said to be "short" at the finish, in view of the fact that there will be no market at Chicago today and Saturday.

Prevailing quotations are closing sharply above a week ago. Aged lambs show gains of 50c in four days, while springers are selling $1.00@1.25 above last week's close. Aged sheep and yearlings closed steady to 25c higher.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Liverpool and Winnipeg are the only grain markets open today. The Chicago Board of Trade and all American markets will be closed today and open Saturday. The Chicago stockyards will be closed for trading today and tomorrow.

A more bullish feeling is developing in the wheat trade, based on less favorable crop reports from the southwest and from the Canadian northwest. In the latter section high winds are said to have damaged the crop in the last few days. The disposition of the trade is more inclined to the buying side on every sharp decline, while a few traders who do not believe in crop damage take advantage of bulges to put out their lines.

CALL LOANS NO LONGER DRAW MANY LENDERS

New York Banks Mart's Mainstay.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Even in these times of easy money it would seem that the 3 per cent call loan rate maintained consistently in the last week on the New York Stock exchange isn't very alluring to lenders, except the New York banks. This is evidenced in the weekly report on brokers' loans issued by the federal reserve board yesterday.

The report showed an increase of $180,000,000 and was about in line with expectations in Wall and La Salle streets, where not much change either way was looked for in view of the dull and irregular stock market sessions in the last week. However, it was the third consecutive increase and brought the total up to $4,022,000,000, although this is $1,266,000,000 below a year ago.

Notes Withdrawals.

But the detail of the report was more interesting than the result. As a result of the low call loan rate, the interior banks withdrew $81,000,000 from the stock market and non-banking lenders took down $33,000,000. On the other hand, the New York banks increased their own loans by $220,000,000, thus being wholly responsible for the current increase in brokers' loans.

The New York banks may have surplus funds that they are willing to lend at 3 per cent, although this week they were borrowing $15,000,000 from the federal reserve bank, whereas for several weeks they have not borrowed. Perhaps it is a good guess that maintaining easy stock market money rates and thus giving some further encouragement to speculation is part of plan to create a more friendly feeling toward the forthcoming $300,000,000 German reparation loan, a part of which will be floated in this country.

At all events, the New York banks now are furnishing $1,777,000,000 to brokers, which is 44 per cent of total brokers' loans and also $1,004,000,000 more than the New York institutions were lending a year ago. On the other hand, interior banks have reduced their loans by $552,000,000 and other lenders, including corporations, have put off $1,718,000,000.

Usual Expansion.

The usual month-end expansion in the demand for commercial credit is shown in the weekly statement of the federal reserve system, issued last night. Borrowings of the member banks increased $37,047,000 to a total of $247,946,000, although more than half of the increase is attributable to the New York district. The reserve banks reduced bankers' acceptances by $11,224,000, but increased government securities by $1,450,000. Deposits declined $18,062,000, but note circulation rose $13,204,000. Gold and total reserves declined $19,146,000 and $17,222,000, respectively. The ratio of reserves to liabilities fell to 82.9 per cent, compared with 83.5 per cent last week.

The report of the New York reserve bank showed an increase of $23,547,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing the total to $52,827,000. Bankers' acceptances receded $3,225,000. Deposits expanded $14,766,000. Reserves remained about stationary, but the reserve ratio fell to 84.8 per cent, compared with 86.5 per cent a week ago.

The report of the Chicago reserve bank showed a decline of $1,414,000 in member bank borrowings, bringing the total to $17,364,000. Bankers' acceptances increased $1,170,000. Deposits receded $13,886,000. Reserves declined $19,259,000, and the reserve ratio fell to 87.7 per cent, compared with 88.1 per cent last week.

Says Tax Spending Must Be Efficiently Administered

BY SCRUTATOR.

The proportion of the national income that goes to the tax collector has risen rapidly, and recent estimates are to the effect that one dollar in every seven gets into a public till. Moreover, something like one in every eleven earners derives a livelihood from national, state, or local governmental bodies.

Leaving aside the question of the wisdom of having so large a percentage of total income going to government, it may well be asked whether the huge sums collected are administered as efficiently as they would be if private management were in charge. Roads, parks, waterways, and schools, as well as internal and external protection, are counted as proper fields of government ownership and management, but in most cases it is impossible to know how efficiently the operation is carried on.

Clouded Information.

Setups and accounting methods, particularly in Illinois, indicate inefficiency while clouding definite information on the subject. There are in the state approximately forty times as many taxing bodies as there are counties, and no accounting system that would clearly show receipts and expenditures exists. The Illinois Manufacturers' association, which spent considerably more than $25,000 in an investigation, came to the conclusion about two years ago that it was more important to get full information and a good use of funds than to change methods of raising revenue.

But bills for standard accounting methods were beaten handily in the legislature. The national industrial conference board, which tried to find out where local governments' money went, reported that it was a "difficult and discouraging task."

Cites New Schemes.

This lack of knowledge about the spending by governments becomes more serious as attempts are made to push more schemes into public hands. There are well defined movements in nearly all states to have old age pension laws passed; there are demands for unemployment insurance, both of which finally would require a recognition that the government owes all citizens in certain classes a living because they cannot get it any other way.

Taxes can be carried up only to a certain point before they injure irreparably the counties or the states in which they are levied. High income taxes are said to have driven many industries to states that have neglected to put that burden on. They probably have been a larger factor in plant migration of late years than cheaper power or offers of free sites. Reductions of taxes are almost too much to hope for, but an armistice against more and bigger ones and better spending of those we have are reasonable requests.

Great Lakes Dredge Plans Boost in Capital Stock

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Plans for increasing the authorized capital stock of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company to 800,000 shares of no par common shares were announced yesterday by John F. Cushing, president. A special meeting of stockholders has been called for June 30 to vote on the plan which has already been approved by the directors.

The present capitalization of the company consists of 80,000 shares of $100 par value stock, of which 69,105 shares are outstanding. It is planned to exchange the $100 par value stock for the new stock in the ratio of 8 shares of new stock for each share of old stock held.

Traded on Curb Market.

The company's stock is traded in on the Chicago Stock exchange and has been subject to wide fluctuations in the last few weeks. The issue closed yesterday at 288, up 2½ points for the day. News of the splitup has been expected for several weeks and has been discounted to some extent in the market. The new stock was traded in on the Chicago curb yesterday at 36 to 36¾.

Upon completion of the exchange there will be outstanding 552,840 no par shares. No announcement was made concerning the dividend rate on the new stock, but it was reported that a $1.50 yearly rate was being considered. This would be equivalent to $12 on the old stock, which now pays $8 exclusive of extras.

The impending holiday shutdown tended to dampen speculative enthusiasm on the Chicago exchange yesterday, but the radio stocks were buoyant, reflecting increasing optimism over the industry's prospects and the announcement by one of the leading companies of extensive production plans.

Grigsby-Grunow was the most active of the radio with a turnover of over 38,000 shares and was around a point higher at the close. Good gains were made by Raytheon certificates, National Union, and U. S. Radio. The latter was was up more than 4 points during the day, but lost part of its gain. Zenith and CeCo each improved a fraction.

North American Car Net.

Majestic Household was outstanding among the industrials, advancing 2¾ on sales of about 20,000 shares. Reflecting the report of substantial increase in first quarter earnings, North American Car moved to 51.

The company reported net earnings for the first three months of 1930 of $208,592, as compared with $168,939 in the corresponding period of 1929. After provision for preferred dividends the first quarter's earnings were equivalent to $1.07 a share on 150,361 shares of common stock. President E. R. Brigham said that all departments of the business are in good condition.

LYON & HEALY BUILDING TO HAVE 5 SHOPS

Boulevard Frontage to Be Remodeled.

BY AL CHASE.

A half block of boulevard shops is to be opened on the Jackson side of the Lyon & Healy building, it was announced yesterday, as a result of the closing of the first of several leases in that structure. Five stores, all with Jackson boulevard entrances, are to be built out of space formerly occupied by Lyon & Healy. The music store now occupies the north section of the main floor instead of the entire area as formerly.

Thomas L. Carey, Inc., a new organization which will be the outlet store for a large local clothing manufacturer, has leased the corner store fronting forty feet on Jackson and forty-seven on Wabash avenue, for eleven years at an undisclosed rental. Feil & Paradise, California architects, are drawing plans for an elaborate remodeling of the new shop.

Plan Four More Shops.

According to Harold H. Egan & Co., agents of the building, who negotiated the lease, the remaining space east of the Carey store is to be divided into four more shops.

The thirty-two apartment building at the southwest corner of South Park avenue and East 60th street was sold by Grace and Albert Hawkes to Bernard K. Offenberg, as trustee, for an undisclosed price.

Woman Buys 40 Flats.

Mary Rogers has purchased the forty apartment building at 1819 Humboldt boulevard from Simon Astrahan for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $132,000. Ludwig Kahn & Co. and M. M. Jones & Co. were brokers.

The eighteen apartment building at the northeast corner of Talman and Glenlake avenues, lot 64x124, was sold by Ida Druker to Celia O. Bunte for an undisclosed consideration.

MAY COMBINE CHILE NITRATE INTERESTS, UNDER LAW PENDING

New York, May 29.—Leading nitrate interests of Chile will be consolidated into a new company to be known as the Compania Salitrera Nacional (National Nitrate company), which has been abbreviated to "Cosana," with a capital of 3,000,000,000 pesos, or about $365,000,000 under a law just presented to the Chilean congress by President Carlos Ibanez.

This is in accord with an agreement recently reached by the nitrate interests in conference at Paris and is intended to foster production through elimination of inefficient methods and unfair competition.

The capital of "Cosana" will consist of 3,000,000 shares of 100 pesos par, says an All-America cable from Santiago. The Chilean government is to receive one-half the capital stock in the form of A shares, in return for delivery to the company of fields having resources of 150,000,000 tons of nitrate. The government reserves other nitrate fields, the product of which can be sold to the company at 10 pesos (about $1.21) a ton.

Nitrate and iodine produced by "Cosana" will be exempt from export duties, its income tax is to be fixed at 6 per cent and dividends are to be exempt from taxation.

The company is to guarantee to the government dividends ranging down from 186,000,000 to 140,000,000 pesos for four years. After 1933 the government renounces the right to this priority treatment and will depend for revenue from the nitrate industry upon dividends actually earned on its stock.

ERIE ASKS I. C. C. FOR EQUIPMENT TRUST ISSUE

Washington, D. C., May 29.—(AP)—The Erie railroad asked permission today from the interstate commerce commission to issue $6,690,000 in equipment trust certificates. Proceeds from the securities will assist in paying for about $8,455,000 worth of new rolling stock which the railroad will purchase during 1930.

The Rock Island railroad also obtained permission to issue $14,040,000 in equipment certificates.

The issue of $15,750,000 4½ per cent Canadian National Railways equipment trust certificates, series L, 1930, payable in equal annual installments over a period of fifteen years, has been awarded to a group headed by Halsey Stuart & Co.

Authority to issue and sell $1,000,000 of its first and general mortgage 5 per cent bonds, series A, has been requested by the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville railway. The securities will be sold at 101¾ plus accrued interest.

RAIL SECURITIES ASSOC. OPPOSES COUZENS MEASURE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 29.—(AP)—Opposition to the Couzens resolution passed by the senate and pending in the house which would suspend railroad consolidation until 1931 was voiced today by the National Association of Railroad Utility Securities.

The association's report finds that the measure is "fundamentally unsound and that it halts all progress made in railroad unifications since 1920." Similar objection is made to the parts of the resolution dealing with railroad holding companies. The measure is seen as a threat to the improved status of railroad credit and dangerous because of its retroactive provisions, which, it is claimed, would set aside desirable results already achieved.

The report states in part: "The association claims that the passage of the resolution would throw a cloud of uncertainty over the entire railroad industry because it attempts to make illegal acquisitions of control of one road over another, legally made and deemed to be in the public interest. The association also contests the right of congress to pass any retroactive legislation. The effect of the Couzens resolution would be retroactive because it suspends railroad mergers made since Feb. 28, 1920."

SEARS-ROEBUCK WILL TRY QUT FIVE DAY WEEK

For two summer months this year, Sears Roebuck and company, mail order and chain store concern, will try the experiment of a five day week in seven of its nine mail order plants and a weekly half holiday in its 320 retail stores. The announcement was made yesterday by Gen. R. E. Wood, president, and T. J. Carney, vice president in charge of operations.

GEN. R. E. WOOD. [Moffett Photo.]

The shorter hours will prevail during July and August, and will affect about 39,000 employes. But there will be no change in weekly salaries and wages. The five day week will prevail at the general offices in Chicago and the mail order plants in Chicago, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Boston, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and Dallas. It has not been decided whether to extend the plan to the Seattle and Los Angeles mail order plants and to the Pacific coast stores.

The retail stores will be closed one afternoon a week, but selection of the day for closing will be left to the district managers in order to conform to conditions in their respective cities. Investigation has shown that the curtailment will have little effect on either the mail order or retail store business, according to Mr. Carney.

REPUBLIC STEEL CORP. DECLARES FIRST DIVIDENDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 29.—Directors of the recently formed Republic Steel corporation yesterday declared initial dividends of 1¼ per cent on preferred, $1 on common, covering a period from May 1 to Aug. 1, and an additional common payment of 24 cents for the period from April 8 to April 30.

Directors of Wilson & Co., Chicago packers, declared a dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock to apply against accumulations.

The Congress Cigar company declared a dividend of $1 on the common stock placing the stock on a $4 annual basis, against $5 previously paid. In the four previous quarters, extra dividends of 25 cents each were paid.

Directors of American Encaustic Tiling company have reduced the dividend basis to $1 annually, against the previous rate of $2, by declaring a quarterly disbursement of 25 cents. Net profit of $2,031 is reported for the first quarter, against profit of $104,222 in the same period last year.

Standard Oil Export May Increase Capital

New York, May 29.—The Standard Oil Export corporation of New York proposes to increase its capital by $2,000,000 to $77,000,000 to provide for acquisition of all the outstanding stock of the Anglo-American Oil company, Ltd. The merger is through an exchange of stock on the basis of one share of Standard 5 per cent preferred stock for each five and five-ninths shares of Anglo-American Oil.

Columbia Gas & Elec. Purchases Amere Corp.

Charleston, W. Va., May 29.—(AP)—Purchase of the Amere Gas Utilities company of Beckley, by the Columbia Gas and Electric corporation of New York, was announced today. The Amere company supplies gas to towns in Raleigh county and holds franchises to supply several municipalities in southern West Virginia. The purchase price was not announced.

Illinois Ranks 3d in Life Insurance Sales: Lowe

Illinois ranks third among the forty-eight states in life insurance sales, Leo H. Lowe, director of the state department of trade and commerce, told the Life Insurance Lawyers club in an address last night. Companies operating in the state collect more than $430,000,000 annually in premiums, he said.

Kreuger May Manufacture Matches in United States

Stockholders of International Match have been informed by Ivar Kreuger, president, that the company was preparing to manufacture safety matches in the United States if the tariff on that kind of match is increased. The company is the largest seller of foreign made safety matches in the United States.

FINANCIAL NOTES

The Indian Refining company has completed plans for the creation of a new issue of $3,500,000 two and one-half year 5½ per cent notes, to be dated June 2, 1930, and maturing Dec. 1, 1932. The note issue, it is understood, will be underwritten by Bond & Goodwin, Inc., and Freeman & Co.

Several Chicago municipal issues of securities will be marketed in the near future. These include $19,420,000 City of Chicago bonds, which will be sold probably the latter part of June, a $3,500,000 issue of sanitary district of Chicago, and an issue of Lincoln park bonds. The sanitary district bonds are part of an authorized issue of $40,000,000.

STERN REPORTS ACQUISITION OF LAWBECK CORP.

Acquisition of the common stock of the Lawbeck corporation by the Manhattan-Dearborn corporation, giving the latter total assets of $25,000,000, will be completed shortly, according to an announcement yesterday by Lawrence Stern, president of both firms.

Both firms are financial and banking companies. Manhattan-Dearborn was formed last fall by LaWrence Stern & Co. and A. G. Becker & Co. as an investment trust. The principal activity of the Lawbeck corporation has been in the short term real estate loan field. The plan of acquisition has been approved by directors of both corporations and will be submitted to stockholders.

Dismiss Proceedings Against Celotex Firm

Wilmington, Del., May 29.—(AP)—The receivership proceedings recently filed in Chancery court here against the Celotex company by David Adler of Ridgewood, N. J., were dismissed tonight by Chancellor J. O. Wolcott.

The corporation, in its answer, filed a few days ago, denied insolvency and mismanagement, declaring that the company was being operated at a profit and that its affiliated companies were in good financial condition. The corporation also alleged that the bill of complaint was not filed in good faith.

Report Week's Increase in Business Failures

New York, May 29.—(AP)—The daily average of business failures throughout the country increased this week, R. G. Dun & Co. reports. The total for the five day business week totaled 416, as compared with 480 defaults for the six days last week, and 374 in the corresponding week of 1929.

ARCHITECT BUYS SITE FOR HOUSE NEAR BARRINGTON

Denison B. Hull, architect, residing in Winnetka, has purchased 9½ acres two miles northwest of the Barrington Hills Country club on which he expects to erect a Georgian colonial residence for his own occupancy next spring. The site was bought from Gilbert D. Johnson, representing a syndicate. Gilbert D. Johnson & Brother were brokers.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Katy Pressure.

Missouri, Kansas and Texas, popularly known as Katy, has been under pressure of late, and the selling is said to be coming from so-called insiders. The road's earnings so far this year have been disappointing, but no more so than those of several other railroad companies.

Standard Oil of Kentucky.

There is buying of a substantial character in Standard Oil of Kentucky, which has an excellent record as an earner and dividend payer. Directors have just declared an extra payment of 20 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly disbursement of 40 cents. Stockholders of record of June 16 will get these dividends.

Shenandoah Creeps Up.

Shenandoah has crept ahead steadily until it is within five points of its high for the current year. In 1929, it will be remembered, this stock sold above 39. Present buying seems to be of a long pull character.

Widely Tipped.

Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line is being widely "tipped" for higher prices, though there are some who say that the stock has discounted some of the favorable features in the situation. As long as it registers new highs it will get a following, traders say.

Poor & Co.

Will you kindly give, through the columns of your paper or direct to the writer, any information you may have regarding Poor & Co.'s common "B" stock as a sound investment at present. J. D. N.

Poor & Co., incorporated in April, 1928, together with its subsidiaries, the oldest formed in 1906, manufactures and sells railway supplies used in track maintenance and construction, and also commercial drop forgings and malleable castings. Its products are sold to important railroads in the United States and other countries. Plants are located at Canton, O., and Hoopeston, Ill. Rail Joint company was acquired in 1929.

Earnings of this company and its predecessors, like those of many railroad equipments concerns, have been somewhat varied. Operating economies resulting in reduced expenses made possible larger earnings in 1928, despite a slight falling off in sales. Sales and total income in 1929 showed some improvement over the year before, but net income was slightly lower because of increased interest charges.

For the year ended Dec. 31, 1929, net sales were $14,020,612 and net income, available for dividends, was $1,527,406, equal to $11.51 per share on the class A stock and $4.20 per share on the class B. Earnings in 1928 were $11.58 on the class A stock and $4.66 on the class B.

Liquid asset position at the close of 1929 was good. Current assets were $3,176,429 and current liabilities $666,060, leaving a net working capital of $2,510,369.

Results for 1930 will depend on the amount of buying by railroads during the rest of the year.

Dividends on the class B common are $2 per year at present. An extra 50 cent dividend was paid in 1929.

Anchor Post Fence.

Would you please send information concerning Anchor Post Fence, quoted on the New York curb around 10 or 12? I know nothing about its business or progress. H. L.

Anchor Post Fence company, manufacturer and builder of galvanized gates, wire fences and railings, was formed in 1892. Plants are located in Baltimore and Cleveland. Last year it acquired American Fence company and Fluid Heating corporation of Baltimore, manufacturer of a fluid heat oil burner.

Net income in 1929 was $157,639, equal, after preferred dividends, to 91 cents pershare earned on 162,393 common shares.

At the close of 1929 current assets were $947,521, and current liabilities were $270,342. Total assets were listed at $1,900,797.

The common is medium grade and somewhat speculative. Quarterly stock dividends of 2½ per cent are being paid.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

The Chicago curb list came to life in the last hour yesterday after a sluggish early trade. Transformer marked up a new top price for 1930 for the fifth successive day but slipped at the close to wind up in a fractional loss at 26½. Gas stocks attracted the chief attention of traders and ranged narrowly higher.

Junior Mortgage.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS
There is a general tendency today for people to think that the more they pay for something, the better it must be.
While this may be true of merchandise, it is distinctly not true when applied to secondary mortgage financing. Financing of any type must stand or fall by whether or not it accomplishes its object at fair and reasonable cost.
It has been our constant effort to reduce second mortgage costs, without sacrificing any efficiency in handling transactions. Our rates on loans of this type are today the lowest in Chicago. We charge 7% accruing interest and a commission which works out as follows:
$35.00 per $1,000 for 1 year
$65.00 per $1,000 for 2 years
$90.00 per $1,000 for 3 years.

PURCHASE A USED STUDEBAKER

It's a better buy than a cheap new car at the same price.

We have many Studebakers in our stock that are slightly used, selling at ridiculously low prices. Many of them have been thoroughly reconditioned by expert mechanics and carry a 30 day free service guarantee. All of the cars have been carefully inspected and are backed by the famous Studebaker name. Drive that allows 5 days' free driving trial. YOU MUST BE SATISFIED WHEN YOU BUY FROM THIS CONCERN OR WE DO NOT CONSIDER IT A SUCCESSFUL SALE.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. Big Six, with brand new tires and many valuable extras, including bumpers, driving lights, snubbers, spare tire, etc. The motor was reconditioned by expert Studebaker mechanics and the finish new. This car is still in the original new condition and will not remain long at our low price of $385. We also have a 1929 Chevrolet Sedan, like brand new throughout, priced exceptionally low. Terms. Studebaker Lot, open today. 7413 S. Halsted-st.

CHEVROLETS—ALL LATEST MODELS. SPECIAL PRICES FOR DECORATION DAY. SCHULLER & HAFNER, CHEVROLET, 2610 S. Michigan-av. Victory 5400.

STUDEBAKER BROUGHAM. Spec. 6, used to drive the children of a wealthy family to and from school each morning and afternoon. Now the motor is very smooth, the finish sparkles like a new dollar, and the tires appear absolutely unused. Equipped with bumpers, spotlight, seat covers, spare tire, and other extras. Will be sold at once for $195.

STUDEBAKER CABRIOLET. One of the very latest Pres. 8 models. We defy anybody to tell this from a brand new car. It has an unusually smart brown paint job, wire wheels, side mounts, trunk, driving light, shock absorbers, and other extras. Roomy rumble seat. The motor carries a 30 day free service guarantee. This car is a beauty and it's a real bargain at our special reduced price.

STUDEBAKER PRESIDENT, 1929 Str. 8 President Sedan. The head of a prom. chain of stores owned this car, and his chauffeur kept it in wonderful condition at all times. The finish is a beautiful color, with expensive upholstery to match. Motor is backed by a 30 day free service guarantee. $945.

STUDEBAKER DICTATOR, 1927 five pass. Sedan. It was stored away for the last 9 mos., while the owner was away in Europe. The most exacting inspection you could make of this car would reveal to you that the handsome finish and the distinctive upholstery have not begun to appear new. The tires do not appear worn and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumper, spare tire, etc. $375.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER, 1928 five pass. Sedan that's noted for its wonderful Big Six performance. This car is in exceptionally good condition throughout. The finish, upholstery, and tires are practically 100%, and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $450.

ERSKINE CLUB SEDAN, 1929 Six that was owned and driven by one of our own salesmen, who gave it very good care and had a mechanic check it over every week. It's equipped with 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. A real buy at $395.
